THINKING OF FURNITURE?

Furniture that has a lot to do with your comfort, and everything to do with your pride in your home. You will certainly be judged by your furniture. Buy your furniture carefully

Here is the Best Way to buy it

IN THE FIRST PLACE—You don't want furniture that will soon go to pieces, or furniture that is ugly or that looks just like your neighbor's furniture. Therefore let us show you furniture that is well made, correct in design and exclusive.

SECOND—Select from our immense stock pieces that are comfortable and handsome in themselves and that harmonize with your rooms.

THIRD—Satisfy yourself that our prices are right (if you are in doubt) by comparing them with what others ask.

We have earned the reputation of carrying more furniture of the kind that every woman is proud to own. Naturally, you would prefer to buy this furniture if the prices are no higher than you are asked for the other kind.

All we ask is a chance to help you make a comparison.

APPEAL TO FRIENDS OF DEPENDENT CHILDREN

All persons who have the welfare of dependent children at heart will have an opportunity of assisting them this Thanksgiving by sending something, however small, to the Society who aids such children and, as its name implies, this refers to both sexes.

The Boys' and Girls' Aid Society of Oregon, with its headquarters at Portland, Oregon, is an institution organized more than a quarter of a century ago, for the care and disposition of homeless, neglected and abused children, to receive and care for them, from all parts of the state, until suitable homes or employment is found for them, and to continue systematic attention to their condition and treatment until they arrive at majority. This is the noble work to which the efforts of the Boys' and Girls' Aid Society of Oregon is bent. It receives, cares for and disposes of an average of about 400 children each year. Its income is derived from state and county aid and from voluntary subscriptions, and as Thanksgiving is the harvest and the time of year when nearly all its income is derived from private sources, it is certainly hoped that all friends will come forward and do something to aid this noble work for humanity.

An extract from its last annual report shows it had children on hand at the Receiving Home on April 30, 1911, numbering sixty-four. Placed in homes and otherwise disposed of during year 457, leaving on hand at the Receiving Home April 30, 1912, 67.

These children were committed from twenty-one different counties including Baker, Benton, Clackamas, Clatsop, Columbia, Crook, Douglas, Hood River, Jackson, Josephine, Linn, Lane, Malheur, Multnomah, Polk, Tillamook, Umatilla, Union, Wasco, Yamhill and Washington.

The public schools as well as individuals will be asked to contribute. The railroad and express companies as well as the steamboat companies throughout the state will head-head all donations sent to the Boys' and Girls' Aid Society of Oregon during the Thanksgiving season if plainly marked, Boys' and Girls Aid Society of Oregon, Portland, Oregon.

Canned fruit, or canned goods of any kind, vegetables, especially potatoes, provisions, poultry and cash, in fact, anything that can be used in an ordinary household, will be received and thankfully accepted.

Would like the donor to mail a postal card to the Superintendent, care of the Boys' and Girls' Aid Society of Oregon, Portland, Oregon, saying the article has been sent, so we will be on the lookout for it.

KALAMA GETS BITULITHIC

Kalama, Washington, has recently added to the rapidly increasing list of progressive cities by making an award for bitulithic, the durable economical paving. Thorough investigation of the merits of this paving, which is the result of scientific experiment and the severest tests, resulted in corroboration of the claims of its friends as to its desirability in every way, and convinced the taxpayers of Kalama that their interests would best be served by securing bitulithic paving.

PAVING AREA

GREATLY INCREASED

"The work of laying bitulithic paving in this city is carried forward day and night, the night force working by the aid of big searchlights," says a dispatch from Albany, a progressive Oregon city which has put in 60½ blocks of paving this year, almost exactly doubling the city's entire paving area.

A STUDENT JOKE.

Conspiracy of Silence That Put the Professor in a Panic.

Professor Elias Loomis for many years occupied the chair of astronomy at Yale and was the author of the well known series of mathematical text books.

Professor Loomis repeated each year to the junior class a course of lectures on physics. The lectures were illustrated by experiments, and in one on compressed air he explained the principle of the well known air gun.

The students of each succeeding class as they entered the room for this particular lecture found on the side of the room remote from the platform a small target. After explaining the operation of the gun Professor Loomis was in the habit of landing three of its projectiles with mathematical accuracy in the center of the bullseye.

The professor was always applauded for this feat, but his grim face, covered by a tightly drawn skin of parchment hue, never showed the slightest sign of gratification or recognition of any kind. To him it was apparently only a scientific experiment to be exactly demonstrated.

One class of juniors, however, who had learned of the immemorial incident from the then seniors, attempted a little experiment of their own, the subject being mathematical and scientific human nature.

Three puffs from the air gun, and, although the students saw that the bullseye was perforated as usual, there was not a sound of applause. Professor Loomis looked a moment at the class in a startled way, then at the target, and then, with a degree of emotion he had never before shown, exclaimed:

"Didn't it hit? Didn't it hit? Didn't it hit?"

A roar of laughter, followed by even more than the usual applause, showed the professor that he had not lost his mathematical accuracy.

Causes of War.

The horrors of the Indian mutiny will still be remembered, and the cause which led to it is a matter of history. Cartridges greased with cow's fat were served out to the sepoy, who refused to use them on the ground that the cow was a sacred animal. Almost without any warning the terrible massacres followed, which were only avenged at an enormous expenditure of lives and money.

The war which deluged Austria and Prussia with blood in 1866 emanated in the former failing to answer a question asked by the latter. In the spring of that year the Austrians began to arm very speedily and powerfully, and the Prussians wanted to know the reason. To this they would give no reply, and Prussia, thinking it was an unfriendly and menacing action, brought about the gory campaign.—London Tit-Bits.

Chinese Worship of Ancestors.

The one spiritual force that dominates every class of society in China is ancestor worship. In the Chinese religion there is no other that can take its place for a moment. A man may or may not worship idols. He may express his utter skepticism about them or profess belief in them. No one cares what he thinks. Let him, however, neglect the worship of the dead and he is looked upon and pointed to with the bitterest scorn both by his own relations and by his neighbors. The worst taunt that the heathen can hurl against the Christian, and the one that stings him most, is the sneering statement that he has no ancestors.—New York Tribune.

Too Great a Loss.

Whoever knows anything about the small boy and his pride in his first pair of trousers will recognize the truth of a story the Philadelphia Ledger prints.

Tommy was at Sunday school in his first "real" clothes. A picture of a lot of little angels was before the class, and the teacher asked Tommy if he would not like to be one.

"No, ma'am," replied Tommy after inspecting the picture.

"Not want to be an angel, Tommy!" reproached the teacher. "Why not?"

"'Cause I'd have to give up my new pants," said Tommy sagely.

Simple Remedy.

A lady journalist who conducted a page devoted to feminine interests was ill, and a male member of the editorial staff did duty as her deputy. He soon distinguished himself. A correspondent inquired how grease might best be removed from soup. He read it hurriedly, noticing only that it was an inquiry for the removal of grease. This was his answer: "Soak a soft cloth in gasoline and rub gently till the grease is eradicated!"

Radical Progressiveism

May be the sentiment of many, or even the majority, of voters in matters political, but when it comes to business affairs all unite to favor the safe and conservative.
