$1.50 Per Year in Advance

THURSDAY, JUNE 18, 1914

There is nothing small about the loganberry crop this season, neither in the size of the berries nor the total yield.

The weather is so fine that it is awfully hard to hatch up any reasonable excuse for going to the seaside for a vacation.

As the night brings out the stars, so the warm rays of the sun on Monday brought beaming smiles to the face of the ice man.

The ox drivers who pointed the way for future civilization in this great Northwest country are having their annual campfire in Portland this week.

The heathen races of darkest Africa beat tom toms to scare away the evil spirits. They have some fairly good imitators in enlightened America.

An eminent London physician has told Roosevelt that he must hold his tongue for several months to come. That doctor knows his business, all right.

Poets are born, not made, but not so with the ball player of the present day. Witness the fact that from every back lot in every hamlet the country over, a knee pants brigade is doing its best to develop big leaguers.

A judge of a Kansas City, Mo., criminal court is paroling prisoners by sending them into Kansas to help in the harvest fields. Missouri added quite a sprinkling of a similar class of citizens to the population of Kansas during the "border ruffian" days preceding the unpleasantness of '61 to '65.

Age in Oregon is no bar to oratory. John Minto, of Salem, a pioneer of 1844, and 92 years of age, walked into the assemblage of Indian War veterans at Portland on Wednesday, mounted the platform and made a speech, "ringing with wit and pleasant-ries, interspersing his talk with Chinook jargon."

After having run something of a marriage bureau in connection with the composing room for several years, and in the meantime seeing a number of very fine girls located in homes with loving husbands, the Graphic has closed the books and for the present, at least, no lonesome bachelor need apply, since all the typos in the back office are wearing trousers.

The daily reports of the belching of that volcano in Northern California serve as a reminder that in the matter of booster advertising, no other section can approach our neighbors on the south. But how humiliating the situation must be to the Los Angeles section of the Golden State. It is an easy guess that they will start a counter attraction without delay.

A mother who was leading a little tot past the Graphic office was heard to remark, as the little one made a longing glance toward the vacant lot adjoining, "no, the merry-go-round is not there, but it will be back tomorrow." This was a barefaced lie.

When will that A. B. C. conference being held at Niagara reach the X. Y. Z. stage? The watchful waiting attitude is getting to be tiresome to the country.

told to satisfy the child for the moment, a course which is pursued by many parents. Is it any wonder that many children grow up having little regard for the truth?

There is more grass going to waste in Newberg this season for the want of somebody to cut it, than there was growing of tame grasses in all Yamhill county twenty-five years ago. Grass just grows by "common consent" in the Willamette valley these days.

The Cherrians came from Salem last week, dressed in their natty uniforms, all spick and span, and made a very imposing appearance as they marched our well paved streets, keeping step to the strains of the music furnished by their own splendid band. Come again.

The Ness County, Kansas, News under the heading of "Twenty-five Years Ago" has an item telling of the departure of George C. Brownell for New York to see his sick father. The same paper contains a letter from the pen of Mrs. Joseph Langgeller telling of the memorial address delivered in Newberg on Decoration Day by the same Brownell who is now "Hon. George C."

Our Dundee correspondent says John Parrett was re-elected as school clerk in the Dundee district on Monday for the thirteenth time, and further says it is a record that excels all others in the county. This calls to mind the fact that N. L. Wiley of the Rex district has some record as a Yamhill county school official. He held the office of clerk for thirteen consecutive years and for the past thirty years has been either clerk or director, with the exception of four years.

Realizing that in the campaign that is now on in Oregon to vote the 'state dry at the November election, the votes of all enemies of the saloon will be needed in order to win, a strictly non-partisan mass meeting is announced to be held at the court house in McMinnville at 10:30 on Wednesday morning of next week. All voters who are big enough and sufficiently broad minded to enable them to lay aside party preferences for the time, are invited to attend this meeting and enlist in the campaign against the enemy of the home.

Phil S. Bates, secretary of the Oregon State Editorial Association, has the bull in the China shop beaten a mile. At Washington, D. C., the other day his party of across-the-country girl trotters, broke into the White House grounds and planted an Oregon Caroline Testout rose-bush close to the tent that President Wilson occupies as his summer residence. And the President smiled his approval. The dispatches say that Phil's next stunt is to go to Philadelphia and order the Liberty Bell shipped to the San Francisco exposition. Our Phil believes in doing things and he does them. Give him a chance and he will settle that little family disturbance across the Mexican line.

OFFER OF A FREE RIDE.

Our friend L. W. Charles, the editor and publisher of the Santiam News, must have been telling the truth about conditions in Scio for it is the truth that hurts. He recently published the following letter which was addressed to him:

if you dont cut out your little mean contemptable remarks about people in your old rag what your afraid to say their face the comtee will you a free ride on a rail to the edge of the city a good coat of tar and feathers and buy your ticket to portland and not a round trip ticket eather and we wont wait for weak end rates. See Better take a hint

The comtee.

Knights Templars.

The name "Knights Templars" was first assumed by a semireligious, semimilitary order founded in the twelfth century for the commendable purpose of protecting the scattered and disbanded crusaders. At first they were merely Knights, but after they were assigned quarters at the palace in Jerusalem called Solomon's temple they became known as Knights of the Temple, or Knights Templars. The ancient order finally became so powerful that it was suppressed in the fourteenth century, and the continuity or identity of the modern with the ancient one of the same name has been warmly disputed.—Philadelphia Press.

Story of a Church Sign.

In New York city alone more than 150 electric signs are used by the churches. Perhaps the earliest illuminated church sign was a cross placed over St. Augustine chapel, in lower Manhattan, nearly forty years ago. Again and again Bowery mission and settlement house workers have met men and women who have testified that the flaming cross on St. Augustine's was the instrument that turned them from evil lives.

Dividing the Circle.

Ancient Chaldeans divided the circle into 360 equal parts because they thought that there are 360 days in a year. They could not prove that the earth turns on its axis 365.256481 times while going around the sun once. —New York American.

Her Choice.

"Can he sting well?"
"Well, I'll tell you. He offered to sting the baby to sleep the other night, and his wife said, 'No; let her keep on crying.'"—Cleveland Leader.

Willing to Compromise.

A schoolboy was given a sum to do. When it was done he took it to the teacher, who looked at it and said: "This answer is wrong by 2 cents. Go back to your seat and do it correctly."

"If you please, sir," said the youngster, fishing in his pocket, "I'd rather pay the difference."—Washington Star.

Eye of the Eagle.

Naturalists state that the eagle is able to look at the sun without blinking because it has a thin semi-transparent veil which it can draw instantaneously over its eye and which does not obstruct the sight.
