The play "The New Minister" which was given at the Presbyterian church recently with such marked success will be given at the West Chehalem church on next Monday night. Proceeds to go for furnishing the kitchen.

C. F. Moore left here for the Sound Tuesday afternoon where he will visit with a sister and a brother. When he starts for his home at Whittier, California, he will take passage on a steamer at Seattle.

Wednesday was the birthday anniversary of both Vin Vincent and C. H. Christenson and in the evening Vin's mother put up a big feed for them, to which Rev. and Mrs. A. T. Norwood were also invited.

Eli Haworth is here from Boyd, Wasco county, visiting with his brother-in-law, Prof. A. C. Stanbrough. Although he produced a crop of 900 sacks of potatoes last year which was unable to find a market for, he says he is planting a crop of forty acres this season.

The play "Hicks at College" will be given by the junior class of the High School at Duncan's hall Saturday night, June 7, at 8 o'clock. Admission 25c.

Miss Myrtle McDonald returned home from Spokane, Washington, the last of the week where she spent the season as trimmer in a milliner store.

Carl Illig was out from Portland the first of the week for a short visit at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Illig.

Archie Richard received four head of Poland China hogs from George C. Widmer, of Eugene, the first of the week. They bore the marks of well bred animals.

W. A. Chalmers and family from Forest Grove were in Newberg over Sunday visiting with Mrs. Chalmers' brothers, Dr. F. H. and A. E. Wilson. Mr. Chalmers has a garage in the Grove.

Bert Byers and little son are out from Tillamook on a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Byers. He says Tillamook is expecting a big crowd of campers during the summer.

J. C. Gregory is getting along well in repairing his burned building. The roof is being raised and other changes made which will make of it a better looking building when completed than it was before the fire.

J. D. Gordon has traded for the Fred Werth home on Wynoski street. In the deal Mr. Werth becomes the owner of the little cottage located on the corner of Meridian and Third streets, built several years ago by J. B. Mount.

The regular monthly business meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held next Wednesday, June 11, at 2:30 p.m., at the home of the president, Mrs. Eva Moore, on Second street just south of Baird's store. An invitation to all is extended.

Benjamin Heater, now ninety-two years old and one of the few remaining early pioneers of this section, is in quite feeble health at his home on the old farm near Springbrook. Mrs. Heater though not quite so far advanced in years is also failing.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Harris from Brooks, and Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Lemon, from Eagle Lake, Minnesota, were guests at Shady Nook, the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Newhouse last week. Mrs. J. A. Pike from Gates was also a week-end visitor at Shady Nook.

The Civic Improvement Club will meet tomorrow afternoon, June 6, at 3 o'clock, in the Commercial Club parlors. All ladies are asked to be present, especially the different committees for Rose day, June 18. By order of President, Verona H. Nelson; Marie K. Evans, Secretary.

Industry has its sure reward. On last Saturday morning the writer, when a passenger on the early train for Portland, gave a little lift to Springbrook strawberry shippers who were tossing some two hundred crates of berries into the express car, and in the evening a box of excellent berries were found on the Graphic desk, bearing the name of L. W. Nordyke. They certainly pay good wages out at Springbrook.

Mr. Gage, the father of Mrs. C. R. Duer, who is here from Cleveland, Ohio, on his annual visit is a great baseball fan. He says he attended the first league games played in Chicago forty years ago and has been a regular attendee at the ball parks ever since. In speaking of Veau Gregg, the former Beaver pitcher who has been with Cleveland since leaving Portland, he says Gregg still has the faculty of pulling himself out of a hole at opportune moments, the same as of old.

County Recorder Maloney received and recorded the first government patent to land in Yamhill county which bore the signature of President Woodrow Wilson, last Wednesday. It was for a small tract of school land lying in the Grand Ronde reservation. It was necessary to send back to the commissioner of the general land office for a plat, before it could be determined where the land was located. At the same time this patent was received another was recorded which was issued by President Buchanan in 1859 covering land deeded to J. W. Ladd, which had never been on record in this county.—Telephone-Register.

There is deep sorrow in the home of Mrs. Mary Johnson, of the Chehalem Center neighborhood, occasioned by the untimely death of her son Chancellor, a bright boy of fifteen years. Two weeks ago one of his hands was penetrated by a nail. The wound healed from the outside but a few days ago it began to give him trouble and as the pain increased lock-jaw set in, resulting in death at an early hour on Tuesday morning. Funeral services were conducted at the Chehalem Center church on Wednesday at 10 o'clock by Rev. Walter Wilson, the pastor, and burial was made by the side of his father in the G. A. R. cemetery in Newberg. The widowed mother and the brothers and sister who are left have the sympathy of the entire community in their sore bereavement.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to express our heart felt thanks to all who gave assistance and sympathy in our recent bereavement, also for the many beautiful flowers.

PATRIOTIC PROGRAM AT HIGH SCHOOL

Last Thursday afternoon, in accordance with a custom that is becoming more and more general among the public schools of the country, a short patriotic program was given at the High School. In response to the invitation of Superintendent Stanbrough, members of the local G. A. R. and W. R. C. were present.

The program opened with the singing of "The Soldiers Chorus" from Faust by the whole school. Mr. Hayes, chaplain of the post, and Mr. Linville gave short talks, reminiscent of the Civil War, in which they spoke of all the flag stood for and especially what it meant to those who had fought for it.

A number of songs were given by the Glee Club and the program closed with America sung by the school.

LOW CAR FARES IN CLEVELAND

When the late Tom L. Johnson four or five years ago was in the thick of his three-cent fare fight for Cleveland he was assailed all over the country as a demagogue and disturber. A year before his death he was defeated for re-election as mayor of that city largely because of his activity in behalf of better and cheaper street car service. Now behold the result! Three-cent fares have not only been established in Cleveland, but the company now has to arbitrate the question of why it should not reduce them to three-cent cash fares and two tickets for five cents. Cleveland is a city of about 600,000 and the saving to the people has already reached millions of dollars because of the fight "Mayor Tom" made. He sacrificed his fortune and his life in his pioneer battle for the public welfare, but it was not in vain. The Cleveland experience shows what may be done in other American cities when the people sufficiently are stirred to insist upon common justice from traction companies. For fifteen years the city of Toronto, in many respects the most progressive of Canadian municipalities, has been teaching us a lesson in how to regulate street railroads. While five-cent cash fares still are paid there, tickets are sold at the rate of eight for twenty-five cents during the rush hours morning and evening and six for twenty-five cents at all other times of the day and night. School children, including high school pupils, ride at the rate of ten tickets for twenty-five cents. And, what must amaze the average American, not yet awake to his rights, is the fact that Toronto receives a revenue of about half a million dollars a year from the company that is compelled to make these cheap fares to the people. In spite of this the stockholders of the company get liberal dividends.—The Knickerbocker Press Albany, N. Y.

name becomes thoroughly identified with the particular quality of the article. Besides this, the neatness of the label and package has a commercial value that far more than reimburses the farmer for the extra cost of the printing. How would a dealer dispose of a case of creamery butter if it came to him in plain wrappers? It is not unlikely that the loss from the sales of a single case because of the unprinted wrappers, would pay for the printing of a thousand wrappers.

Probably the greatest benefit to be derived from the proper branding is the fact that the quality of the butter will improve, hence the consumer will be willing to pay a better price. When the maker's name follows the butter to the consumer, greater precautions will be taken to see that the quality is good. For instance, eggs that are stamped and "guaranteed or money refunded" are very seldom found bad; while it is unnecessary to state that if the guarantee or name of the farmer is not required, the same care will not be exercised in marketing a good fresh egg.

SHOWS DEFECTS IN FARM BUTTER MAKING

Four main defects in farm butter as compared with creamery butter are pointed out by O. G. Simpson of the dairy school at the Oregon Agricultural College.

He says: "The main defects in farm butter, as compared with creamery butter, are bad flavor, staleness or rancidity, too many shades of color, and unsuitable packages. The flavor is of the highest importance, and no matter how good the butter is in other respects, if the flavor is wrong it is classed as an inferior article.

"No matter how skillful the butter maker is, it is impossible for him to make a strictly first class butter out of poorly flavored or tainted cream. Cream may become tainted from four causes: bacterial infection, absorption of flavors, food eaten, or disease in the cow. The bacterial infection may come of unclean cows and stables, unclean condition of milkers, unclean utensils, or keeping the cream in unclean surroundings, especially in a temperature above 60 degrees.

"Absorption of flavors takes place with remarkable rapidity when milk or cream is allowed to stand in an atmosphere where odors are present, especially when the milk is warm. Foods that have strong tastes and odors, such as onions, decayed silage, old stalky kale, or turnip tops should not be fed within a few hours of milking. Experiments have shown that milk will not possess the flavors of such foods if not drawn for eight or twelve hours after feeding. Cows that are abnormally heated or excited before milking give a tainted milk. Many diseases also affect the cow's milk."
