Fashionable women who have been accustomed to splitting peas to get them in their mouths, would be greatly embarrassed to know how to handle some of the big strawberries that are now finding their way to the markets. One day last week A. P. Wallen, of Springbrook, brought to this office a box of berries of the "Gold Dollar" variety that were as big as apples, and on Tuesday morning L. S. Otis left two boxes only requiring ten berries to fill each box well heaped up and each berry rich and blood red to the core.

Clinton N. Howard, of Syracuse, N. Y., delivered his great temperance lecture "A Joy Ride on the Water Wagon" before a very large audience at the Friends church on Tuesday evening. While not in the best condition physically, owing to his long trip across the continent immediately following a long campaign of speaking, he held the platform for two hours. He is an orator of no mean ability and yet he goes after the saloon business with hammer and tongs. He is just entering the campaign in Oregon, this being his second speech since his arrival and doubtless when he gets "the hang of the house" he will deliver even a better rounded address than he gave Newberg. He will remain in Oregon for thirty days.
