The Star theater was crowded on last Saturday afternoon when Prof. Dryden, of O. A. C. gave his interesting and instructive stereopticon lecture on poultry raising.

Curtis W. Parker writes from Morgan, Morrow county, that a good snow fell there last week and the ranchers and jack rabbits are all in high glee over the fine crop prospects as a result of the increased moisture from the melting snow.

The Snow Fairies, the Flower Fairies and the Brownies will all be at Duncan's hall Friday evening to meet the "Fairy Godmother." This charming little cantata is given by the school to pay for framing a number of excellent pictures secured some time ago.

A growing interest is being manifested in the series of Sunday night sermons on Old Testament characters, given by President Levi T. Pennington at the Friends church. The last of the series will be given Sunday night, to which the public is welcome.

J. Carl Nelson made a visit to O. A. C. at Corvallis a few days ago to get pointers on fruit tree pruning and was so well pleased with the instructions given that he has laid off his coat and, armed with the necessary tools, has invaded his prune orchard with the avowed purpose of seeing that the surplus branches shall be amputated according to the very latest scientific methods. He will do the amputating himself.

Frank C. Mills, Jr., who went on a visit to Whittier, California, a short time ago, is home again. He says the reports of damage done to citrus fruits in Southern California by the severe cold weather there have not been over estimated. A firm he worked for a few years ago said to him they thought their losses would be at least $1,000,000.

Senator Hoskins made a short visit home last Sunday.

L. F. Hall made a business trip to Wilsonville last Monday.

A. H. Benton left on Monday for the Bend country to look over the situation with a view of locating, should it suit all parties interested.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Moore have sold the lot they owned on Fifth street to Rev. George F. Round and are anticipating changing location soon.

Postmaster C. B. Wilson went to Salem Wednesday to look in on the solons at the capitol building. Not as a member of the "third house," however.

County Assessor Martin Miller and Mr. Hefty, the surveyor, were down from McMinnville Tuesday working up a map of Newberg to be used in the assessor's office. They said they had been having difficulty in locating property that was described by metes and bounds.

The Civic Improvement Club will meet in Commercial Club parlors Friday afternoon, Feb. 7, at 2:30. Each member is urged to come and bring some lady with you as the president has something good to present for your consideration. Marie K. Evans, Sec'y.

The revival services at the Free Methodist church continue in interest. Prayer meetings are held each afternoon at the church at 2:30. Bishop Wm. Pearce, of Titusville, Pa., will arrive on Friday of this week to assist for ten days. The public are cordially welcomed at any of the services.

An Evangelistic Conference will be held in connection with the regular Quarterly Meeting of Friends church on Friday night, February 7, at 7:30. The following subjects will be presented: "A Twelve Months' Revival," by Rev. C. O. Whitely; "Bible School Evangelism," President Pennington; "Heeding the Call," by Rev. Homer Cox, of Portland. A cordial invitation is extended to Christian workers of all denominations.

The local W. C. T. U. will hold a "Mothers' Day" rally on Thursday, February 6, at 2:30 p. m., at the home of Mrs. J. C. Hodson, in honor of Madam Willard, mother of Frances E. Willard. An unusually fine program is being prepared for the occasion. Mrs. C. O. Whitely, Mrs. Levi T. Pennington, Mrs. Joseph Hollingsworth, Miss Ethel Morris, Mrs. Berta Terrell and others will take part in the exercises. Mrs. S. W. Parrish returned home from Heppner last week where she spent a month visiting at the home of her father, C. W. Lawson. She says crops were good in that section last season and farmers are in correspondingly good spirits.

W. S. Hulin and wife from Chewetah, Washington, visited Tuesday and Wednesday with his cousin C. S. Hulin. This is the first time they have met since July, 1877, and of course they had a pleasant visit, hoping to meet more often in the future.

Beginning with the first of March, the Newberg postoffice is to have an additional clerk and Fred Hutchens being on the available list, will probably get the place. Postmaster Wilson is scratching his head now and trying to figure out a schedule to meet the demands of the new law which forbids clerks working more than eight hours a day.

Last Sunday's Oregonian contained a picture of a group of American missionary workers stationed at Sungkiang, China, where they are studying the Chinese language preparatory to entering on the work. Among the number is J. C. Clark, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Clark, who got his early education in Newberg. He is preparing for Y. M. C. A. work at Shanghai.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Ralston, who live at Fossil, were here over Sunday visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Lynn B. Ferguson. Mr. Ralston, who is a brother to Mrs. Ferguson was a student in the academy here when a youngster and delights in talking of the old times. He and Dr. Harlon Ong, of Portland, were school-mate chums.

M. M. Edwards has been confined to his bed at his home in Duudee for nearly two months. In the Fall of 1880, Mr. Edwards arrived at Dayton, where he had a brother-in-law, after making the overland trip from Iowa with his family by wagon. He has since been a resident of Yamhill county, with the exception of a few years spent at Sand Lake in Tillamook county.

Rev. Charles E. Tebbetts, general secretary of the American Friends Board of Foreign Missions, whose home is at Richmond, Indiana, is expected with Mrs. Tebbetts to attend the coming Quarterly Meeting of Friends here. Rev. Tebbetts is a speaker of wide reputation, thoroughly alive to all national movements of religious progress, especially along missionary lines. Further announcements will be made regarding his addresses next week.

J. C. Keller has sold his place out southeast of Newberg to a Minnesota man named C. Jensen, who has not yet arrived here. Mr. Keller expects to move to Portland about the first of March and contemplates buying and operating an auto truck for heavy work. But he always comes back.

The Graphic was recently told of two farmers who live within easy hauling distance of Newberg who burned their straw that was nice and bright, immediately after thrashing in the Fall. It would have cost $2 a ton to bale the straw, but it would find an easy market now at $6 a ton at least. Certainly these men have not made much of a study of the conservation policy.

A meeting of the Wednesday Club was held at the beautiful home of Mrs. E. C. Baird, corner of College and Franklin streets, on Wednesday afternoon, this being the date fixed by the federated clubs for raising funds for assisting worthy young women in getting an education. The attendance was large, there being about one hundred ladies present, and when the silver offerings were counted the total amounted to $40.

J. C. McCrea dropped into the Graphic office Wednesday to exhibit one of the old three-cent paper bills issued during the Civil War and designated by the treasury department as "fractional currency," but known by the common herd as "shin plaster." It was issued in denominations of three, five, ten, twenty-five and fifty cents, and made up the small change of that period, as all the hard money had gone the stocking-leg route. The writer remembers very well how his vest pockets were swelled with "shin plasters" of the smaller denominations on returning home from town where a wagon load of watermelons had been retailed, and how rich he felt. Later on, one of the burning political questions of the day was the "resumption of specie payments" by the national government, a proposition which puzzled the brains of the big men, but Secretary Sherman made bold to assert that the way to "resume" was to "re-sume," and the day was finally set for the government to begin to pay its obligations in hard money. When the date arrived and the people found they could get gold or silver if they wanted it, few seemed to care anything about it, and the question was solved.

Wesley Boyes, the stock dealer who lives on the road to the ferry, says he finds the Hubbard squash so profitable for feeding to hogs that he saved seed last season for planting ten acres the coming season. He plows the ground early and later on plows and works it over and over again so thoroughly that his neighbors say he wears the soil out before planting time, but the cultivation is so thorough that the moisture is held in the ground and little cultivation is required after the crop is planted. He says he can easily grow fifteen tons of squashes to the acre and the crop is worth a great deal more for fattening purposes than the best crop of corn that can be grown on the same ground. Hubbard squashes are rich and he says his hogs will leave corn or grain to eat them.

The local High School team suffered defeat at the hands of the huskies from Dallas on last Friday evening, the score being 17 to 27. The boys were somewhat handicapped on account of some members of the regular team being knocked out and unable to play, and the rooters lost heart and failed to respond as soon as the visitors took the lead, which had a depressing effect.

The attendance for the fourth number of the lyceum course was very good, but a disappointment came in the announcement made from the platform by President Pennington to the effect that a letter had been received from the lyceum bureau stating that Mr. Litchfield, of the Neil Litchfield Trio, announced for this number, had died a few days ago in a Pennsylvania hospital, and that the Wright-Hall Marquette Players were to take the place of the Litchfields. The program was well rendered, but much of it was not of a character the local committee would have selected, had there been time and opportunity to consider the vacancy made by death.

Miss Regina Hutchens is in Portland with the Portland wholesale houses acquainting herself with the new creations in ladies' head adornment for the Springtime of 1913. Yes, creation is the right word.

Mrs. Helena M. Fitzsimons, the wife of Alex. Fitzsimons, who has been lingering with tubercular trouble for many weeks, died Tuesday. Besides a husband she left three children. Funeral services were conducted Wednesday by the pastor of the Presbyterian church.
