SI DRAFT TAKES IN ICE CREAM SOCIAL AT SPRINGBROOK

By Jove, don't you know it was so-blamed' hot last week that the sweat off my brow washed nearly all my whiskers right out by the roots and some of the neighbors told me they were goin' to have an ice cream social down to the Springbrook School house, so I sez to myself "Here's where I get cooled off for once anyway," and I saddled up my old mule and goes down.

When I got there most of the people was assembled out on the steps at the school house and there was so many of skinned there that I was kind of skeered so I went down in the basement where some of the men was freezing the ice cream and there was Mayor Nordyke, Frank Carlisle, Bill Shires, Mr. Rees, Foster Mills, Ray Newby and one or two other good fellers of the neighborhood down in there; some old ice cream freezers, some old ice cream freezers to get ice cream enuf to feed us poor hungry fellers what come down there to get cooled off, and it was so blamed hot down there that the sweat off their brows melted the ice about as fast as they put it in the freezer, but they finally got it all froze up and I'll swear I never ate better home-made ice cream in my life. Ray Newby had an old freezer there that his father and mother brought across the plains and Ray said he didn't know for sure but he thought it must be a John Deere, it had lasted so long and worked so good. The never heard the boys at 'The Big Hdwe. Store' say anything about John Deere ice cream freezers, but take it from me, anything that bears the John Deere Trade Mark is up to the standard in quality, no matter what kind of machinery it is. While the boys were putting the finishing touches on the ice cream they were pullin' off a little musical program up stairs and everybody seemed to enjoy it too. Some of them little maidens could sing like humming birds. Everybody had a good time and went home happy. The next day wasn't quite so hot and I went down town and I was loafing around 'The Big Hdwe. Store' as usual and the boys was tellin' me that the public had no mercy on them this hot weather, just rushed them right along, but they were all wearing a smile and didn't seem to feel very bad about it, they say they're sellin' a lot of that good old Plymouth Binder twine and settin' up a Deering Binder occasionally. The boys have got a new line of ranges on that is the latest thing in the range line and it surely is a nifty lookin' line of stuff. If you're thinkin' about gettin' a range any time in the future you'll do well to call on Larkin-Prince Hdwe. as they're makin' some real specials on some Laurels and Bridge & Beach ranges that they want to close out to clean up their sample floor. Watch their bargain window and 10c counter for somebody is gettin' the benefit of these special prices that prevail in the departments of 'The Big Hdwe. Store.'

If you're goin' to need a new wagon to do your heavy hauling this summer, you'd better think twice before you buy and while you're thinkin' remember the John Deere wagon, it runs easy and it is made of the kind of material that is bound to give you years of service.

Anything that you may need in the way of repairs for your harvesting machinery, Larkin-Prince will take care of your orders and rush them through for you. When you go to town, keep traveling till you get to the free sheds back of 'The Big Hdwe. Store,' the place where there are no rats to gnaw the cushions on your rigs and where you know you are welcome, and if you need anything in the hardware and implement line it's only a few steps to the best place to buy it.

WHAT MAKES MILK AND BUTTER YELLOW

That the rich yellow color demanded by the public in dairy products is primarily due to the character of the cow's feed is demonstrated by recent experiments carried on by the department in co-operation with the Missouri State Experiment Station. For some years dairy experts have been studying this question. Their conclusion is that, although to some extent a breed characteristic, the intensity of this yellow color may, within certain limits, be increased or diminished at will by changing the animal's rations.

Chemical tests show that the yellow pigment in milk consists of several well-known pigments found in green plants. Of these the principal one is carotin, so called because it constitutes a large part of the coloring matter of carrots. The other yellow pigments in the milk are known as xanthophylls. These are found in a number of plants including grass but are especially abundant in yellow autumn leaves.

These pigments pass directly from the feed into the milk. This explains the well-known fact that fresh, green grass and carrots increase the yellowness of butter, the only standard by which the average person judges its richness. On the other hand, a large proportion of these pigments is deposited in the body fat and elsewhere in the cow. When the ration is changed to one containing fewer carotin and xanthophyll constituents, this hoarded store is gradually drawn upon and in consequence the yellowness of the milk does not diminish so rapidly as it otherwise would. This yellowness increases, however, the instant the necessary plant pigments are restored to the ration.

Green grass is probably richer in carotin than any other dairy feed. Cows fed on it will therefore produce the highest colored butter. Green corn, in which xanthophylls constitute the chief pigment, will also produce a highly colored product. On the other hand, a ration of bleached clover hay and yellow corn is practically devoid of yellow pigments and the milk from cows fed upon it will gradually lose its color. It is, of course, indisputably true that the breed does influence the color of the milk fat; but vary the ration and there will be a corresponding variation in the color of the milk fat in each breed.

In cows of the Jersey and Guernsey breeds the body fat is frequently of such a deep yellow color that some butchers and consumers look with disfavor upon beef from these breeds. For this prejudice there is absolutely no justification. The yellowness of the fat springs from the same causes as the yellowness of the milk fat, and there is no reason for objecting in one case to the very thing that is prized in the other.—U. S. Department of Agriculture.

NEWS OF THE CANNERY

It is the intention of the cannery management to handle large quantities of apples this fall. All members can bring their apples to the cannery, where they will be graded. The shipping apples will be sent out and marketed through the Western Oregon Fruit Distributors. The second grade will be canned, and culls made into cider. In this way we will be able to handle all of your apples.

We realize the price of 2 cents is very low for berries. The reason for it is our desire to try them out this year, and if successful in selling them, can pay a better price next year.

The cannery will start Tuesday next on beans. All those having the Refuge bean will bring all they can on Monday and Tuesday. Any one having Green Gages bring them on the above days. We expect to can all the Silver and Petite prunes we can get; also apples, Bartlett pears, tomatoes and Boston Marrow squash. Will furnish crates and pay 2 cents per pound for all black and raspberries brought to the cannery on Monday and Tuesday, the 27th and 28th inst. J. W. Chambers, Manager.
