

CONDENSED MILK PLANT TO REOPEN

Banker Wharton Encourages
Farmers to Get Into the Cow
Business Again.

The Western Condensed Milk plant which was partially destroyed by fire on March 20th, 1911, is being rebuilt and will be ready for business between the first and tenth of September.

This news should be hailed with delight for there can be no question but that the resuming of this industry will be of the greatest benefit to Newberg and community.

The plant should be encouraged and every person having a cow should plan to give the condenser patronage from the day it opens for business.

I have never seen a country more favored by nature than our own valley.

Fine water, good feed, a fine climate, in fact its an ideal dairy country.

Since the closing of this plant the dairying industry of this immediate section has greatly suffered. Quite a number of our large herds have been sold, some have gone out of the milk business entirely, while those who have kept their cows have been forced to market their milk and cream at points of greater distance than Newberg.

I am a firm believer in the value of the cow. My advice to every farmer is to add on a few more cows. A few well selected dairy cows will pay your grocery bill and household expenses, and leave you some change besides. This will not interfere with the development of the farm and the raising of agricultural products.

Remember you need more stock on the farm to enrich the soil. You cannot crop your land year after year without impoverishing the soil. No land where the yearly rainfall is as great as with us will stand cropping continuously without systematic fertilizing.

Our fruit trees do far better when the soil is well fertilized. Where this has been tried out the vigor and growth of the trees is noticeable as far as the eye can reach.

The writer does not pose as a dairy expert, but can speak with confidence on this subject. It is no new theory for it has been tried out with profit.

I wish to get every farmer interested again in the cow and back into the milk and butter business.

To further stimulate you in this great industry which I believe will eventually be one of our greatest, I wish to say that capital can readily be secured to foster this line of business.

I am sure the Newberg banks stand ready to assist this industry. Any farmer who is so situated that he can care for a few more cows should not hesitate to go to his bank and ask to borrow the money to make the purchase. It is the safest loan a bank can carry and I do not believe that a worthy loan will be turned down by your home banks. This will apply to hogs as well.

There is much to be learned along the line of proper feed, what kind of feed, and how to feed to get the proper results. We never know so much but what we can gain valuable information from experts that are constantly making a study of the dairy cow.

To this end the writer has arranged with the Oregon Agricultural College to send us a lecturer on the dairy cow. I do not at this time know the name of the speaker who will come but am assured he will be the best they have on the subject. The speaker and the date of the lecture will be announced at a later date.

Let me urge upon you to take an active interest in this vital matter and have a large gathering of directly interested people. I wish to assure you that I have the interest of the farmer at heart. I am willing to use every energy within my being to assist the laboring man to have a full dinner pail and the farmer a fat bank account.

The business men of Newberg have expressed the thought to me that they have not always had the full co-operation of the farmer in their efforts to develop the community. Whether this be so or not, I believe the farmer should realize his responsibility in helping to build up the community and not to depend upon the man in the town to solve his personal business matters.

W. S. Wharton.

NOTED SOUTHERN ORATOR TO SPEAK IN NEWBERG

Mrs. Florence Ewell Atkins, of Nashville, Tennessee, the renowned Southern orator who was admittedly the finest speaker at Gladstone chautauqua, will be at the Friends church Sunday evening at 8 o'clock. Be sure you take in this great opportunity!

COUNTY W. C. T. U. CONVENTION

Annual Meeting Held in County Seat Last Week.

The annual convention of the W. C. T. U. of Yamhill County was held on Tuesday and Wednesday of last week at the First Baptist church in McMinnville. A goodly number of delegates from the different local unions of the county were in attendance. Also the state president, Mrs. Ada Wallace Unruh, Mrs. Ward Swope, state corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Helen D. Harford and Mrs. Florence Atkins, of Nashville, Tenn., who are National officers.

An address of welcome was made by the local president, Mrs. F. Wallace, and responded to by Mrs. Henrietta Duerst, of Carlton, followed by a short address by Mrs. Swope, and a few words of welcome and encouragement by Rev. H. Wyse Jones, pastor of the church in which the convention was held.

Miss Edith Minchin, of Dundee, County president, very ably presided. The different sessions were opened with devotional exercises, which lent freshness and spirit to the business following. Several fine vocal and instrumental numbers were rendered by McMinnville talent.

The reports of the different departments of work operated by the W. C. T. U. were encouraging, showing increase in membership and work accomplished during the last year. Luncheon was served to the delegates in the basement of the church.

Mrs. H. Wyse Jones gave a very interesting reading entitled "A New Story of Christopher Columbus." Rev. Atkinson, pastor of the M. E. church, gave what he termed "An Irish Stew," being an address on "Temperance and Missions," with a little

G. A. R. MEETING AT DAYTON BIG SUCCESS

A Good Attendance and Dayton Gives Warm Reception

The meeting of the Yamhill County Veteran Association held at Dayton, August 20 to 23, was one of the very best in the history of the Association. The weather was good and the attendance the largest we have had for several years. Everything passed off pleasantly and the people of Dayton exerted themselves to the utmost to make the stay of the old soldiers and their friends as agreeable as possible.

The meeting in 1913 will be held at McMinnville.

The officers elected were: President, Henry Sheard, McMinnville; Vice President, Mrs. Jennie Sheard; Treasurer, D. H. Turner; Secretary, H. S. Moloney; Chaplain, Ezra Hayes; Directors, J. E. Brown, Sheridan; S. W. Sigler, Dayton; C. W. Keene, McMinnville; Captain Mead, McMinnville; B. F. Hevlund, Amity.

Resolutions were adopted as follows:

The Yamhill County Veteran Association in fourth annual reunion assembled, is unable to express in words its appreciation of the boundless and lavish hospitality, courtesy and kindness bestowed on its old soldier guests by the city of Dayton.

Never before in the history of our order, never before since the great war ended, have we experienced or felt in a greater degree the warmth of the love, gratitude, respect and reverence which goes out from the citizens of the American nation to its defenders.

The unprecedented hospitality, the unbounded patriotism and the beautiful weather has made our stay in Dayton the most enjoyable of all our reunions.

The thanks of this Association is tendered to the good people of Dayton, to the Commercial Club and their auxiliary, and to the Woman's Relief Corps, and all who helped to make our meeting so pleasant, and we will ever retain a most vivid recollection of the kindness and generosity displayed by the city authorities, the Commercial Club and the citi-

CITIZENS RESOLUTIONS

Whereas, the reunion of the Yamhill County Veteran Association, now being held in our city, has proven a source of deep and abiding pleasure to our citizens; and

Whereas, the various sessions of the Reunion have contributed toward the spirit of patriotism and loyalty among our people, and

Whereas, we feel complimented that we have had as guests these survivors of the great war and their friends, now therefore, be it

Resolved: That we, the citizens of Dayton, express our appreciation of the presence of these honored veterans and we sincerely and cordially invite them to meet with us in the future as often as circumstances and the rules and regulations of their organization will permit, and be it further

Resolved: That we wish them, individually and collectively, much of happiness and prosperity in the coming years.

Resolved: That a copy of these resolutions be transmitted to the proper officials of the Yamhill County Veteran Association for their files and that a copy be handed to the press for publication.

R. L. Harris,
W. T. H. Tucker,
D. C. Snyder,
J. E. Mellinger,
James Dodson.

This resolution unanimously adopted by the citizens of Dayton at the closing session of the Reunion. R. L. Harris.

WHAT OREGON IS DOING

Some Figures Showing The Value of Products in 1911.

In 1911 the woolclip of Oregon weighed 16,000,000 pounds, was shorn from about 2,000,000 sheep and was sold for about $3,000,000.

During the same period the state produced 600,000 pounds of mohair, worth $240,000. Goats have been found nearly as valuable for clearing brush land as for producing mohair.

In 1911 Oregon produced 72,000 bales of hops, worth $4,000,000. The production was only half that of a few years ago, but prices have been extremely good.

In 1911 Oregon produced poultry to the extent of 9,000,000 birds, having a value of $7,000,000.

During the same year the state produced 32,000,000 dozens of eggs, valued at $9,600,000. The poultry business is still an infant industry.

In 1911 the Oregon potato crop was the greatest ever known, very nearly approaching the 6,000,000 bushel mark, with a value, to the growers, of over $4,000,000.

In the same year, onions were grown to the amount of about 175,000 bushels, worth $212,000. The bulk of this crop is produced within a small area, being grown almost exclusively on what is known as "beaver dam" land.

In 1911 Oregon produced $3,400,000 worth of butter, but in order to supply the demand, at least three times this amount was shipped into the state from other sections.

In 1911 Oregon dairies produced 17,000,000 gallons of milk and cream, having a value of $4,000,000. The product is said to be the cleanest and most wholesome of that of any state.

In 1911 Oregon produced 5-

THE WAY OF A DOZEN MAIDS WITH A MAN

Prospective Bridegroom is "Showered" by Bevy of Lady Friends.

By his own confession, one of the three, yea, four things that were too many for Solomon was the way of a man with a maid. If common report is true, old Solomon was probably wise to the way of several hundred maids with a man—to his sorrow. And profiting by his troubles, the trend since his time has steadily been in the direction of one flag, one country, one woman at a time.

This conventional order was rudely shaken however, on last Friday evening, at the home of Mrs. W. S. Parker. Invited presumably to an ordinary mixed social function, W. C. Woodward's first knowledge of what the evening had in store for him, came when he was ushered into the Parker living room. A room full of expectant, determined looking ladies confronted him and not a single avenue of escape. Ambushed, as cleverly as was ever done in most approved style by Dick the Bandit and his trusty followers!

Though somewhat dashed at the suddenness of the prospect, the man in the case proceeded to make the best of a mighty nice situation by making a dive for a seat on the sofa between the prettiest two girls present. (The writer will be in Canada when this appears in print!)

Just as he was becoming accustomed to a 16 to 1 tete-a-tete and was getting back to normal, a big basket full of daintily tied and be-ribboned parcels mysteriously made its appearance and was deposited on the apprehensive, panic-stricken man's lap with orders to open and make fitting comment on each successive revelation. Then followed a dazzling array of bequests including much fearfully and wonderfully wrought fancy work about which the recipient knew about as much as a Fiji Islander is supposed to know of the contents of a gents' furnishing establishment. But coached from the side lines and prompted as to the necessary, "Perfectly dear! So sweet! Awfully lovely!" ejaculations, the hero was assured that he came through in most approved style.

The ladies present at this very pleasing innovation of showering a mere man were the Misses Pearl Cummings, Jessie Britt, Nellie Paulsen, Lora Young, Myrtle Gause, Sibyl Woodward and Mesdames W. S. Parker, A. C. Seely, L. M. Parker, E. H. Woodward, C. N. Terrell, C. W. Parker, J. H. McKowen, E. A. Newby and W. A. King.
