"The Fun Makers" at Wood-Mar Hall on Wednesday night of next week.

W. S. Allan, the pioneer prune grower of the Red Hill district, and Frank Keyes, the Red Hill wheat grower, were in town this, Thursday morning.

John Kelso, aged seventy years, the father of F.W. Kelso, died on Wednesday. The funeral was conducted from the home this morning at ten o'clock.

N. L. Wiley, the Rex poultry fancier, went to McMinnville today to look in at the poultry show and see how his birds are faring at the hands of the Judge.

Mrs. Phoebe Hammer, of Lents, will be the speaker at Rex next Sunday evening, and will tell about the Five Years meeting held at Indianapolis in October.

The Evening Telegram has extended the date of giving a low clubbing rate with the Graphic to February 15. Up to that time both papers can be had for a year for $4.50.

H. R. Morris and Henry Crow, new members of the city council, are now in the harness. John Hutzen, who was elected in second ward, has not returned from his business trip to the Sound country.

In the last issue of Armour & Co's Cook Book, published at Chicago, there appears in the Oregon list of prize winners the name of Mrs. Anna Kentner, of Newberg, who gets a five dollar prize for a recipe furnished.

T. H. Thorne spent last Sunday at St. Vincent's Hospital in Portland with his son Elmer who has been having a serious time with an inflamed eye. The physician had fears for a time that he might lose the sight in that eye but considerable improvement is being shown.

One of the two schoolboys who ride into town and who have been rushing the speed limit pretty hard at times, when going out on First street, got a tall Monday evening when his horse turned the corner at Main street, which, it is hoped, will teach him a needed lesson.

Mrs. Rosabell Patterson died Wednesday morning at the home of her son, Thomas H. Patterson, who lives just outside of Newberg, to the northwest. She was born in Ireland and was ninety years of age. Mr. Patterson leaves here to-day with the remains for their former home at Walhalla, North Dakota, for interment beside her husband who was buried there.

Mrs. P. T. Desjardins, of Ottawa, Canada, who is here visiting her sister, Mrs. P. C. Kaller, was the guest of honor at a little surprise party given at the home of her niece, Mrs. Eva Birdsell, on Wednesday, the occasion being her 70th birthday. Those present were: Mrs. A. Everest, Mrs. N. Britt, Miss Jessie Britt, Mrs. P. Prosser, Miss Fay Prosser, Mrs. S. L. Otis, Mrs. E. A. Wassom, Mrs. N. S. Jones, Mrs. P. C. Kaller, Mrs. Eva Birdsell and Mrs. P. T. Desjardins. The ladies brought postcard views of Newberg. A dainty lunch was served. Mrs. Desjardins expects to return to Canada in March, after having passed one year here in Newberg.

Hear the "Laugh Makers" at Wood-Mar Hall on Wednesday night of next week.

J. F. Tolson, who has been at Segars for the past year or more, is visiting with friends at Rex.

Bert Byers is back again from a recent trip to Tillamook. He is trading his Tillamook property for property in Hillsboro and Portland.

The roads were blockaded by snow on Rural Route 2 for three days so that C. H. Christenson was unable to get through with the mail.

A meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to the College will be held at the dormitory parlors on Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. All members are urged to attend.

Mrs. Nettie Jones, in company with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Klock, left here Wednesday for Broken Bow, Nebraska, where they intend making their home.

Rev. and Mrs. Astleford, who came over for a visit with her parents, the Wileys, at Rex, are still detained there as public gatherings are called off at Scotts Mills on account of several mild cases of smallpox.

Harvey D. Crumly and family leave to-day for Lindsey, California, though it is not unlikely that they may be compelled to buck snowdrifts in the Calapooie Mountains before they get over the high points.

Harvey Wells, of the Phoenix-Hartford Insurance Co. and A. P. Lange, representing the Fidelity-Phoenix Co., both special agents, were in Newberg the first of the week on business with their local agents, the Newberg Land Co.

The Dallas High School team will contest with the home team on the floor at the High School on Friday night. The principal crop turned out by Dallas from year to year is a crack team of basketball players and a fast and furious game may be expected on this occasion.

Mrs. Millie B. Whitten preached two sermons in Rev. C. L. Hamilton's church in Portland last Sunday. After having taken a rest of several weeks she will take to the platform again as a lecturer, reader and impersonator. Mrs. Whitten is a bright little woman and a good entertainer before any cultured audience.

At the recent poultry show held in Newberg by the Yamhill County Poultry Association, awards were made to the Filberta Poultry yards as follows: S. C. Rhode Island Reds, first on cock, first, second, third and fourth on cockerels, first pen, first collection. Indian Runner Ducks, second, young drake, first, old drake, first, second and third, young duck hens. Guinea fowls, all awards, being only exhibitors.

It is told of W. E. White, the real estate man, that his ruddy countenance gave him away, when on a recent business trip to Lincoln County. As the day wore on and the "accommodation" train wormed its way around the curves and over the mountains, he got into conversation with a lady passenger. Learning she was going to Newport, he remarked that he believed the wet and dry forces had a contest on down there recently, and put a number of queries to the lady as to the outcome. At this she expressed some surprise, asking why he was so interested and if he was a Prohi. Of course he was quick to answer that he was, when his fair lady friend came back with the flat assertion that he didn't "look it." But doubtless it was the animated conversation that gave the color to his countenance.

Rodney Herrick, son-in-law of W. D. Honens, was up from Portland last Sunday.

Henry Brubaker was here on business from Ridgefield, Washington, the first of the week.

The Litchfield Trio will fill the fourth number of the lyceum course on Wednesday night of next week.

Despite the inclemency of the weather Friday evening, about fifty young ladies of the Friends church took their fancy work and spent a pleasant evening with Mrs. Charles O. Whitely at her invitation.

On last Saturday while the snow was on the ground Rex Brouillette, Hobart Littlefield and Mont Riley went forth with their guns on a hunt for jack rabbits and returned with fourteen of the long eared animals.

Nathan Cook, who has been working for the Oregon Electric south of Albany, is laid off for a couple of weeks and is at home on a visit. He seems to have a good stand-in with the company and will go to work again soon.

J. C. Morris, who lives on Dayton Avenue, thinks the Parcel Post is all right, since it brought him a ten pound salmon a few days ago from his son, who is connected with the lighthouse station at Dungeness, Washington. It arrived in perfect condition, thanks to the prompt service of Uncle Sam.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Brockwell and little daughter are visiting with Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Hall at their home north of Newberg. Mrs. Brockwell and Mrs. Hall are sisters. A. Brockwell the father of Albert Brockwell, is also here looking for a location. They are from Eau Claire, Wisconsin.

Mr. Allen, who established the Bijou moving picture theatre in Newberg, was in town Wednesday. He is now living on a farm six miles out from Woodland, Washington, which he owns. He said they had some snow in his neighborhood when he came out. In his field where it was not drifted he said it reached his shoulders, and in coming out on horseback he encountered a space of some three hundred feet where it was almost as high as the horse's backs. He had the advantage of a down grade, else the horses could not have made it.

Last Tuesday morning, while Rev. E. Harrington was busy making pastoral calls, the Free Methodist parsonage was invaded and taken possession of by some of the flock, who had somehow found out that it was the pastor's birthday. A bountiful repast was spread and partaken of. Those present were: Rev. and Mrs. E. I. Harrington, A. H. and Mrs. Benton, C. H. and Mrs. Stoll, J. J. and Mrs. Sutton, Rev. W. J. Bowerman, of Sunnyside; Mrs. Florence Monette, of Dundee; Mrs. N. Welter, Henry Benton, and the Misses Nancy Benton, and Alice and Viva Sutton. After dinner the company adjourned to the church and enjoyed the afternoon prayer meeting.

The heavy, wet snow which fell on last Friday night loaded the wires down and put some 300 telephones out of commission. The electric light wires also suffered to some extent, though not so seriously. Newberg was not without lights at any time, but the lines carrying currents to Dayton, La Fayette and Sherwood went down, causing considerable inconvenience to the residents of those towns. Owing to the telephone lines being out, much more time was required in repairing the light wires. All the old and weak telephone poles went down and a full force of men has been kept busy making repairs. The temperature has been mild and the snow is now pretty well gone in the valley. On the mountain it reached a depth of 24 to 36 inches, and much of it still remains.

If you have a grouch go and hear the Litchfield Trio on Wednesday night of next week. Their laugh-making is a sure cure for the blues.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ego, who came down from their Chehalem Mountain home to hear the Jubilee Singers, said the snow was two feet deep at their place.

At the home of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Bilyeu, in Portland, on last Monday evening, occurred the marriage of Miss Cora Perkins and John W. Curry, the officiating minister being Elder M. St. John. Harry Perkins, the brother of the bride, acted as best man and Mrs. Reese Taylor was bridesmaid. The bride was beautifully gowned in white satin and lace and carried a nun's bouquet of white carnations. The bridesmaid wore a gown of pale blue silk. More than fifty guests were in attendance and a number of very beautiful presents were given. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Perkins, well-known residents whose home is near Newberg. The newly-weds will make their home in Portland.

N. F. Byers, of the Newberg Land Co., has been laid up at home for several days, but is improving.

The Williams Jubilee Singers were given hearty applause Monday night by a large and appreciative audience. The two-hour program was different from any heretofore given here by these popular entertainers, and by far the best they have ever given before a Newberg audience.

Card of Thanks

GET BETTER EGGS AND MORE OF THEM

Poultry-keeping is a business that any honest young man or woman may conduct without losing their self-respect," said Prof. James Dryden in a short course lecture at the Oregon Agricultural College.

"The first lesson to learn is to get rid of the moral cowardice which troubles many in this connection," he continued. "The hog raiser and the wheat grower will not look at a chicken, but there are no real grounds for such an attitude. The poultry products of the United States were estimated at $750,000,000 for 1911.

"A special location, special soil, climate, market conditions and a special man are necessary to a big success in specialized poultry-keeping. But I do not mean to tell the farmer that the poultry business is for the specialist. On the contrary, it is a question whether specialized poultry farming is best anyway.

"I believe it is far better for the individual farmer to have his flock of hens to raise along with his other farm crops. In Oregon the general number is about 50 hens. They could be increased to 100 with very little additional labor. It is the best and quickest way to increase the poultry products of the state. The main poultry producing section of the country is the middle west where the system of mixed farming is used.

"The poultry specialists follow different systems, some having small intensive farms of but an acre or so, and others having the free range colony system on large acreage, as near Petaluma, Cal. Probably the best number of hens is 50 to the acre. A great many more can be kept on an acre successfully for a few years, but not for long. The ground will become infested with disease and vermin unless it is cropped. The growing of garden crops on the ground alternate years will obviate that difficulty. The yards must be kept pure and clean.

"On some soils one can keep more hens than on others. On heavy clay not so many can be kept as on light soils. Buy cheap land to go into the poultry business. It is not necessary to have high priced land. Much of the poultry range of Rhode Island is rocky and not much good for other agricultural purposes. Light, porous soil is best, but not sand, or soil that nothing will grow on, for one must have feed crops to make the business pay.

"Here at the college we have 200 hens on one acre, rotating crops with the chickens. Last summer we had a heavy crop of oats, although when we began to keep chickens there nothing would grow, because the land had been cropped out. Near Petaluma a man is keeping 1,000 hens on three acres of light, rather sandy soil. Near Los Angeles a man cleared $1,500 with 500 hens on two acres in a year.

"I visited a Petaluma farm of 120 acres where two men and a fourteen year old boy took entire care of 6,000 hens and 10 cows—the hens paying for the cows, which gave the milk for the hens. It took the boy, on horseback, just half an hour to feed the 6,000 hens.

"The proportion of feed, 75 to 100 pounds a year for each hen, is shown in this carload order; 40 sacks each of wheat, corn, barley and middlings, 50 of bran, 7 of charcoal, mixed with milk and meat scraps (200 pounds of meat)."

What we are trying to do is to get the people to save a little money.

Few people realize what it means to be systematic and lay up regularly a small amount of money on an interest bearing account.

This bank has had a Savings Department in connection with the National bank for several years.

It has only been since July of last year have we made an active campaign for Savings Accounts, with the gratifying results as shown above.

We have only just made a start, for we believe in the Savings Accounts.

We realize more fully than possibly you, the great advantage to the individual, to have some money laid aside.

A Savings Account is not intended merely for the children, and young persons of the household, it is good for everybody in small and large sums.

If you are using your intellect as well as your hands, you will place your money where it will earn you something in the way of interest.

We receive Savings Accounts from $1 up, and your money begins to draw you interest.

You are permitted to draw out your money at stated times and receive interest at 4 per cent.

If you should need your money we permit you to withdraw your funds at any time, you only loose the interest if not remaining in the bank the required time.

We invite you to call at our bank and receive a Savings Book and Bank as well if you wish one.
