Spot the man who forgets from whence he came and what he owes to those influences which gave him his start. There is a fault line in him.

T. R. says he is going to keep quiet for two months! For the first time the American people entertain serious doubts as to Roosevelt's ability to make good.

"Indications of oil in Yamhill County are wanted," read the headlines in a county paper last week. We got way beyond that stage in this neck of the woods some years ago. Many are the indications but few are the gushers.

A southern Californian visited Newberg the other day, took a ride over the hills and declared Chehalem Valley to be the garden spot of the earth. When a Californian will concede that there is something worth while outside his own state, be it known that the provocation must be great.

The threatened calling off of the big fight will not necessitate the cancelling of a Newberg "fight special" to Frisco. Newberg people have a little matter on hand which will claim their presence and attention at home on our national birthday. And it will not be such a little matter either.

The Woodburn Independent says the Republican State Assembly should "suggest" at least two to succeed Senator Bourne. The Independent evidently has a higher opinion of our Jonathan's abilities as a statesman than seems current. If it is merely a case of filling the vacancy some would be cruel enough to suggest that the mere choice of half a man would be sufficient.

What's the matter with Newberg this year? It does not even get honorable mention on the state Prohibition ticket. The day was, when we could have the nomination for congressman any old time. But that was in the heyday of Newberg prohibitionism when R. W. Kelsey and Hiram Gould were leading the local cohorts. Wanted—a new Moses to lead us back into the glare of the public gaze.

One week Editor Bennett of The Dalles Optimist declared, "When it comes to damfoolishness, these prohis take the entire bakery." And the next week, "The average prohibitionist is more different kinds of a derved crank, not to call him a fool, than any set of men on earth." The Optimist should know that the prohibitionists thrive and flourish on this kind of talk. But why such an awful grouch? The prohis must be hurting the drug-store business in Rabbitville.

W. J. Clarke, postmaster and editor and publisher of the Gervais Star, was in town Monday letting it be known in a quiet way that he would not be adverse to accepting the nomination for the office of State Printer if it should be handed him by the republican assembly. Mr. Clarke demonstrated his business ability by starting out without any capital and in the course of years building up a successful business, and since he was brought up in a printing office he ought to be able to handle the business of the state in the big office at Salem with the same degree of success that he has managed his own affairs. He has a host of friends among the newspaper boys throughout the state who hope to see him land the office.

Additional Locals.

A number of the Grand Army Veterans, a few of them accompanied by their wives, are attending the annual encampment this week at Astoria. Among them are, A. Cooke, F. C. Mills, B. F. Pike, J. W. Moore, J. W. Douglas, John McCleery and F. L. Ames.

Drs. E. P. and H. C. Dixon made business trips to the capital city in their auto Tuesday and today. They were accompanied this morning by Mrs. Martin and Mrs. Woodward who went in the interests of the college.

W. B. Sims who was up from Portland the first of the week said that since he had returned to Portland he had examined the land all about the suburbs, looking for a location for a greenhouse but had failed to find any soil as good as we have at Newberg.

Nathan Cook has secured a position with the Black Diamond Mining Co. of Albany, as assayer and will begin work on his return from the camp on the Luckiamute where he and his sister, Miss Mary have gone to visit their parents. He will work under an experienced assayer for a time.

Mrs. Fanny Liter, well known by many Newberg people, who has been connected for a time with the Whosoever Will Mission in San Francisco, passed through Portland last week on the way to Douglas, Alaska, where she will re-enter the mission work in which she was engaged several years ago.

Mrs. S. S. Sloan arrived home Sunday from St. Louis where she attended the National Convention of the American Woman's League. She reports that they were greeted on their arrival in the "show me" state by an old fashioned thunder storm and that it rained practically all the time but that the best efforts of Jupiter Pluvius failed to dampen the ardor of the seven or eight thousand women in attendance.

Mrs. P. M. Edwards, of Corvallis, and daughter, Mrs. A. C. Pool, of Portland, visited in town the last of the week with the McDonald family. Mr. Pool came up from Portland to spend Sunday, all three returning in the evening. Mrs. Edwards to attend the annual reunion of the Oregon Pioneer Association.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Buchanan came down from Corvallis the latter part of the week to move their household effects to McMinnville at which place F. H. will serve next year as principal of the Columbus school. He will spend the summer at his accustomed work as timber warden for the Southern Pacific.

H. S. Britt, who is engaged throughout the Northwest as erecting engineer for the Alliston-Chambers Company of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, came in Friday for a visit of some days at home. He manifested his loyalty to home institutions by promptly making a liberal subscription to the Pacific College building fund.

Paul Macy is known as something of a joker but his son, Orrie, assisted by Walter Wilson, put one over him the first of the week. Orrie bought a new buggy for his father and on Monday night the boys took it out to the Macy home, stealthily wheeled the old buggy out of the barn and away, replacing it with the new rig. This is the kind of a joke any son might feel at liberty to play on the old man.

An artist who attempts to do justice to an Oregon rose takes a big order. But that the order can be successfully filled now and then can be demonstrated by a glance at the oil painting hanging in the Graphic office, done by Miss Orell Chapman. It is a beauty and so natural that we have had to hang it high to save people from embarrassment who would walk up to smell the exquisite roses. As will be noticed elsewhere in these columns, Miss Chapman has opened a studio in Newberg, and judged by the above mentioned exhibition of her ability, she should receive every encouragement.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Aubrey Kramien, who had been visiting relatives here for two or three weeks, started back to their home at Bloomington, Illinois, today. Mr. Kramien occupied the pulpit of the Friends church Sunday morning, giving an interesting account of city Y. M. C. A. work and its methods, in which he is engaged.

Where Girls Marry Quickly.

No girl of good character and good looks who could skillfully manipulate a frying pan or a skillet ever came to Texas and remained single. Texas hungers and thirsts after girls who can yank a symphony out of a cooking stove or piano with equal facility.—Houston Post.

The man whose wife is a Pearl doesn't necessarily care for mother-of-pearl.

The successful man is he who can take lemons handed him by life and sell their juices in lemonade to his neighbors.

It is always safe to bet that the man who isn't prejudiced, isn't interesting.

Don't Forget Chi-namel

It is the Cheapest Varnish Made.

Cheapest by the year—because it outwears all other varnishes on floors, furniture and woodwork. Cheapest by the yard—because a gallon of it covers one-third more surface than other varnishes. Cheapest by the day—because it saves one-third of the time of the workman in brushing it to the surface. The reason for this is that Chi-namel is made from the best materials that can be produced. It is not adulterated with rosin or benzine and by a special process of treating Chinese oil it receives a toughness, elasticity and water resisting quality which is impossible to obtain otherwise. You can hammer it, bruise it, scratch it or boil it; it will neither turn white nor lose its gloss. Let us show you.

Our Saturday Special

Next Saturday we place on sale a lot of 14-quart Dish-Pans. Good heavy 2X tin with good handles. Usually sold for about twice our price—Saturday only 25c.

Also some first quality bake pans, 1½-quart size, two handles, good gray enamel ware, size 3¼x8, a regular 20c seller—on Saturday we price them 10c. That 10c counter is full of Bargains.
