

Oregon Dairy Farm

For Sale

A first-class dairy farm of more than 462 acres, less than 4 miles from Newberg; land lays rolling and on a good elevation. All farm land but about 25 acres; 156 acres in cultivation and in crop; 90 acres slashed, burned and seeded to grass and a fine stand on it too, balance of land in good timber; can cut enough wood off this place to pay for it; all well fenced and watered, there being three large springs so situated that the place can be divided into three farms or can be cut up into fruit tracts. The soil is the very best and apples grown here have no superior; good fencing. Buildings consist of large, modern farm house with water piped to the door, dwelling house for hired man and family, large dairy barn and separate horse barn, large silo, and straw shed over 100 feet long; water in barn lot and pasture. 25 Jersey cows and heifers, 4 work mares, 1 colt, 2 two-year-old colts, one-year-old colt, 1 span small driving horses, 2 wagons, 1 buggy, 1 hack, 1 manure spreader, fanning mill, mower and rake, drill, plows, harrows, hay and grain in barn, turkeys, chickens &c. Personal property, household goods, crop &c amounting to about $3000. All goes. On a good public road, R. F. D. route and school 1-2 mile. This land is worth $100 per acre, but will sell for $75 per acre if sold in the next 60 days. One-half cash and terms on the balance to suit the purchaser at 7 per cent.

FOR JUNE.

(Copyright 1910, by C. H. Rieth.)

Beside a day in June, my dears, all other days are nothing, for then it is one's eager ears may hear the soft wind sighing by forest ways, and perfect days of brightly flowered meads and joyous song all come along just like a string of beads.

A poet one time asked us what is peradventure like it, and died well knowing we had not the wit required to strike it. He simply tried, before he died, to give us one so hid we'd work at it till time shall quit, and by the gods he did.

The breath of summertime shall rouse the festive calf to action, and what with unrestrained carouse, he'll do for an attraction. He'll buck and dance around the manse in no great show of grace, and wave his tail with brave assail in Mr. Halley's face.

The heavy-droning bumble-bee shall kiss the blushing clover, and skies as blue as any sea shall bond the planet over. The graduate shall right the state from Maine across to Yuma, and the groom in stress shall S. O. S. his dad for more mazuma.

Of June it may be said, indeed, It is a great invention, And one we rather badly need To somewhat ease the tension. If we're to fish, to loaf and wish, Or hearken Nature's call, We'll do it soon or late in June, Or not do it at all.

The comet, having hung about until we were converted, shall gradually peter out and leave us quite deserted. We must recall we are not all the world it sets aright, and bid it speed where there is need to cause another fright.

It is a sort of cop upon a beat of great dimensions, and must by then be getting on to scatter its attentions. They have John D.'s and Morgan P.'s on many a distant ball, and were it not for Halley hot these few would grab it all.

A Guggenheim would capture Mars, a Rockefeller Venus, and Morgans on the other stars would utterly demean us. We'd even be, unhappily, quite naked, where we sit if it were not that Halley got around and saw to it.

It will not all at once appear how far the comet served us, or just to what extent the fear prevailed while it observed us; but safe to say that for a day or thereabouts somewhere the trusts won't find it half so hard to tell our things from theirs.

However, and be as it may, The comet will outpace us. And Theodorus on a day Will happily embrace us. The hemisphere will tip, we fear, Beneath his mighty track, But even to the liars will Rejoice to see him back.

'Twere better to be in a club and branded Ananias than languish sadly as a dub unsung or honored by us. The chance for fame since Afric game wooed this extraordinary son of the Dutch has not been much, and he is welcome, very.

Our Mr. Taft's a good old soul, and plugs along undaunted, but Theodorus on the whole was rather what we wanted. We never cease to prate of peace and say that war is bad, but even so it does get slow with no one very mad.

We rather liked the pleasant sound of peace gone willy-nilly, and someone being chased around the White House with a billy. We've missed it much for lack of Dutch in smiling Mr. Taft, and mortal sin but it has been a long time since we laughed.

The present Congress will conclude Where freedom's latest squawk was, And turn to have its work reviewed By all the big chautauquas. The President will pitch his tent At Beverly again, And the news anon will dwell upon The likelihood of rain.

Upon the 21st the sun will reach the line of Cancer, and summer not too underdone will haply be the answer. This is, they say, the longest day, however you may search, but you will hardly notice it unless you are at church.

At any rate, the swimming-hole will get a little warmer, and harvest time will vex the soul and slumber of the farmer. H'll pray for hands to tend his lands, spread food and tie the dog; and the wary tramp will make his camp inside a hollow log.

The rich will hie away to spend the summer by the water—to live until the season's end the glad life of an otter. The poor, meanwhile, will sweetly smile, however fortunate goes, and splash and rub inside the tub alternate with the clothes.

The singing stars will reindulge their old familiar riddle, and milk and buttermilk will bulge the boarder round the middle. The heart for June will hum a tune, or plenty or a crust, and the whippoorwill when night is still will whistle like to bust.

And then July will come around In terrible ascendance, And we will shoot each other up Observing independence.
