

Star Lyceum Announcement

There are Six Numbers in the Course and All Bear the Redpath Stamp.

BRILLIANT ARRAY OF TALENT FOR THIS SEASON

The Course Will Open on Wednesday, October 11th, with Congressman Victor Murdock, of Kansas, and Close with Montaville Flowers.

Newberg is to have a lyceum entertainment course again this season and the fact that the talent bears the Redpath stamp is a guarantee that the course will be high class in every particular. The aim has been to present a representative course of attractions combining the best in music, in literature, in the drama and other forms of entertainment. The course of six numbers will open on October 11 with Congressman Victor Murdock, of Kansas, and close with Montaville Flowers. Honorable, Victor Murdock, who opens the course, is the leader of the insurgents in the House of Representatives. He was one of the first men to rebel against the methods of Speaker Cannon and was responsible for the effective organization of the group of insurgent congressmen. Murdock is not merely a man of national reputation. Aside from his reputation, he could easily hold his place upon the lyceum platform by virtue of his merits as an original thinker and an interesting speaker. Before entering congress eight years ago, Mr. Murdock was editor of the Wichita Eagle. He began his newspaper experience as a boy and after working as a reporter in Chicago, finally went to Wichita and has since been living in that city.

Murdock's personality is a most engaging one. He is what some people might call a homely man. He is big in body, with big, virile features, a great big voice, and a big, hearty, contagious laugh. On the platform, he is energetic and direct, with the Boston Journal of Education, the leading educational publication of this country. For more than twenty-five years, Dr. Winship has held an enviable reputation on the lecture platform, and today stands at the head of America's educational orators. Dr. Winship has long been identified with the juvenile court and the various movements to save the boys and girls. In fact, he anticipated Judge Lindsey several years in the advocacy of the juvenile court, and ever since Judge Lindsey began his work in Denver, Dr. Winship has been identified with the furtherance of the cause.

In Dr. Winship there is nothing dry nor academic. He knows how to entertain an audience. He has an exhaustless fund of anecdotes and stories which he knows how to tell with inimitable skill.

New to Western audiences, but a man well known throughout the East is Byron C. Piatt, "the prophet of the New Era." He is an oratorical cyclone, a veritable human dynamo, a modern prophet calling men and institutions to repentance. Every lecture is a quivering cross-section of the individual, neighborhood and national life of our people—a cutting invective against ignorance, cowardice, avarice and inhumanity.

The dramatic offering for the course will be presented by Mr. Montaville Flowers, who ranks with the three greatest dramatic monologists.

In Montaville Flowers are united the arts of the reader, the actor, and the orator. With consummate skill, the outgrowth of rare native ability, trained by years of university study and chastened by fifteen years of platform experience. Mr. Flowers presents a great play. Aided only by his superb art, he gains all the effects of the stage without the use of its accessories. The audience forgets that only one man stands before them. They don't see Mr. Flowers; they see the characters as one by one they appear upon the stage and play their respective parts in a great drama. What Edwin Booth was to the theatrical stage, Montaville Flowers is to the lyceum. His platform art represents the highest dramatic achievement of this generation.

Music is to occupy a prominent part in the course, and something pleasing to all is offered along this line. The Strollers Quartette, now in its fourth year, is a unique organization. Composed of four young men, all capable singers and entertainers, they give a varied program. Each man is a vocal soloist, while Mr. Longstreet is an impersonator and singing comedian. Mr. Whitehead is a violinist who knows how to get the best out of his instrument.

A feature of this company is the fact that, during the progress of the program, several changes in costumes are made. The appeal is made to the eye as well as to the ear.

The Boston Lyrics is distinctively a popular company. They give their programs that audiences may be entertained, and they do it with a surprising degree of versatility. Three artists—two ladies and a gentleman—compose this "big little company." Mr. F. R. Jordan, is a baritone soloist, cornetist, cartoonist. Mrs. Jordan is pianist and accompanist. Miss Bertha Wells is reader and trombonist.

The entertainment consists of songs, dramatic readings, cartoons, pastel readings and songs, monologues and solos on cornet and trombone. A unique feature of this company, are the solos and obligatoes given by the use of the "Marimbaphone," a bell-toned instrument designed to furnish musical novelties of a pleasing character. Season tickets for the entire course of six numbers will be sold at the low price of $2.

The College Music Department will inaugurate its work this season by a free recital in the college chapel, given by the faculty. The school year begins on next Monday and registration will be done on that day and Tuesday.

The recital will be on Friday Sep. 29 at 7:45 m.p. Everyone is welcome and those who are lovers of good music may expect a very pleasant evening. The program will consist of vocal, piano and string music. The celebrated "Dance of Death" by St Saens and the storm music from the Peer Gynt settings will be an interesting feature.

PROF. WEESNER BRINGS HOME BRIDE

When Prof. Oliver Weesner left for his former home near Mooresville, Indiana, for a vacation trip, the burden of his heart as expressed to his friends was to meet his mother and sister in the old home, but it is now evident that the heart strings were tuned for even closer family ties that bind, for on Wednesday evening when he alighted from the train, there was a bride attachment on one arm in the person of Mrs. Pearl Bundy Weesner, whose home has been at Amboy, Indiana.

The college students on hearing of the home-coming, hastily gathered a crowd, and when the newly-weds alighted from the train, they were surrounded and showered with roses and asters, while the college song was being sung. The professor is good on a mathematical calculation and with the aid of the blushing bride he passed the critical ordeal in good shape, accepting the hearty congratulations with becoming dignity.

The wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride in Amboy, September 9, and a week later they started on their journey to Oregon. Miss Mabel Beck, who spent the vacation at her home at Highland, Ohio, and Prof. Melville D. Hawkins, the new teacher of History and French, made the trip with them.

WM. ANDREWS HURT IN FALL FROM BRIDGE

Tuesday forenoon while Wm. Andrews was working on the old wagon bridge at the canyon on First street, he fell a distance of thirty feet and was badly bruised, though not seriously injured.

He and Arthur Benson were engaged in removing some of the old timbers for use on the grade at the end of the new bridge, when the bent they were standing on gave way and toppled over with a crash. They both started to run back on the bridge for safety and young Benson got away safely, but Mr. Andrews went down with the wreckage head first and those who saw him fall, expected to find his head crushed. John Groff who was working near by hurried to his assistance, finding him bent over a fallen timber, and assisted in carrying him to the top of the hill.

Later he was carried to his home and he is said to be getting along nicely, no bones having been broken in the fall.

STEVENSON-COLLARD

The home of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Collard on Wynooski street was the scene of a pretty wedding Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock when Miss Hellen Collard became the wife of Fred M. Stevenson, of Portland.

Rev. John F. Lyons was the officiating clergyman, using the ring service of the Presbyterian church in the presence of the immediate relatives and friends of the contracting parties. Mr. and Mrs. Stevenson left on the afternoon train for Portland where they will make their home as Mr. Stevenson is in the Railway Mail service between Portland and Corvallis.

CIRCUIT COURT DOCKET

List Sufficiently Long to Make Good Picking for the Attorneys.

There is quite a list of cases for the September, 1911, term of court which is to begin September 25th, 1911, Judge Percy R. Kelly, of Albany, presiding. A new departure will be made in that the court will sit on Thursday, Sept. 21st, for the purpose of disposing of motions, demurrers, and dilatory pleas for the purpose of hearing only cases on the week following. This will be a saving to the tax payers, and at the same time to the litigants as it will be known before hand, at least two days before any case can be heard.

While the following docket is quite long, yet the great majority of the cases will require no action of the court, and perhaps only a formal dismissal. Only a few cases of any importance appear on the docket.

W. L. Spaulding vs. Dan McCann, action on promissory note. J. H. and C. L. McNary for plaintiff. Small note.

E. B. Graves vs. E. M. Graves, action for money. W. N. Barrett & R. L. Conner for plaintiff. On note for $313 and $30 attorney fee.

Andrew Kershaw, respondent, vs. Morris Dudley, appellant. B. A. Kliks for appellant. Small account involving question of planting of a crop on farm lands of respondent.

M. Peterson vs. Herman Schwartz appeal from Justice Court. Small account.

State of Oregon vs. J. H. Abel & Mike Martin & heirs. Information. J. H. McNary and R. L. Conner for plaintiff. Mike Martin died without heirs and the property will by this proceeding be made the property of the state.

S. A. Manning vs. J. H. Brigham, action for money. R. L. Conner for plaintiff. Small account.

Walter Sears vs. William Langley, action for promissory note. McCain & Vinton and Oscar Hayter for plaintiff. Note for $500 and $50 attorney fee. A like action was brought at the March, 1911, term of court and a verdict rendered for plaintiff in the sum of $350 and attorney fees.

M. G. Markell vs. A. A. Smith, action for money. B. A. Kliks for plaintiff. Action on account of $150.

Kershaw Department Store vs. John Waucheno, action on promissory note. W. O. Sims for plaintiff. Simpson and Lewis for defendant. Small account.

W. A. Laughlin vs. C. K. Spaulding Logging Co., action for damages. B. A. Kliks for plaintiff. Rauch & Senn, of Portland, for defendant. Personal injury by falling off from a scaffold. $500 damages claimed. Work was done at Newberg mill. It appears that the company carried insurance against injury of the workmen.

R. M. Wade & Co. vs. R. Chilcott, action for money. B. A. Kliks for plaintiff. Two notes.

C. L. Barnhart vs. Arleta & Geo. Yeaton, action for promissory note. W. O. Sims for plaintiff. Small account.

W. E. Martin vs. Arthur & Cook, damage to person, McCain & Vinton & Galloway for plaintiff. Griffith & Leiter for defendant. Martin was injured at McMinnville while employed on the Fenton building, claiming negligence on the part of the con-
