

ABOUT THAT BABY OF YOURS

We know you're interested in the baby's comfort—so are we—that's why we're handling the Wagner Quick Folding Go-Cart. It's roomy and comfortable for the baby—in fact has more room than the old style baby carriage. Has large flexible coil springs under the padded seat—REAL SPRINGS that take up all the jar and vibration and the baby gets the full benefit of them whether sitting up or lying down. Is light in weight and can be carried anywhere. It opens or closes automatically with one movement of the handle, and the seat is so placed that it can't tip backward. The large wheels make easy riding for the baby, easy wheeling for the mother. A brake on rear wheel prevents accidents.

QUICK FOLDING GO-CART

No other go-cart has the attractive appearance of the Wagner. Beautifully finished in every detail—built on graceful lines. Has highly polished nickle and enameled parts. Upholstered in the very best grade of leatherette. Won't it be lots of satisfaction to know that your baby has the best go-cart that money can buy?

We have on our floor a full line of the new models. They are certainly beauties. Just drop in and see them. You won't be obliged to buy—we will leave it to your own judgment.

HE NEVER CAME BACK

One morning this week a gentleman was down from Newberg and called on the News-Sheet. Among other things he asked the question: "When is Sherwood going dry?" He was told that the time was problematical, with a possibility that the time would never come till the people of the state or the United States voted "dry" as a whole. He then informed his listener how Newberg was growing and stated that Sherwood would take on a like growth if only the saloons were ever voted out. He knew, he said, of several good, influential business men who liked Sherwood as a business center—much better than Newberg—and who would locate here, but oh, those saloons! The horrible things! This perhaps, in a measure, is true, but coming from the man it did has little weight, for he went from here to the saloon and became so thoroughly "tanked" up on the nasty stuff till he made himself a nuisance to all with whom he came in contact, and finally was ordered out of the News-Sheet office with the promise that if he came back he would be taken in by the town marshal. He never came back, which was very gratifying to the whole office force. This is not aimed to cast any reflection on the good people of Newberg, for it is presumed they are sorry for this class of citizens, but all towns have them and are compelled to put up with their filthiness as long as the liquor traffic is allowed to exist.—News-Sheet.

CHEHALEM CENTER

The W. C. T. U. meets with Mrs. A. V. Hendrickson Wednesday, February 12. Mrs. K. L. Tangen will give a program on Franchisement.

In the lawsuit of Mr. Butler vs. Mr. Sherwood, of Portland, Mr. Sherwood won out.

There will be a meeting of the farmers of Chehalem Center at the schoolhouse Saturday, February 16, 7:30 p. m. By order of the chairman. Everybody come.

Remember the gold medal contest at the Chehalem Center church Friday evening, February 7, 8:00 p. m. The music will be furnished during the evening by the college quartet.

The literary club met last Friday evening, Sylvan Strait, president, Miss Myrtle Walton, secretary. Quite a good program was carried out. Among the numbers was a reading by James Hess impersonating the young man that proposed to his girl "Sal," which was very laughable. The next meeting will be on the 21st of February.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bross, of Portland, visited the home folks at Shady Nook last Sunday. Mrs. S. W. Newhouse and Mr. and Mrs. John Fort attended the trial of Butler against Sherwood in Portland Friday.

The young people of Chehalem Center will give a gold medal contest at the Christian church Saturday evening, February 8, at eight o'clock. No admission charged but there will be a collection taken for the work.

IN MEMORY OF GRANDPA KEYES

No more will he sit by the old oak fire,
And watch the embers glow,
For we have layed our grandpa to rest,
Under the cold, cold snow.

The old armchair with its creaky legs,
Now stands so solemn and still,
For our grandpa has gone to that great Beyond.

Which is the dear Lord's will.
There on the table yonder,
Lay the glasses he's used for years,
But we can scarcely see them,
For our eyes are filled with tears.

The silent clock on the mantle shelf,
Looks down upon us now,
And seems to almost see
The shadows on our brow.

The watch-dog just outside the door,
Sits waiting for the one he knows best,
And does not seem to realize,
That we have laid our grandpa to rest.

The bare old maples sigh plaintively,
For he has shielded them from all harm,
And has always looked upon them
kindly,
For beautifying his farm.

Like a sturdy oak he stood among us,
Always staunch and true,
How much we depended on his advice
and counsel,
I'm sure he never knew.

Yes, we shall miss you, dear grandpa,
Perhaps more as the years go on,
Yet only a little while,
And we shall meet in the great Beyond.

Under the cold white snow,
We laid our grandpa away,
And not even the beautiful flowers,
Can hide our grief to-day.

OUT OF THE GINGER JAR

Most rat holes will bear looking into.

Isn't the lover who braves the storm a rain-bean?

Many a man is in great fear that he will get all that is coming to him.

We notice that most people who are consumed by curiosity still survive.

If our mistakes teach us nothing it were hardly worth while to make them.

Stranger: "Can you direct me to a bank?" Villager: "Sorry, sir, but I'm not a bank director."

He was an ambitious youth, the simple life was not for him. He was determined to go upon the stage. His persistence won the day. He now drives the stage between Upham's Corners and Newton Center.
