Robert S. Glenn

LYCEUM ANNOUNCEMENT

Excellent Talent of Six Numbers Will be Offered.

The lyceum season of 1912-'13 is at hand and calls are already coming in for season tickets from former patrons, who have learned to expect a series of pleasing and profitable entertainment, when seats are secured for a lyceum course in Newberg.

In making a selection of talent offered, an effort has been made to make up a course that will please the varied tastes of the people, and it is thought that the course as herewith announced will meet this demand.

The opening number will be given by "Bob" Seeds whose lecture subjects are: "Mistakes of Life Exposed," "Influence of the Home," "Queerness of the Queer," "How God Made the Soil Fertile."

Just one press notice for Mr. Seeds at this time from the Charleston, Ill., Courier:

"Seeds' mission was to make people laugh, and he succeeded admirably. For an hour and a half he kept his audience in a roar of laughter, and did more in that time to cure blues and dyspepsia than volumes of sermons and gallons of medicine could have done. It is impossible to give a report of his lecture. It must be heard to have the desired effect."

Other numbers will be: Wm. Sterling Battis—Dramatic Costume Recital; Carter's Jubilee Co.—Old Time Negro Melodies; Neil Litchfield Trio—The Laugh Makers; Ex-Governor Robert S. Glenn—"Our Country, Its Dangers and Possibilities;" Aller Trio—Musical and Reading.

A good Jubilee Co. never fails to appeal to a Newberg audience, and since Mr. Carter, who is the manager of the company selected for this course, has a reputation all over the country for getting together the best Negro talent to be had, the public need have no fears about this number being first-class.

Robert S. Glenn, Ex-Governor of North Carolina, has a nationwide record as a platform orator and always speaks to crowded houses.

Every number of the course, will, in fact, be worth half the price, at least, of a season ticket, and a good sale of advance seats for the season will no doubt be the result.

At the close of last season's course, nearly 150 persons signed pledge cards, agreeing to purchase tickets for this season. To those the tickets will be delivered within a few days, and the sale will be continued up to the date of the first number. If you are not called on by solicitors, call at the music store of Kienle & Son, where tickets will be on sale at $2.00, which includes a reserved seat. Purchasers of season tickets may call at the same store on the morning of Friday, November 1, at 8:30, and select their seats for the season.

BUT THE GREATEST OF SURPRISES IS THIS

On Friday evening Mrs. A. C. Seely delightfully entertained about twenty-five ladies at a miscellaneous shower for Miss Pearl Cummings. Now the reader is doubtless wondering what could have prompted the thought of a shower for this young lady.

But "there's a reason," as a company of young ladies found out, greatly to their surprise, one night last week, while enjoying Miss Cummings' hospitality, when she informally announced her intention of being married, not to a Newberg man nor even an Oregonian, but to a gentleman all the way from Illinois.

There are some people to whom a surprise is so humiliating that they will always assume the attitude of "I knew all about it," but with few exceptions this information came as a complete surprise. The man in the case is

Mr. Wm. H. Elliott, who is a brother of Mrs. Walter S. Parker and Orange Elliott, both of this place. He spent a year in Newberg about fifteen years ago. He is now in business in Georgetown, Illinois. The wedding will take place in October. But to return to the shower, and it was a shower indeed. Numbers of articles displaying hand embroidery were presented as well as other gifts too numerous to mention. To employ her hands during the early part of the evening, each guest made some little article for use in the kitchen which, when completed, was presented to the bride elect. One of those brain-racking guessing contests followed, in which all sorts of questions were asked about an up-to-date wedding, the answers to be found from the names of flowers that grew in grandmother's old-fashioned garden.

Mrs. A. B. Wilmot assisted Mrs. Seely with the refreshments which were daintily served in two courses. Those present were:

Mesdames Capitola McKowen, Claud B. Cummings, Tom Cummings, Walter S. Parker, Chas. B. Wilson, William A. King, John W. Barcroft, Jr., Curtis W. Parker, Herman Smith, Semon J. Madson, D. Dwight Coulson, Harry E. Gordon, of Newberg; Mrs. Stanhope Pier of Portland; Mrs. A. B. Wilmot of Oregon City; Misses Pearl Cummings, Myrtle Gause, Merle Woods, Ida Woods, Jessie Britt, Nellie Paulsen, Jessie Gardner and Sibyl Woodward of Newberg, and Miss Lula Trueblood of Portland.

STAR THEATRE FRIDAY-SATURDAY

EXPOSED BY THE DICTOGRAPH by the Selig Company, an exceptionally dramatic story. This picture gives a very vivid object lesson on it and how it is used.

BLINKS AND JINKS, ATTORNEYS AT LAW

Comedy by the Edison Company.

Two other films. Admission, 5 and 10 cents.

CIRCUIT COURT WEEK

Harvest Time For The Attorneys And Picking Good.

Judge Kelley convened Department No. 1 of the Circuit Court promptly at ten o'clock, Monday. The following jurors failed to appear or were excused: R. M. Welch and N. A. Barrett, out of the county; Z. E. Perkins and A. C. Darz excused. The following were chosen for the grand jury by lot: F. C. Eddy of Willamina, foreman; Harvey Berry, D. A. Honey, Chris Ecks, E. J. Converse, W. R. Force and J. W. Martin. These gentlemen were instructed in their duties and informed that their chief work would be required and expected next March. After a short session, they were excused.

State vs Sullivan charged with larceny from a dwelling was called. It was finally agreed to plead guilty to simple larceny, which would not require a penitentiary sentence as would the former. It was then shown that Sullivan took a pair of eyeglasses and also a looking-glass, total value thereof, being less than $10, from an old Lafayette couple where he had been rooming, but it was done in a drunken stupor, and probably without knowledge of the defendant. On showing made that Sullivan had since the act never taken another drop of liquor and on his promise to the court that he would never again touch intoxicating liquors he was paroled.

State vs Alvin Countryman, charged with sale of intoxicating liquors. It appeared that the charge could not be substantiated, and the prosecution dismissed the case. Countryman is from Grand Ronde. He was represented by McCain, Vinton & Galloway.

Palmer vs Sheridan Orchard Development company, was settled, and the consequence was that the jury had no work for Monday, all three cases going out, as did the following case of State vs Hall, charged with sale of intoxicating liquors, owing to the absence of witnesses.

J. H. Lee vs M. W. Houk, all of Whiteson, was settled on payment of $311 and costs, total about $350. Lee worked for Houk on a woodsaw which was unguarded and had both bones in his right arm sawed almost through, and thereby crippling him. A number of defenses were interposed, rendering recovery doubtful. McCain, Vinton & Galloway appeared for plaintiff and B. B. Kliks for defendant Houk. Lee asked for $5,750 as damages.

F. J. Coad vs Brooks Bros. of Lafayette, was also settled on payment of $107.75. A sale of diseased trees was charged. Oscar Hayter, of Dallas, McCain, Vinton & Galloway appeared for plaintiff and B. A. Kliks for the defendants. The defendants alleged that the trees were of the very best grade, but that plaintiff and his associates were speculators and lost the trees through their own carelessness.

In the case of Patterson vs Woodward of the Graphic, settled out of court. Weatherford & Weatherford and W. M. Ramsey for plaintiff and Clarence Butt and Martin L. Pipes for defendant.

Nissen vs Flower is an action for attorney fees claimed to be due one Heckbert, of Portland. It appears that Heckbert assigned his claim to Nissen and brought the suit for Nissen against Flower who lives at Newberg. E. E. Heckbert appears for the plaintiff and B. A. Kliks for the defense. On motion, the complaint was stricken out and the plaintiff allowed until Tuesday to file a new complaint.

W. E. Matthews vs H. M. Abbott and C. L. Thornton was tried Tuesday, with B. A. Kliks for plaintiff and Dan R. Murphy and C. W. Corby for the defense. This was a suit to recover damages in the sum of $3,000 against the defendants for fraud in the sale of stock of hardware in the Newberg Hardware & Plumbing Company of Newberg. The jury brought in a verdict in favor of Mr. Matthews.

SUFFRAGE LUNCHEON

Mrs. Laura Morris, president of the local Suffrage Club, gave a delightful luncheon at her home on Hancock street last Wednesday afternoon, to the members of the Club. The ladies of Newberg have suddenly sprung into notice as ardent advocates of equal suffrage, and women are scarce indeed who adhere to the old-time regime which recognizes the husband and wife as one and the husband the ONLY one. Our present hope is founded, not only upon the activity of women but the allegiance of public spirited men. To this end, the pastors of Newberg have been solicited for a sermon on the "Enfranchisement of Women." We look forward to victory in November, basing our hope upon the cooperation of men, as women cannot enfranchise women when they have no votes with which to do so.

The Club has accepted an invitation to meet with Mrs. Eva H. Hull, 815 North Meridian, Thursday evening, Sept. 26th. All ladies interested in the equality of women are invited to attend.

MOCK WEDDING

Mrs. John W. Barcroft Jr. was hostess at a jolly party for Miss Pearl Cummings on Monday night. She was ably assisted in entertaining by her sister, Mrs. A. B. Wilmot, of Oregon City. A mock wedding was enacted with the parts of the bride-elect and all contracting parties well sustained. The writer has been bribed however not to give the names of the young ladies who assumed the role of groom and clergy respectively.

With the addition of Mrs. Nelson Brouillette, Mrs. S. Brouillette, Mrs. Clyde Hale and Miss Pearl Cobb, the guests were the same as those attending the shower given by Mrs. Seely, mentioned in this issue.

SETTLED OUT OF COURT

The suit brought by Mrs. Edith Patterson against the editor of the Graphic for libel has been settled out of court and the case dismissed.

The San Francisco news item which was published in the Evening Telegram and which the Graphic quoted from, had reference to an Oregon woman named Peterson and not Patterson, though the publication was made on the part of the Graphic in good faith, thinking it was Mrs. Patterson that was before the San Francisco court. A number of Newberg people who read the news note in the Telegram say they had the same impression.

ST. PAUL BOOSTERS

Matters of Interest to Both Sides Of the River Discussed.

A few of our Commercial Club members attended the booster meeting called by the Commercial Club of St. Paul for the purpose of boosting that section, and to arouse interest in the railroad companies to extend their line through St. Paul.

They had succeeded in getting together quite a large crowd of local people, as well as speakers from Portland, Oregon City, Woodburn and Salem.

Hon. Dan R. Murphy spoke on the importance of the farmers cutting up their large holdings, doing away with wheat and grain raising, and going more into diversified farming and stock raising.

Judge Dimmick, of Oregon City, spoke very interestingly upon hog raising, giving statistics to show that Oregon was naturally the best adapted state in the union for raising hogs.

Mr. Huckenstine spoke very interestingly, and advised the St. Paul people to rise beyond the notoriety of having a crack baseball team, and join the other progressive cities of the valley in being known as a commercial point.

Mr. L. J. Chapin, of the Agricultural College, spoke of the importance of the farmer being a better business man, saying that he should carry his farm accounts on a ledger, just as other lines of business do. That at least two accounts should be kept accurately, an income account and an expense account that should be balanced to show at the end of each year just how the farmer's business turned out. He stated that the labor performed by the farmer, as well as that of his wife and family, should be charged against the expense account, for if a farmer could not receive compensation for his own labor and that of his family and show a profit, it was time he was adopting more progressive methods.

The writer on behalf of the Commercial Club invited the St. Paul people over to attend the lecture on the subject of building up the dairy herd, to be delivered by Prof. C. L. Smith on Monday afternoon, Sept. 30th. I am quite sure a large number of the St. Paul people will come over and attend this lecture as well as the other lectures that have been outlined by our Commercial Club, to be given during the coming winter months.

Referring again to Mr. Murphy's speech, he urged upon the St. Paul people the necessity of building a thoroughfare into Newberg, to make the road the best they know how.

This, he said, would throw their products for shipment into the Southern Pacific territory, and thereby create a rivalry on the part of a competing railroad to build into St. Paul to get the business.

The matter of a good wagon road from Newberg to St. Paul is of great interest to Newberg. Newberg is the natural outlet and we should see that we get the business from that section of the country. We would rejoice with St. Paul if she succeeds in getting a railroad, but until that time comes Newberg should spare no effort to secure the business. I would suggest that our Commercial Club take this up at once and see that the matter of good roads on our part receives attention. W. S. Wharton.
