

ABOUT THAT BABY OF YOURS

We know you're interested in the baby's comfort—so are we—that's why we're handling the Wagner Quick Folding Go-Cart. It's roomy and comfortable for the baby—in fact has more room than the old style baby carriage. Has large flexible coil springs under the padded seat—REAL SPRINGS that take up all the jar and vibration and the baby gets the full benefit of them whether sitting up or lying down. Is light in weight and can be carried anywhere. It opens or closes automatically with one movement of the handle, and the seat is so placed that it can't tip backward. The large wheels make easy riding for the baby, easy wheeling for the mother. A brake on rear wheel prevents accidents.

CULINARY HINTS

If bread is rubbed with butter before putting it in the oven the crust will be more soft and flaky.

Never throw away good sweet pickle vinegar. Heat it up and keep it to use in mincemeat.

In making brown gravy, try using coffee to stir the thickening with, instead of milk or water. It makes a richer and a better looking gravy.

Have some clean broom straws in a bottle handy to test cake or bread when baking. This will save considerable time.—M. J. L. in Farm and Home.

PERILS OF THE CIRCUS.

The Dread of Falling Is Ever Haunting the Performers.

Day after day the circus woman dons her tinsel, slips on the heavy wooden "slop shoes" over her satin pumps, and so, with perhaps a "By-by, girls," and a nod to the wardrobe mistress, she shuffles out from the dressing tent to the ring, blows a kiss to the audience at large and takes her life in her hands.

She does not think of this fact consciously, as a rule, but subconsciously the knowledge is with each one that some day perhaps she will be like the little girl who once was hustled out of a circus ring so fast that the audience hardly noticed, and then a gaudy kimono was thrown over her face, and instead of her slop shoes returning when the whistle blew, men's feet tramped, and the circus doctor found no work for him when he got there. Get to know these women and you find that under all their easy light-heartedness, their gypsy spirit, is a sort of smoldering dread like that of the people who live in earthquake countries.

You see it, for instance, in the keen way they take up the subject of accidents.

"The worst I ever fell was once when the net broke," said a trapeze performer.

"I'd just as soon have it break as to fall had in it," put in another. "Remember that time I bit my lip? Felt like my chin was knocked right up through the top of my head. My lower teeth cut my upper lip till it had to be sewed up clear across."

I learned then that the art of falling in the net is as difficult as any part of the performance, for so great is its elasticity that if a performer "falls bad," say in a standing position, the knees may be shot straight up to the chin and a knock-out blow may result. To learn to come into the net prostrate, as in a hammock, is no small trick.—Sarah Comstock in Collier's Weekly.

Origin of the Heel.

It is said that the heels now worn on shoes had their origin in Persia, where they took the form of flat wood on sandals to raise the feet and protect them from the hot sand. It was many years afterward that this fashion was introduced into Venice, but the reason for its adoption in this case is said to have been quite different. Here the originators of the fashion were jealous husbands who reasoned that their ladies thus equipped would not venture far outside the precincts of their dwelling. These heels were called "clogs," and in order to satisfy the vanity of the wearers and perhaps to sweeten the pill—that is, the discomfort of appearing in them—they were elaborately adorned, sometimes being incrustated with gold and silver. The height of the clogs determined the rank of the wearer.—Harper's.

United States National Bank of Newberg

This bank has just closed its 23rd year in Newberg, and the business for the past year has been the largest in the history of the institution. The officers wish to thank their friends and patrons for the support that has made this showing possible, and in return will endeavor to extend to all, such treatment as will make their transactions with the bank both pleasant and profitable. At the recent Stockholders' meeting, the old board of directors was re-elected and all the officers and employees were retained in their former positions. This bank has made a steady growth since it first opened for business in 1890, but since it was nationalized in 1909, the growth has been more rapid and the resources have increased during this time over $185,000, or more than 70 per cent. On July 29th, last, the bank opened a modern Savings Department and that this department is appreciated is evidenced by the following comparative statement:

July	29th, 1912, Savings Deposits	- $ 1.00
August	29th, 1912, Savings Deposits	- $ 1,335.62
September	29th, 1912, Savings Deposits	- $ 2,929.27
October	29th, 1912, Savings Deposits	- $11,337.99
November	29th, 1912, Savings Deposits	- $18,211.77
December	29th, 1912, Savings Deposits	- $29,459.13
January	29th, 1913, Savings Deposits	- $38,224.19

We respectfully solicit accounts of firms and individuals and will extend every courtesy consistent with safe and conservative banking.

ENGLISH CABINET DROPS SUFFRAGE

Outbreak Follows and Suffrage Leaders are Arrested for Advocating Violence

London.—England is on the brink of another campaign by the suffragettes in comparison to which former outbreaks of the militant women will appear insignificant. Two thousand policemen were required to disperse huge crowds near the parliament buildings, while shopkeepers boarded up windows and excited women were making incendiary speeches.

The women believe that the politicians have played a carefully-studied trick upon them and the decision of the government to drop the franchise bill is likely to lead to serious consequences.

The suffragettes held heated meetings when the government's decision was announced. Mrs. Emmaline Pankhurst and other leaders denounced the enemies and supporters of suffrage in the cabinet for their treachery. They declare an end of the truce, which the women had observed while awaiting parliament's action on the bill.

"Deeds, not words," was the motto displayed above the platform where Mrs. Pankhurst spoke. She asserted that the women would consider human life sacred, but would do as much damage to property as possible.

Several women were arrested, some of whom declined to give their names. One, believed to be Miss Sylvia Pankhurst, was captured in St. Stephen's Hall, leading to the house of commons, where she was making a determined attack on a large painting.
