The First Baby.

You pink little, fat little, soft little thing.
You look like your mother and kick like your dad.
A lot of new worries your coming will bring
But I'm foolishly, crazily, happily glad.
You're the prettiest baby a man ever had,
The funniest, brightest and finest and best,
So, curl yourself up and go bye bye, my lad,
In the cradle secure of your mother's white breast.

My dear, he'll be all that his daddy was not,
Fulfill all the dreams that are needed for me.
New worries?—of course, but he's worth the whole lot
And the future will surely be brighter, you'll see (She's asleep)—What a struggle it's going to be
To work for the kid and the wife till I fail,
There's grub and there's clothes not for two, but for three,
But I'm glad and I'm proud and I'm pleased with it all.
—Berton Braley, in December Pacific Monthly.

PROVISION FOR CONSUMPTIVES

Sixteen state sanatoria, twenty-eight county hospitals, and twenty-one municipal hospitals for tuberculosis have been erected and provided for since January 1, 1909, says a bulletin of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, issued today.

Within the last two years the number of state institutions for tuberculosis has doubled, and the number of county and municipal institutions has increased from about 30 to 80. The expenditures of public money for the treatment of tuberculosis also has more than doubled. Not less than $3,000,000 of state money was appropriated for tuberculosis institutions in 1909, when 43 legislatures met, and over $600,000 in 1910, when only eleven legislatures were in session. The appropriations of counties and cities for tuberculosis hospitals and sanatoria in the last two years will aggregate fully $2,500,000, bringing the total of official appropriations for tuberculosis hospitals up to over $6,000,000 in the past two years.

In spite, however, of this good showing, the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, states that not one-tenth of the public provision for tuberculosis that is

BABES IN THE WOODS.

Revenge and Punishment of a Maine Scoundrel in 1679.

In 1679 James Adams of York became affronted with one of his neighbors, Henry Simpson, and determined to avenge himself upon two of Simpson's children, whose ages were six and nine years. In a solitary place four or five miles from the dwelling houses of the inhabitants he built of logs beside a ledge of perpendicular rocks a pen or pound several feet high, with walls inclined inward from bottom to top. After he had built this he decoyed the children into the woods under a pretense of searching for birds' nests and caused them to enter within the pound, where he left them confined to perish. The place has since been called the Devil's Invention.

The children were soon missed, and the alarmed inhabitants searched for them more than forty-eight hours. The boys, when aware of their wretched situation, made various attempts to get out, and at length, by digging away with their hands the surface of the earth underneath one of the bottom logs, effected their escape. They wandered in the woods three days, being at last attracted to the seashore by the noise of the surf, where they were found.

The depraved criminal was condemned to have thirty stripes well laid on, to pay the father of the children £5, the treasurer £10, besides fees and charges of the prison, and remain a close prisoner during the court's pleasure or till further order. The same month he recognized before two of the judges, "conditioned to send him, within twenty-one days, out of the jurisdiction."

Her Privilege.

"You insist on doing this?" asked the husband.

"I do," replied the wife firmly.

"But, my dear—"

"Stop!" she commanded. "Nothing you can say will alter my determination! My mind is made up."

"In that case," replied the husband, who had transmuted the base metal of experience into the precious gold of knowledge, "I have nothing more to say. I realize that once possessed of an idea you are, like all your sex, beyond argument."

"Do you mean," demanded the wife, with displeasure, "that I am incapable of seeing reason?"

"Reason with a woman," answered the husband from behind his paper, "is like water on a duck's back, in one ear and out the other."

"You are wrong!" cried the wife triumphantly. "And to prove it I have already changed my mind!"—Smart Set.
