Mrs. A. B. Cooper came up from Portland Wednesday.

Attorney Corby is building a neat bungalow in Edward's new addition.

Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Bales left Tuesday morning on their trip to California.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Taylor visited with friends in McMinnville last Sunday.

Editor Hammerly of the News Reporter spent an hour in town Monday afternoon.

Henry Parrett is sick at his home on Parrett mountain, past eighty years of age.

Mrs. John S. Rankin and children visited in Portland last Sunday with her parents.

J. M. Robertson, of Dundee, suffered a stroke of paralysis while in Portland last Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Hoskins drove up to McMinnville last Sunday for a visit with their sons.

Ira Hutchens, a recent arrival from Wisconsin; has bought the Mrs. Behneke property on River street.

T. H. Gardner is improving his residence on River street by building modern porches as a matter of comfort on lazy days.

A man named Bales living on Chehalem mountain, suffered the loss of his house and a part of his furniture by fire one evening last week.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Hale, of Portland visited with Mrs. Haskell and the Brownings at their home west of town last Sunday.

Don't be alarmed Friday noon at any peculiar antics of the fire whistle, as some repairs will be made at that hour.

G. H. Herriot and J. A. Ruble and son, who returned from Lake county a few days ago, filed on claims while there.

L. E. Brown made a trip to the Mike McLaughlin logging camp above Black Rock last Saturday, to take orders for suits from the boys in the camp.

Mrs. Josephine Everest spent two weeks at Tacoma with her mother and only left her a few days before her death, thinking she was much better.

The fellow who shed his heavy under garments last Sunday in response to the demands of old Sol, was ready by Tuesday to acknowledge his error.

The bible study class of the Epworth League presented their leader, Rev. Joseph Hall, a very nice oak writing desk at the close of the year, as a token of their appreciation of his work.

E. S. Craven and wife have gone to Newport to remain a week to ten days, and in the meantime will do some work on their cottage at Nye Beach.

D. L. Hannon, of Goldendale, Washington, has bought the Larsen grocery on Main street. Mr. Larsen will go to Dayton, Washington where he owns a brick business house.

Mrs. M. A. Hash, widow of the late John I. Hash, slipped on the grass and fell, breaking the bones of one hip last Sunday. Owing to her age, which is eighty-three, her recovery is doubtful.

P. N. Skinner, the landlord at the Imperial, returned home from the hot springs on the upper Columbia the first of the week, feeling very much refreshed from his rest and the treatment taken at the springs.

Next Sunday, May 9 will be observed as labor Sunday in the Presbyterian churches throughout the United States. In the local church the pastor, Rev. John F. Lyons, will preach at 11 a. m. on "The Uncommon Working Man." A cordial invitation is extended, especially to men.

Guy Heater, who spent a few days here visiting with his sister, Miss Amy, returned to Corvallis Wednesday, where he is assisting his father in building a new house which the family will occupy when completed.

W. H. Whitten went to Newport the first of the week on a business trip and for a short visit with his parents who are pioneer residents at Nye Beach. He carried a heavy overcoat and a coming appetite for clams.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Bright were down from Wasco the first of the week for a short visit at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Larsen west of town. They are arranging to remove to The Dalles in a short time.

J. H. Wheeler, a carriage painter and trimmer, formerly from San Francisco, has located two doors east of the Van Blair-com grocery, where he will be glad to meet and figure with anyone, who may be interested in his line of work.

Dr. H. A. Littlefield appeared on the streets with a new Buick auto this week, and the ratio of friends over the number he had last season is on the increase already, since the seating capacity of the new machine is double that of the old one.

The Yamhill County Institute of the W. C. T. U. will be held at Amity on Thursday and Friday of next week, when a number of Newberg ladies will take part in the two days' program. A full program came in too late for publication.

B. C. Miles has bought property in Salem, near the Statehouse, where he will build a new residence, with a view of removing to the Capital city. He will give up the work in Portland and take lighter work at the Salem office of the company.

J. Carl Nelson gave a chapel talk at the college one morning last week in which he told something of the school system of Denmark, his fatherland, in a way that appealed to the students. His address has been highly commended by those who heard him.

Tom Cummings has sold his small tract located north of town to Fred E. Rollins, a Minnesota man who has returned for his family. Tom has bought his brother Claude's home on Third street and will return to town, while Claude will change to his new location on Wynoski street as soon as his new house is completed.

J. P. Barnhart, who owned a part of the Hess donation claim two miles and a half northwest of Newberg, has sold out to a new man named Thayer and has decided to go to Texas to locate. Since he came here from Indiana only a few years ago with about $3,000, and goes away with more than $10,000, he should have no kick on the treatment he has received.

C. B. Wilson went to Portland Wednesday to confer with the salary and allowance official of the postal department, relative to the matter of new quarters for the postoffice. His appointment as postmaster was confirmed by the senate on Tuesday, but it will require considerable time for the papers to get around and his bonds approved, and consequently he will not be in position to assume charge of the office before the first of June.

The South Newberg boys played a game of baseball with the Dayton boys last Saturday and succeeded in defeating them by a score of 10 to 8. Jones and Slater made the South Side battery and they certainly played fine ball. As Fairbanks was unable to go, Coffin was placed on second base in Jones' place, while Elliott of the North Newberg team filled his place in right field. This was the thirteenth game they have played and they have won 11 of the 13. They lost one to McMinnville and one to the North team. They expect to play many more games out of town before the season closes.

The sale of the Lownsdale orchard near LaFayette to a syndicate for $275,000 is reported. The property consists of 300 acres planted to apple trees and 350 acres of rich land. Last year the orchard produced more than 40,000 boxes of first class apples. The property is not to be divided up but will be held together by the syndicate.

Mr. and Mrs. N. L. Wiley, of Rex, received word last week of the death of Dr. C. J. Cook at Whittier, California. The widow of the deceased is a sister of Mrs. Wiley. Dr. Cook was one of the principal men in the founding of Whittier College, and was a member of the board of trustees at the time of his death. He had been an invalid for several years, yet he took an active interest in affairs up to the time of his death and was a man of recognized worth in the community in which he lived.

C. J. Edwards, president and manager of the Yamhill Electric Co., made a hasty trip to Riddles, on the main branch of the Southern Pacific in Douglas county, a few days ago, for the purpose of inspecting and passing judgement on an electrical plant for the city of McMinnville. The plant he says he found to be an expensive one, which was installed by a mining company which failed before the goal was reached, and it is idle and for sale. He spent a day in Roseburg which he found to be a hustling city, but away, behind in the matter of the use of house paint and in modern sidewalks and street improvements.

On account of the rush of business at the Southern Pacific depot, Station Agent James is expecting to establish an express office on First street at no very distant day. Newberg is probably the only town in the country of any size that don't have a down town express office, and strangers have for years expressed surprise and commented on the fact, when they have been compelled to walk a quarter of a mile to do business with the Wells Fargo Co., after having become accustomed in other places to see the company go where the business was to locate an office.

Miss Mary Williams left here on Tuesday evening for a visit of indefinite length in her native state, Pennsylvania. At the time of the abduction of Charley Ross at Philadelphia, an event that was of such nation-wide moment that it was discussed in the newspapers for years, Miss Williams was governess in a family closely related to the Ross family, and she often saw Charley Ross previous to his abduction. Miss Williams has kept in touch with the lady with whom she lived, all these years, and recently the lady wrote her to go east and make a visit at her expense. The many friends of Miss Williams are glad to know of the opportunity thus afforded her and hope she may have a pleasant time and a safe return.

Paul V. Maris, former Newberg lad, graduate of Pacific College, and deputy Dairy and Food Commissioner, who smiled on the pretty milkmaids at the state fair last year from the demonstration booth, made such a hit that they are all clamoring for his appointment again and he will be it. The Statesman says: The superintendent of the dairy department at the Oregon state fair next September will be Paul V. Maris, the highly popular deputy state dairy and food commissioner. This selection was made by the fair board at a recent conference and it insures an exhibition of dairy and creamery products which will be far ahead of anything of the sort at past fairs. Mr. Maris is a young man possessing up-to-date ideas regarding such matters and the efforts that he will put forth in behalf of his department of the next fair will be of more than ordinary benefit to the dairy interests of the whole state.
