$1.50 Per Year in Advance

THURSDAY, MAY 14, 1914

The forecast is for a heavy frost Friday which is sure to nip a lot of tender plants.

The season is at hand when the gooseberry grower and the sugar dispenser have interests in common—a 16 to 1 proposition, with the emphasis on the sugar.

The Oregonian is starting in a little early to groom Teddy for the republican nomination to run against Wilson at the next presidential election. Better let him remain in the back pasture.

The Clackamas county farmer who was kicked by a horse and who two days later, while going about his work discovered that his leg was broken, must have been an Englishman, don't you know.

It was a glorious rain we had a few days ago and now good old summer-time is here. Who wouldn't be an Oregonian during the months of May and June—yes, during the full twelve months of the year?

In condemning the whiskey seller, the "prominent citizens" who make free to walk behind the blind and help themselves without the formality of a doctor's prescription, should not be lost sight of.

C. B. Wilson, candidate for county clerk, is running like a race-horse on the primary speed-way and his friends believe that he has a good lead for the nomination. There is no question about his election if he wins at the primary.

W. S. Allan, of Dundee, has shown good ability in the management of his own affairs, and his many friends believe that he will, if nominated and elected county commissioner, give the business of the county the same careful consideration.

The fight the Oregonian is making on Dr. Smith, the democratic candidate for the nomination for governor, indicates that it regards Smith as the man who will be hard to beat if he receives the nomination. Democrats will probably take a hunch and vote for Smith.

A Kansas printer has notified the merchants of his town that he will soon be in need of a pair of shoes, a new shirt, and a sack of flour, and that he will call for bids on these items, as that is the custom of the merchants when they want four dollars' worth of printing.

Our forefathers tell us how bride and groom rode the same horse to and from the wedding in the pioneer days. Not quite so swift a pace as young things hit these days with the two passenger motorcycle, and they were still slower in those days in the race to the divorce court.

This section of the county is entitled to representation on the board of county commissioners and no section of the county is offering a more efficient man for commissioner than is Dundee in the person of W. S. Allan, the thrifty Scotchman, who has managed his own affairs well. Mr.

Allan has a mind of his own, he has a good grasp on affairs and will prove to be a strong factor in the management of the business of the county should he be elected.

C. W. Post, who made a fortune estimated at $40,000,000 in the manufacture of cereal foods at Battle Creek, Michigan, committed suicide last Saturday at Santa Barbara, California, by shooting himself through the head. Possibly a case of too much Postum to constitute a balanced ration.

If the fellows who succeed in getting elected to office pay half as much attention to the cutting down of expenses after getting in as they have held out that they would in trying to get in, we ought to see a big saving before next tax-paying time comes around. But it may be just as well to make note of that "if."

In every community you will always find a few people who never in an age will turn a hand to root out any evils that may exist, but who will be the first to knock the fellow who has the moral courage to make a hit at wrong doing, and who will tell with an assumed air of superior wisdom how the thing might better have been done.

At the first republican state convention attended by the writer in Oregon, Binger Hermann received the nomination for congressman the first time, winning out over Judge John F. Caples, his closest opponent. At a ratification meeting held in the evening, Judge Caples responded to a call for a speech, and in that happy vein for which he was noted as a public speaker, said that he had noticed that when two men undertook to ride a mule at the same time one of them had to ride behind. And following the laugh that went the rounds of the house, said that he happened to be the man who must ride behind at that time. It will be well for the numerous candidates for the various offices who must go down to defeat at the primary election tomorrow if they are able to take defeat as gracefully as did Judge Caples in that canvass for the nomination for a seat in congress.

In answer to many questions that have come in by telephone and by word of mouth, the editor of the Graphic will say that he expects to vote for T. T. Geer for governor at the primary election. Whether or not Mr. Geer has a good show for securing the nomination, the writer does not know, but it is a fact that he made a good governor when he held the office and we believe he is as well qualified for the position as any of the other numerous candidates who are seeking the office. When a young man in Eastern Oregon engaged in public debate in favor of temperance, he has always been a consistent temperance man, and in his platform he comes out squarely for state-wide prohibition. This is what the writer has stood for all these years, and since a man of the political party of our choice has come out as a candidate for governor on a prohibition platform, he being a man in whose political integrity we have confidence, there is nothing left for us to do but to give him our support at the polls.

Voters who belong to either of the political parties that will be represented at the primary election tomorrow should go to the polls and express a choice of candidates from top to bottom of the long list. Sample ballots have been on display about town during the week and others will be given out tomorrow, so that voters may look the list over before entering the voting booth and decide on the candidates they desire to support. Voters who remain at home and fail to express their choice of candidates will have little ground for complaint if nominations go wrong, according to their way of thinking. The main weakness of the old convention system of making nominations was that but a few of the voters would attend the primary conventions, thus allowing a few leaders to hold the control by seeing that men whom they could handle as they liked were sent to the nominating conventions. Get out and vote and you will have done your part, although you may not be able to land all the candidates you vote for.

The registration of voters for Yamhill county totals 6695, of whom 3430 are registered as republicans, 1603 democrats, 1231 prohibitionists, 137 socialists, 57 progressives and 237 miscellaneous. For the state there are 226,924 registered, with 134,697 republicans, 59,986 democrats, 11,177 prohibition, 6273 socialists, 6255 progressives, 8536 miscellaneous.

Too Busy to Campaign

The grand jury being in session this week, the circuit court coming on next week and the election supplies to send out for the coming primaries, makes Sheriff Henderson a very busy man, so busy, in fact, that he will have no time to devote to his campaign, and will have to trust to his friends. 31-Pd adv

It's All Right

"What time does this train get to Pittsburg?" asked a passenger who had been dining convivially. "It won't go to Pittsburg at all!" replied the conductor. "It's running in the opposite direction!" "Oh, pshaw!" exclaimed the man, "it oughtn't to act that way! Pittsburg's all right when you get used to it!"

Wanted—A Pet Name

It was a case of assault. The ill-used wife was bringing the charge against her brutal husband and laying her grievances before the magistrate.

"'E started by givin' me a biff on the nut," she explained, tearfully.

Why Waste 'Em?

Chick—Baw! Mamma, can't I have a little brother?

Mrs. Hen—Great Scott, child! don't you know that eggs are fifty-five cents a dozen?—Judge.

Another good thing about babies is that they never go around telling the smart things their daddies said.
