

HOW WE GROW

The official census reports of the United States show the population of Newberg to have increased as follows:

1890.....	514
1900.....	945
1910.....	2260

The official reports show the resources of the United States National Bank to have increased as follows:

1890.....	$ 35,000.00
1900.....	80,000.00
1910.....	395,845.38

We are thankful that the loyalty of our friends has made this growth possible and trust that the next twenty years may show even a greater increase in our mutual welfare and prosperity.

THE MAN WHO FAILED.

He Couldn't Understand Why, and Yet It Was Very Simple.

To the president of a wholesale drug concern came a druggist, a former classmate in a school of pharmacy. He had come on the bitter errand of confessing his inability to meet payments and to make arrangements for some sort of a settlement.

"It's no use," said the hard luck man. "I'm hoodooed. For twenty years I've been in the drug business. Four times I went to a section of the city that was rapidly building up and was first on the spot and built up a paying business. Goodness knows I didn't ask much. I didn't expect any marble counters and crystal shelves. A linen duster was good enough for me. Bless you, all I asked was to be let alone. But no sooner had I saved up so that I had $700 or $800 in the bank when along comes some fellow, rents the big store at the next corner, puts in green marble soda fountains and plate glass showcases, and inside of six months every customer I had is in the new shop, and I draw a balance out of my bank just big enough to let me move and start again. Can you beat that for hard luck?"

On the face of the listener there sat an expression part amusement, part impatience.

"Do you mean to tell me you call that hard luck?" he asked. "I call that stupidity! For twenty years you've been tripping over your own shoestrings, and each time you picked yourself up you hadn't sense enough to tie them. For twenty years you've played sucker to the brotherhood of druggists. You blazed a trail and said: 'Here, you fellows, is a good place for your shops. I grew up with this trade, but you can come right in and take it from me. Everything is ready, and the bed is warmed.' Why, a man like you has no excuse for being in business. You ought to be a professor or a church tenor."

"I'll tell you what I'll do. When it comes to retail drug work I don't know the difference between a rubber nipple and a castor oil pill, but I'm going into partnership with you. We're going to open a drug store that is a drug store—not the kind run by the missionaries in the Fiji islands, but a real one, with mahogany counters and fixtures and a $2,000 soda fountain and showcases with glass clear as crystal and tough enough to dance a jig on. We'll tog you up in a business suit, with a crease down the front of your breeches and a coat snug as close as it should at the collar. It may take us six or twelve months to come out even as to expense, maybe longer. That's all right! But for a hundred years no one'll have nerve to open a pill shop within a quarter mile radius of a drug shop like ours."—Saturday Evening Post.

Indications.

"John," said Mrs. Blinks uneasily the other night, "I am very much afraid that my bank is in a bad way."

"Oh, nonsense, my dear Maria; nonsense!" said Blinks. "Why, it's one of the strongest financial institutions in the country. Whatever put that notion into your dear old head?"

"Well, it's very funny," said Mrs. Blinks, still unconvinced; "they've just returned a check of mine for $25 marked 'No funds.'"—Harper's.

Inviting Temptation.

Many people plan for defeat like the boy whose mother told him that he could not go swimming, but he did. When he returned and his mother saw the signs he confessed that he was tempted and went with the boys. She noticed that his coat bulged out. Putting her hand in, she pulled out his bathing suit. When confronted with it he said, "I was afraid that I might be tempted when I got there, so I took these along." Some people expect to fall and plan for it.

A Blow to the Intellect.

"Your husband is not looking well tonight, Mrs. Rhymer."

"He isn't, and I'm not surprised at it."

"No? Has he been overworking?"

"It isn't that so much. It is his originality. Why, that man is struck by so many original ideas that his mind must be one mass of bruises."—Woman's Journal.

The Vernacular.

"You're a cool sort of a cuss, Stipson," said Jorrock. "Here's this note of yours fell due last Friday, and as your indorser I've had to pay it, but you seem to think it's funny. You don't appear to be worrying at all."

"Oh, no," said Stipson. "What's the use? I discounted that long ago."—Harper's Weekly.

"My name is Bilkey," said the stranger to the moving picture theater proprietor. "I'm Bilkey the composer. I understand you are using my illustrated song, 'When the Sun Slips Down Behind the Dusky Hills.'"

"Why, yes," the proprietor replied. "We found it was just the song we wanted."

"Thanks, thanks!" cried the delighted author.

"Yes," the proprietor continued, "we needed something to get the audience out between our half hour shows, and your song emptied the house quicker than anything else we ever tried."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

She Was Not Consulted.

A girl forced by her parents into a disagreeable match with an old man, whom she detested, when the clergyman came to that part of the service where the bride is asked if she consents to take the bridegroom for her husband, said, with great simplicity:

"Oh, dear, no, sir, but you are the first person who has asked my opinion about the matter!"—London Tit-Bits.

DISPATCH TRAINS BY TELEPHONE

The Oregon Railroad and Navigation Company has recently placed an order with the Western Electric Company for telephone equipment for a circuit extending from Portland, Oregon, to The Dalles, Oregon, a distance of ninety miles.

Today the telephone has supplanted the telegraph on over 48,000 miles of track on the railroads of this country. Most of the large trunk lines are using the telephone, and thirteen of them have over one thousand miles thus equipped. At a recent convention of the Railway Superintendents of Telegraph held in Boston, everyone of the seventy-five delegates were positive that it was only a question of a few years when the telephone would largely, if not entirely, supplant the telegraph for use in connection with the handling of train movements. That the Oregon Railroad and Navigation Company has adopted this up-to-date method of handling its traffic is significant. It is further proof that the telephone will eventually take the place of the telegraph.

Hay!

By Wm. F. Fenton.
'Tis time to hay!

Hey?

Yes, time to hay,
From dawn of day—
Some work, some play.

Hey?

'Tis time to hay!

Hey?

Get up, I say;
And hitch the hay
With Fannie May!

Hey?

Sure! Cut the hay!

Hey?

Then let it lay
A live-long day—
'Twill cure that way.

Hey?

Start now! Work-pray!

Hey?

If you delay,
And wait, for, say,
'Hay weather'—Nay!!

Hay!!!
