As the Waiter Says It.

The waiter who bawls out his order to the cook in the kitchen may soon be as extinct as the dodo; but his cries should live forever.

"Mutton broth in a hurry," says a customer. "Baa-Baa in the rain! Make him run!" shouts the waiter.

"Beefsteak and onions," says a customer. "John Bull! Make him a ginny!" shouts the waiter.

"Where's my baked potato?" asks a customer. "Mrs. Murphy in a sealskin coat!" shouts the waiter.

"Two fried eggs. Don't fry 'em too hard," says a customer. "Adam and Eve in the garden! Leave their eyes open!" shouts the waiter.

"Poached eggs on toast," says a customer. "Bride and groom on a raft in the middle of the ocean!" shouts the waiter.

"Chicken croquettes," says a customer. "Fowl Bawl!" shouts the waiter.

"Hash," says a customer. "Gentleman wants to take a chance!" shouts the waiter. "I'll have hash, too," says the next customer. "Another sport!" shouts the waiter.

"Glass of milk," says a customer. "Let it rain!" shouts the waiter.

"Frankfurters and sauerkraut, good and hot," says a customer. "Fido, Shep and a bale of hay!" shouts the waiter, "and let 'em sizzle."

GASOLINE'S EARLY USE.

Ravel First Applied It as a Motive Power in 1868.

The first attempt to apply gasoline as a motive power was made by a Frenchman, Pierre Joseph Ravel, who patented in the year 1868 "a steam generator heated by mineral oils, to be applied to steam locomotion on ordinary roads." Ravel's engine was fitted to a small carriage and developed three horsepower.

The Franco-German war put an end to Ravel's experiments for a time, but years later he built a motorcar in which petroleum was used for the direct generation of motive power. In 1876 Lentz invented a burner by which a mixture of gasoline and other naphthas, called massout, was used as fuel on steamships. About the same time gasoline was used as an illuminant in street lamps, and later a new use was found for it in the manufacture of varnish and oilcloth.

Gasoline, amounting to 8 per cent of the distilled product of the crude petroleum, continued to be a drug on the market until the invention of the gasoline motor and its application to the automobile, boats, aeroplanes and hundreds of industrial uses. Several inventors helped to inaugurate the "age of gasoline," but the chief of them was George B. Selden of Rochester, N. Y., the father of the automobile. Milwaukee Sentinel.

The Too Faithful Dog.

A party of young Australians wanting a fish dinner filled a bottle with dynamite, attached a waterproof fuse and flung it into a pool in a creek. One of them had a retriever who had been taught to retrieve anything flung into the water, and the bottle had hardly touched the surface before Watch was after it. They yelled at him to leave it alone, but he paid no attention and soon was swimming shoreward with the fizzing bomb in his mouth. The young men ran for their lives, and the poor beast, thinking it all a great joke, came galloping after. He was within twenty yards of the hindmost when there was a stunning crash. Two of the men were thrown down, though, fortunately, not badly hurt. But of the unfortunate dog hardly a trace was left.

Ever Faithful.

"Henry, I believe you are like all the men. When I give you letters to mail you think it's a good joke to carry them for days and days in your pocket."
"Abigail, I give you my word I mail every one of them—evenually."—Chicago Tribune.

DON'T ABUSE YOUR EYES.

They Will Stand Only a Certain Measure of Bad Treatment.

The woman whose eyes suddenly commenced to hurt went to consult an oculist concerning them. She expected him to give them a perfunctory examination and then make some change in her glasses, but instead of that he put her carefully through a number of tests and then began to question her.

"What have you been doing to strain your eyes?" asked the oculist. "I?" replied the woman. "I? Why, nothing."

"No fancy work of any sort?"

"Oh, yes; I've crocheted forty table mats recently, but that wasn't a strain on my eyes."

"And you embroider, I suppose?"

"A little. I embroidered a blouse not long ago, but the work wasn't very fine and didn't hurt me a particle."

"I hate to have to put you in a dark room," said the oculist, "but I shall have to do so for at least a month. You will not be able to do any fine needlework for several years, if ever. You must not go to the theater nor to motion picture shows. You may not play cards. You must rest your eyes absolutely for months or I will not be responsible for the result."

"You have been straining your eyes pitifully for years. There are diseased spots on the back of them which will heal with care and time and perfect rest, but sight will never be restored to them entirely."

"It is the most curious thing to me," said the oculist, "that people take care of every part of themselves except their eyes. Careful people go to a dentist at least twice a year. They pay the most rigid attention to their teeth, yet loss of teeth, however inconvenient, is not irreparable. Artificial teeth, pivoted teeth and bridges can, in large measure, replace natural ones."

"But there is no substitute for eyes. Once sight is gone it is only restored by a miracle of surgery or by the grace of God. Why, then, are eyes so much neglected? Why do people go to chiropodists and to all sorts of healer persons and never consult an oculist until fright drives them to him?"

"The eyes are abused more than any other organ. People read by half light and lying down, and with the light in front of them and in every other wrong way known and expect to retain their vision. They are mighty careful about their hair. They feel that their eyes are with them to stay and that nothing can rob them of these. You are one of those who is about to discover that eyes stand only a certain amount of bad treatment. You will probably consider this matter at length for the month that you are in that dark room."—Baltimore Sun.

The Queer Screw Plant.

There is nothing under the sun quite so quaint, so weird and witch-like as the pandanus prairies of Fiji. The pandanus, or screw plant as it is called, is a most grotesque specimen of the vegetable kingdom even at the best and in the early stages of its growth. In its very young days it is of an extraordinarily screwlike shape and looks as though some unkind hand had taken hold of its long, swordlike leaves and twisted them round and round. Later on it straightens out a bit, and from it grow a number of tall wooden stilts. Its foliage is simple, a number of drooping, ragged tufts, for all the world like mops and very mournful looking. Among these mops hangs the fruit, in shape like a pineapple, made up of hard red and yellow kernels, woody and fibrous and quite uneatable from a European's point of view.

Women Oyster Gatherers.

The work of oyster collecting and culture is most unsuitable for women, but in France, owing to its tedious nature, it does not appeal to men. Often from an early hour in the morning till late into the evening the women are standing up to their knees in water, with a strong sun beating down on them. The result is that never a year passes without some of them going mad and having to be hurried away to the asylums. The work is well paid, as, indeed, it ought to be, while in the case of the few who own beds the profits are large, and small fortunes are quickly amassed.

Jessie.

It is related that when the young man who afterward became General Fremont ran away with and married Jessie Benton, her father, Tom Benton, the great senator, made terrible threats of what he would do to the young man. He would give him roasts and bullets, and so on. To all of which Mrs. Benton quietly remarked, "You had better give him Jessie, my dear."

DON'TS FOR 1914

Don't be afraid to work; it is healthy physical and mental exercise.

Don't be afraid to hustle, be glad of the chance.

Don't be afraid of failure. Keep on though you fail a dozen times.

Don't be afraid of honest competition. It's competition that makes success worth while.

Don't be afraid to buy John Deere Implements. There's none better because Si Draft says so, and he's used them all his life.

Don't be afraid to play the game honestly. Honesty always wins out.

Don't be afraid to go out of the way to do a good turn for a friend.

Don't be afraid to trade your money at 'The Big Hdwe. Store.' You'll get your money's worth all the time.

Don't be afraid to do your best. The best is none too good.

Don't be afraid to tell the truth. It is a part of your honor.

Don't be afraid to obey. A man must learn to obey before he can hope to command.

Don't fail to look in the big window at Larkin-Prince Hdwe. Co. Store and note the low prices on aluminum cooking utensils. Also note the special shipment of granite dish pans, selling for 30 cents each.

Don't be afraid to think before you act.

Don't be afraid to blow out your stumps with Du Pont powder. It's the easy, cheapest and only modern way to grub. Get 100 lbs. of Larkin-Prince for $11 and try it out.

Don't be afraid to take a little advice from Si Draft, maybe he's lived longer than you. Ask him about the Larkin-Prince Hdwe. Co., and their methods of doing business. It will pay you to investigate.

Don't try to ride a bucking bronco if you're an automobile chaffeur; there's too much difference, you might get hurt.
