VOL. XXII. NEWBERG, YAMHILL COUNTY. OREGON, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 1. 1910. NO. 46

OLD VETERANS PLEASED OVER MEETING

Sheridan Chosen as Next Meeting Place of Association—New Officers Elected.

The interest and success which characterized the early sessions of the meeting of the Yamhill Veterans, as reported in last week's issue, continued unabated throughout the very last session. Good programs were presented, and the large attendance, the close attention given, and the enthusiasm manifested, indicated their appreciative reception.

On Thursday evening the principal address was delivered by Rev. Ezra Hayes and it was well worth the careful, serious attention it received. The Veteran Quartet of Portland was present and made a big hit with the audience. The old boys proved clever entertainers as well as good singers. And the Fife and Drum Corps never failed to inspire and delight. Mrs. Jo Hollingsworth recited Thursday evening and again on Friday afternoon and proved an effective outdoor speaker.

The McMinnville Veterans failed to show up with a program Friday, as scheduled, but local talent was hastily drawn upon and rattling good short order programs were the result. In the afternoon the speakers were Jesse Edwards and Rev. W. E. Kerr, of Portland. In the evening Col. Hofer, of Salem, blew in and added his mite or might to the success of the occasion. No trouble to show goods with a political campaign on and the woods full of candidates. His efforts were supplemented by those of Clarence Butt and J. C. Gregory, who made speeches, Mrs. Sloane recited well and the chorus was heard from again. The program of the evening and of the encampment closed with all joining in singing "Nearer My God to Thee."

At the business meeting held Friday morning, officers for the coming year were elected as follows: W. W. Stockton, Sheridan, president; J. W. Webber, Newberg, vice-president; B. F. Pike, Newberg, secretary; D. H. Turner, McMinnville, treasurer; Ezra Hayes, Newberg, chaplain; Board of directors—N. E. Britt, Newberg; J. E. Brown, Sheridan; C. W. Powell, Dayton; W. P. Cragin and N. A. Decker, McMinnville. Sheridan was decided upon as the next meeting place.

The following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, The Yamhill County Veteran Association in second annual meeting assembled, being grateful for the cordial welcome and generous hospitality of the citizens of Newberg and vicinity, and wishing to express their appreciation thereof, therefore be it

Resolved, That we recognize in the open hearted greeting and cordial welcome so warmly extended to us, that loyalty to the "Flag" and the principles for which our association stands, that has always distinguished them in the past, and we also recognize the fact that the generous support given us by the citizens of Newberg has contributed in no small measure to the success of our meeting; and be it further

Resolved, That while it may seem invidious to make special mention of any, where all are so deserving, yet we feel especially grateful for the assistance of Messrs. Hanning, Morris, Buehler and Frazier, also to Mr. Hunt and Miss Hunt, as well as to the "Chorus" who furnished so many interesting musical numbers on our programs; and be it further

Resolved, That we regret the missunderstanding which deprived us of the assistance of the Newberg Band. The more so as they have always been so free with their services whenever called on by us.

Resolved, That the Secretary be instructed to furnish both local papers with a copy of these resolutions for publication.

A Correction.

The "Enterprise" in the issue of last week in a notice of the meeting of the Yamhill County Veteran Association, contained a reflection on Judge Burnett which was not warranted by the facts and was entirely uncalled for by the circumstances under which he spoke. Judge Burnett was urged by us to address the association, and only consented to do so after being assured that it was our wish, and being informed by Judge McCamant that it would be agreeable to him.

The address of Judge Burnett was timely and appropriate, and was well received both by the association, and by the audience.

The reflections cast on Judge Burnett do not in any manner express the sentiment of our people, but rather was the expression of the editor of the paper in question, who took that method to vent his spleen at a gentleman who is too well known to need any defense at our hands, and we only make this statement that the public may know the truth of the matter.

NEW BANK BUILDING

First National Awards Contract to Barham Brothers of Dallas.

A new home is to be built for the First National Bank, the contract having been let to Barham Bros., of Dallas. The location will be on the southwest corner of First and Washington streets, and the building will be 36x70, two stories high. Newberg red brick, Willamina face brick and sandstone will be used in its construction.

The bank will occupy the entire lower floor. The floor of the lobby will be tiled and it will have wood beamed ceiling. The upper floor will be used for offices and apartments. The building will be steam heated.

For a time after purchasing the Harger corner a building with a 90-foot frontage was contemplated by the bank directors, but it was finally decided that the times would hardly justify it at present, since the rentals would scarcely warrant the outlay. The bank still owns the adjoining property and the former plans will be matured later.

Gregory Sisters are pleased to announce to their customers that they have secured as Trimmer, Mrs. Masters, of Seattle, who has trimmed in such fashionable millinery houses of that city as Graham's and Madam Paul's for the past several seasons.

CONTRACT LET FOR NEW COLLEGE BUILDING

Four Bidders Show Up With Estimates. Newport Engineering Co. the Lowest.

In calling for bids for the construction of the new administration building for Pacific College the contractors were asked to give figures on red brick made by the Newberg Brick and Tile Co., and also on brick and hollow tile manufactured by the Pacific Face Brick Co., of Willamina.

The bids were as follows: Newport Engineering Co., Willamina brick $25,575, Newberg brick, $25,075; Anderson & Weaver, Willamina, $27,670, Newberg, $26,755; Herd & Lucas, Willamina, $28,997, Newberg, $25,850; John Wright, Willamina, $26.200, Newberg, $25,600.

The contract was awarded to the Newport Engeering Co., of Portland, they being the lowest bidders. But since the bids did not include the excavation for basement, draining, septic tank, nor heating plant, some slight changes were made in the construction in order to get the total cost within the $30,000 raised for building purposes, and consequently the contract price will be $24,823 exclusive of heating plant and other items mentioned above.

The construction will be of tan colored face brick backed by hollow tiling to insure dryness. Work will begin at once and it will be pushed with all possible speed in order to get the building enclosed before wet weather sets in. The contractors say they desire to employ Newberg labor as far as possible and will give home dealers an opportunity to furnish the material.

The building will be 60x100 feet and will be two stories in height, with full basement largely above ground, which will make it practically a three story building.

In the basement story there will be, aside from the furnace and fuel room, four class rooms, janitor's room, cloak rooms and toilets. On the first floor there will be the president's office, study room, library and reading room, three class rooms and rest room for the faculty. The second floor will be almost entirely taken up with the auditorium where provision will be made to fill a pressing need in Newberg for an audience room of large seating capacity. It will have raised floor and gallery and will be seated with opera chairs. Music rooms are provided in the rear of the stage.

The contractors who submitted bids speak in high terms of the artistic design and general construction of the building and Newberg will have reason to feel proud of it when completed.

R. N. Hockenberry & Co., of Portland, were the architects.

Apple Growers Meeting.

As announced in last week's Graphic the Newberg Apple Growers Union met in Crater's Hall on Saturday afternoon.

President J. D. Gordon called the meeting to order and introduced Mr. H. H. Keim who was recently elected manager of the association. Mr. Keim said he was not here hunting a job, he had good positions offered him elsewhere, but having cast his lot with us this work had been pressed upon him and he had been spending quite an amount of time and some money acquainting himself with our fruit conditions and the markets.

It was shown that had we been properly organized earlier our dried black caps would have brought us $50 per ton more than they have sold for, and that much better returns would have been obtained for our Gravensteins.

It also developed that while most people are taking some care of their apples many have not yet learned either what good clean merchantable apples are or the art of producing them. This however does not apply to our more extensive growers.

A small quantity of fruit has been handled under the Union's brand. This has been well selected and packed and has been very well received by the trade.

Mr. Keim said if we do business we must be better equipped for it and this will require some expense, and to this end the Directors were instructed to levy an assessment on the capital stock.

Wm. Crossley, a large apple merchant and exporter of New York and London, was present and gave a short talk. He said our Gravensteins should be picked early when only one-third colored, and hurried on to market, then they would reach London crisp and firm with good yellow color and be on the market when they will sell much better than if arriving two weeks later. The Kings should be picked when two-thirds colored. It is not necessary to send straight cars of a single variety—any good varieties will sell. Their house buys both from Grower's Associations and middle men—in the first instance the grower gets the whole price of his product—In the second he supports the middle man out of the price of his crops.

The important question of a market for our cull fruit was raised, and the very good advice was, "Not to produce any but the best," however the practicability of this was called in question. Our manager is often asked what he is paying for this or that kind of fruit. Grower's Unions are not buyers but sellers of fruit and are paying the individual grower the whole price his fruit sells for, less the expense of handling, which in all properly organized fruit districts is more than any body else is paying.

If you have fruit to sell report it to Manager H. H. Keim at the Newberg Construction Co's, Office near depot. Join the union and help a good cause along.

Expense of Canvass.

Since the work of making the canvass for the $30,000 building fund for Pacific College has been completed and work has been begun on the building, it is due to the many who responded so nobly by making subscriptions, that they should know the cost of making the canvass. The figures are given below:

Postage	$ 1.10
Printing	13.00
Livery hire	27.50
Traveling expenses including trip to Seattle	33.70
Total	$ 75.30

The canvassers gave their time to the work without any compensation, save the consciousness of having brought the arduous task to a happy consummation.

THE LION THAT CHARGED MR. ROOSEVELT

A Thrilling Episode in His New Book.

The lion stopped and lay down behind a bush; jumping off I took a shot at him at two hundred yards, but only wounded him slightly in one paw; and after a moment's sullen hesitation off he went, lashing his tail. We mounted our horses and went after him; Tarlton lost sight of him, but I marked him lying down behind a low grassy ant-hill. Again we dismounted at a distance of two hundred yards; Tarlton telling me that now he was sure to charge. In all East Africa there is no man, not even Cuningham himself, whom I would rather have by me than Tarlton, if in difficulties with a charging lion; on this occasion, however, I am glad to say that his rifle was badly sighted, and shot altogether too low.

Again I knelt and fired; but the mass of hair on the lion made me think he was nearer than he was, and I undershot, inflicting a flesh wound that was neither crippling nor fatal. He was already grunting savagely and tossing his tail erect, with his head held low; and at the shot the great sinewy beast came toward us with the speed of a greyhound. Tarlton then, very properly, fired, for lion hunting is no child's play, and it is not good to run risks. Ordinarily it is a very mean thing to experience joy at a friend's miss; but this was not an ordinary case, and I felt keen delight when the bullet from the badly sighted rifle missed, striking the ground many yards short. I was sighting carefully, from my knee, and I knew I had the lion all right; for though he galloped at a great pace, he came on steadily—ears laid back, and uttering terrific coughing grunts—and there was now no question of making allowance for distance, nor, as he was out in the open, for the fact that he had not before been distinctly visible. The bead of my foresight was exactly on the centre of his chest as I pressed the trigger, and the bullet went as true as if the place had been plotted with dividers. The blow brought him up all standing, and he fell forward on his head. The soft-nosed Winchester bullet had gone straight through the chest cavity, smashing the lungs and the big blood-vessels of the heart. Painfully he recovered his feet, and tried to come on, his ferocious courage holding out to the last.

Olive Fletcher Wins Temperance Medal Contest.

The Friends church was well filled Sunday afternoon by those interested in the cause of temperance and in the little folks, which after all, is one and the same thing. The occasion was a declamatory contest participated in by six members of the Loyal Temperance Legion. A full and interesting program consisting of other recitations and music was enjoyed by the large audience present, all reflecting credit upon Mrs. Scott, superintendent of the L. T. L. work in Newberg.

The contestants were Edna Runde, Huldah Morrison, Wallace Jones, Vera Jones, Olive Fletcher and Nelson Baker. The judges were Mrs. F. C. Stannard, Rev. J. F. Lyon and Rev. A. J. Weaver. All the little folks spoke very creditably but the decision of the judges was that of the audience, and with a few appropriate remarks J. C. Gregory presented the medal to Olive Fletcher. All were remembered with tokens of the occasion however, so everybody was happy.

Two medal speakers not in the contest particapated in the program. Mae Whitten gave an effective rendering of "The Drunkard's Dream" and Earl Jones pleased everybody in his rendition of the thrilling story of "Old Soapy."

While the judges were out, Mrs. Rassico gave a dissertation on the inconsistency of hop picking on the part of prohibitionists.

Young Waldo Potter made a hit with his songs, and his sister Agatha put realism to her song, "No Bread To-Day," by the presence with her on the stage of two little children in rags and tatters. The choruses by the L. T. L. children were also much appreciated.

The other musical numbers consisted of a vocal solo, "Open the Gates," by Chas. Morris, and of a male quartet, "God Bless My Boy," by Messrs. W. C. Woodward, W. E. Crozer, W. A. King and H. Craw.

Before the benediction by Rev. G. C. Ritchey, the audience rose to its feet to give expression of appreciation to Mrs. Scott for her effective efforts in this line of temperance work.

County School Fair.

The School Fair Committee writes the Graphic as follows:

We desire your aid in boosting the School Fair this Fall. We are planning to make things interesting for everyone who attends and will provide sports of all kinds. We have selected the sports that will make the most fun, and we ask the favor of you that you will print the list of events in your paper and advertise the matter as much as possible. Try and get the boys of your community interested so that they will take hold and make the sports a success. We are going to offer cash prizes this year and a prize for each event. The following is a list of events:

FIRST DAY, SEPT. 20.

Afternoon events: Pillow fight, prize, $2.50. Wrestling match, over 150 lbs., $2.50; 125 to 150 lbs., $2.50; under 125 lbs., $2.50.
