County Surveyor H. W. Her-ring was down from McMinnville Tuesday running a line for a proposed new road that has been petitioned for, running north toward Chehalem Mountain from the north side valley road at the Madson farm. Elmer Robbins, of McMinnville, and E. G. Fendall, of West Chehalem, were the viewers.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Rees received a letter recently from their son Ralph, who is instructor at Amhurst, Massachusetts, telling of a recent trip made to Bolton, Massachusetts, in the interest of the extension work of the university. After the program was over he was very much surprised to meet Rev. Alfred T. Ware, at one time pastor of Friends church in Newberg, whom he found to be a prosperous farmer at Bolton.

Hodson Bros.' clothing store was entered by thieves last Saturday night by prying open a back window, and numerous articles, such as shoes, sweaters and ties, were carried away. The work of all home talent apparently.

B. L. Wilcox, of Portland, who bought the L. T. Price tract located out north of Newberg, some time ago, was out from the city Monday on business. He remarked that if he could dispose of his interests with the Kern Park Feed & Fuel Co. he would move out and take possession of the place.

The Rex people were on the job last Saturday, when the new electric train arrived, to show the excursionists what they produce. N. B. Wiley was on hand with a showing from his yards of fancy poultry. Mr. Moore had an exhibit from his duck farm and apples were distributed liberally to the hungry crowd.

Omer Moore who was over from Forest Grove last Sunday for a visit with the home folks said the Oregon Electric was running nine trains a day each way between Forest Grove and Portland. The first car leaves for Portland at 6:30 in the morning and the last one arrives out from the city late at night. With the new electric service inaugurated this week, the Southern Pacific, now the Portland, Eugene and Eastern, hopes to divide travel with the Oregon Electric.

During the storm of Wednesday evening, old Jupiter Pluvius was prowling around on North Edwards street where he discovered an excavation in the walk way that looked good to him. With a sardonic grin on his watery old face he guided a passing rain cloud over the hole in the ground and filled it to the brim with water thoroughly saturated with soil, roots and other debris and retired around the corner awaiting results. Soon after the rites of baptism begun, as one after another belated umbrella-ed pedestrian innocently walked into the pool, and judging from the abjurations, spluttering and quotations from ancient manuscript, in which all rules of syntax and prosody were mercilessly massacred, old Jupe was easily convinced that as a saving ordinance his efforts were in vain. As a man trap in a public highway and as a city ducking tank, it was a brilliant success, and was fully appreciated by the sinners who plunged therein.

On last Saturday the wind blew a fir tree down at the second railroad trestle above Dundee, which fell across the wires and landed on the trestle, thus delaying the down train due in Newberg at 4:07 in the afternoon for half an hour.

The high wind on last Saturday afternoon took a part of the Malthoid roof off of the Bean building, occupied by the Chas. E. Lapp grocery, and also landed the glass sign of the Opera Grille on the cement walk, making a thousand pieces of it.

CIVIC IMPROVEMENT CLUB DINNER

If you want anything done, ask the ladies of the Civic Improvement Club.

If you want it done right, done quick, "done to a turn," ask the C. I. C.

This was proved in a conclusive manner when the president of the club was informed that they would have to care for one hundred visitors the next day.

The occasion was the visit of the Commercial Club members of Portland who were swinging around the "Electric Loop." They came nearly 300 strong, wild eyed and hungry, which was suddenly disappeared when they were turned loose upon the loaded tables awaiting them. The C. I. C. had a certain number assigned them.

But were forced to care for many more than expected yet when first and second tables were cared for and the tired workers of the club had eaten, at third table, it was still possible to pick up the proverbial "twelve baskets" of good things.

Mrs. E. E. Goff, the president of the C. I. C. was assisted by a committee caring for tables, Mrs. Wm. Langton as chairman with Mesdames Eldredge, Mount, Gordon and Morris assisting.

The menu was in care of Mrs. Littlefield assisted by Mesdames Ferguson, Best, Parker, Wharton, Nelson, Kelty, Evans and Morris.

The decorations were red carnations. While the capacity of the Odd Fellows dining hall was taxed for room yet with admirable arrangements and care for every detail by the ladies, everything was done for enjoyment of the guests.

PROSPECTIVE BIRTHDAY SOCIALS

The meeting of the W. R. C. last Thursday was presided over by the newly installed officers and a prosperous year is looked forward to, as the past year has been. Much relief work was reported having been done during 1913. By vote of the corps it was decided not to have monthly birthday socials for awhile but to combine them by having one in March to celebrate the birthdays of W. R. C. and G. A. R. members having birthdays in January, February and March; and another in June in honor of those in April, May and June.

As there will be several public birthdays, etc., to commemorate in the next few months, it was thought best to adopt this plan.

WHY GIRLS LEAVE HOME

A new version of the side-splitting comedy that won world wide fame several years ago. It is in two parts and was produced by the Edison Company, and will be shown at the Star theatre Friday and Saturday of this week. For next Monday and Tuesday Mr. Brown has booked Maurice Costello in a two reel feature, "The Mystery of the Silver Skull." The story was written by James Oliver Curwood, one of the most successful photoplay writers of the present day.

The King Millinery winter stock, including fancy work, is being closed out at cost. A good time to buy for future use while big bargains are being offered.

COLLEGE NOTES

President Pennington occupied the chapel period last Friday morning by giving a brief account of the inauguration exercises held at Forest Grove, January 14, at which time Pres. Bushnell formally assumed the direction of affairs at Pacific University. Pres. Pennington also addressed the students of P. U. at their regular chapel the morning following the inauguration.

In the first league game of the season on the local floor the college team defeated the Chemawa Indians last Friday night by the close margin of 24 to 22. After the score was tied 2 to 2, the local team took the lead and was never headed during the game, although the Indians were coming hard at the close of the game. The visitors excelled in passing the ball, but were unable to get the ball in the basket. Their playing was fast and spectacular, but they made too many long shots at the baskets, frequently shooting from the middle of the floor or even farther. Lee, of Portland Y. M. C. A., acted as referee.

Saturday evening seemed to be a popular time for class parties, the Sophomores entertaining themselves in the Y. W. C. A. room under the auspices of Prof. Marshall and Miss Sutton, while the third year academy students were entertained by the fourth year class at the home Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Paulsen, with Prof. and Mrs. Lewis acting in the capacity of chaperones.

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Morris and daughter Virginia took dinner at the dormitory Sunday as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Allen.

An informal birthday celebration was held at the dormitory Monday evening after glee club rehearsal. It was a joint celebration as several persons had birthdays near the same time, and it was felt there was not time to observe them separately. The young ladies received the young men and then refreshments were served in the parlor.

Mr. S. W. Grathwell, prize-winning orator and prohibition worker, addressed the students in chapel Tuesday morning of this week. He was accompanied by Aaron Bray and together they visited some of the college classes.

The association meetings on Wednesday morning were both on the subject of missions. The Y. W. listened to a letter from Miss Gage concerning the work in Turkey, while Prof. Hawkins gave a brief outline of the Mohammedan problem to the Y. M. C. A.

Efforts are being made to get a large delegation to go to McMinnville Friday evening of this week to see the basket ball game between P. C. and Mac. The fact that P. C. defeated Chemawa by a two-point margin and that the latter won over Mac by a lead of four points indicates a fast game Friday night, although Mac will have the advantage of playing on their own floor which is much larger than the local floor.

DUNDEE

A large meeting of the neighborhood circle was held at the City Hall on Thursday. Plans for the spring and summer work were made. An Emerson class was formed to meet the alternating Thursdays. Plans for obtaining a larger meeting place, suitable for a social center were discussed and various committees appointed concerning it. A standing committee was also appointed to report any sick or sorrowing members. A letter was read from the Boys and Girls Aid Society of Portland acknowledging the receipt of the box of clothing and the apples that the Dundee society sent for Christmas. It was decided to hold a social entertainment about the twenty-first of February. The
