NATURE'S GREAT HEALTH FOUNTAINS.

They Especially Benefit The Women.

As Declared by Scientists to be the Real Curative Means for Ill Health.

Recent scientific comparisons in Europe of the world's mineral springs are particularly interesting at this time.

Each of the European health resorts are given great detail of worth, both as to quality of water and air, treatment and patronage.

The famous health waters of Asia, India, Japan and the South Seas are given much attention and consideration but what is particularly interesting to Americans and especially to California and the people of the Pacific Coast is the fact that Paso Robles Hot Springs is recognized as the ideally perfect health resort and its cures are most miraculous.

Paso Robles has long been known to Californians, for here it was that the Indians for centuries came to treat their sick, even making dangerous journeys for hundreds of miles, fighting their way through hostile tribes to reach these waters. Then came Padre Junipero Serra with his Franciscan monks, and his reports to the Church of Rome and to the throne of Spain are today extant, giving marvelous narratives of seeming wonders performed at Paso Robles (The Pass of the Oaks.)

The town of Paso Robles is located on uplands of great beauty. It lies 20 miles from the sea, is 720 feet above sea level and is sheltered round about by a perfect wall of mountain ranges so that sea air is tempered with hot land winds, filtered and cooled and given to Paso Robles in a perfect state.

The waters at the springs come forth both hot and cold. Here is mineral mud also and other forms of water treatment recognized by science for curative purposes.

Rheumatism, gout, stomach and kidney diseases seem to be the most prevalent at Paso Robles, although the waters are unfailing for female complaints and all forms of nervous disorders.

Paso Robles is not a resort like those of Europe, where only the rich attend.

You may find scores of poor people living in tents or at lodging houses, who come here and are cured with little cost except that necessary to keep them under shelter and to furnish meals. No one is denied use of its waters except those suffering with tuberculosis or unclean disease. The rich have their exclusive and luxurious hotel and private baths, while the medium purse may select comfortable and desirable quarters in hotel, or private boarding house.

Paso Robles Hot Springs is indeed worthy of the estimate placed upon it by foreign thinkers, as its cures and its generous policy towards health seekers make it a spot worthy of America and California.

A small book, neatly illustrated, has been recently published by the management telling the story of the Hot Springs in a most interesting manner and giving complete information. Send for it, either to Wm. McMurray, General Passenger Agent of the O. R. & N., Portland, Ore., or Dr. F. W. Sawyer, Manager, Paso Robles, Cal.

Tri-County Push Club.

The Tri-County Push Club will hold a mass meeting in the Grange Hall, Butteville, Oregon, on Saturday eve, January the 29th, 1910, when the officers of the club for the ensuing year will be elected and qualified.

The present President, Will E. Purdy, a farmer residing at West Butteville, originated the idea of forming a club from the end of Marion, Clackamas and Yamhill counties where they join together, and calling same Tri-County Push Club.

The ambition of this club is a bridge across the Willamette River at Butteville, there being no bridge between Salem, Oregon City and Portland, and this location would especially benefit the people residing in these three counties and also Washington county, which joins close by.

It is announced that an extensive campaign to extend the membership into every county of the state will be carried on. The membership already exceeds one hundred, and a large crowd is expected at this meeting. There will be good speaking with the Parrott Band in attendance. Admission free and also free ferriage. R. WOOLWORTH, Secretary.

The Poultry Yard.

Keep the old fighters apart and so remove them from temptation.

The laying hen develops a great appetite and an enormous thirst.

Owner of the coop: "Who's in there?" Rastus: "Aint nobody in here, 'ceppin' us chickens."

Lack of a constant supply of clean, pure, fresh water before the fowls means defeat in the end.

Egg-shells are largely lime. The hens can't make good shells unless you furnish plenty of lime.

A feed of finely-chopped onions, once a week, is a tonic that helps to keep broilers lively and healthy.

Keeping too many fowls in a pen with an insufficient amount of floor space is a pitfall to be avoided.

Lice which sap the life blood and undermine the flock furnish a pitfall into which far too many stumble.

Deal pretty sparingly with red pepper as a spice for poultry. It is sharp stuff. Better warm your chicks up some other way than by feeding it.

You can not feed hens that lay colored eggs so that they will lay white ones. If you want white eggs get the kind of hens that lay them.

The white-feathered broilers always have the more attractive appearance in market, as the pin-feathers do not show as they do on dark-plumaged birds.

A nest egg makes a nest more attractive to most hens, especially of the smaller breeds. We like the china eggs. An egg eater will pick at them for a little bit and give it up as a bad job.

Ice-cold water can not help chilling the hens. It must be warmed up somehow, and that takes vitality. Save the hen's strength of body by warming the water on the kitchen stove. You can do it cheaper than the hen can.

Here is a new plan for killing mites on poultry roosts: Take two pieces to make a roost seven-eighths inch thick and two inches wide; bevel the edges a little, and nail together, not too close, and set up on edge. The mites will all congregate in the seam between the two pieces. Pour kerosene in the groove formed by the bevel on top, and you have them dead.

Many who keep poultry overlook the importance of grit. Lack of grit means poor digestion and few eggs. A load of gravel near the chickens' home would improve the health and increase the egg yield on many a farm. I know it is claimed that the grit of commerce is the best, but the gravel is good enough grinding material. If you have never tried it you will be surprised how fast it will disappear when placed in a box where the hens can help themselves.
