Mrs. C. F. Johnson came out from Portland to attend the funeral of Emory Johnson the first of the week.

Mrs. J. M. Simpson, of Lincoln, Nebraska, has been visiting with Mrs. J. A. George in the Chehalis Center neighborhood.

Miss Gertrude Weed, of Nehalem, who is only recently out of the hospital, is visiting in town with her aunt, Mrs. J. L. Van Blaricom.

Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Sidwell, recently from San Francisco, who are located in Portland, were week-end visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Herman Smith.

Mrs. Henry Allen, matron of the college boarding hall, is visiting with relatives in Portland. Later in the week Mr. Allen will join her and they will go for a visit of two or three weeks at their former home in Idaho.

L. S. Hopfield, of McMinnville, who was in town Wednesday, said he had just returned home from the Sacramento Valley in California where harvesting was already on. As a member of the Oregon National Guard he is called out for practice and will leave home the first of next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Elgin Van Blaricom have gone to Rockaway Beach, Tillamook county, where they are opening a candy kitchen and small grocery. Like others engaged in business at the seaside they are now doubtless hoping for sizzling hot weather in the valley that will drive people to the beach resorts.

Elmer E. Armstrong who was a resident here nearly twenty years ago, was here from Salem for a day last week. He had charge of the planting and cultivation of the big prune orchard out on the West Chehalis road which is now owned by H. S. Gile & Co. For several years he has been fruit inspector for Marion county.

Mrs. D. S. Buck and daughter, Mrs. W. S. Thompson, of South Dakota, together with Mrs. Burt Redick and son, Robert, of Portland, visited in Newberg last Sunday with the Beckerson families. Although Mrs. Buck is 86 years old she appears as young as most women at 60. The meeting of the parties Sunday was the first in about thirty years.

Charles Deach, of Gaston, a brother of Frank Deach, was in town Wednesday.

O. K. Edwards and family were here from Willamina visiting with relatives the first of the week.

Mrs. J. S. Wright, of Willamina, who was known here in her girlhood days as Miss Jessie Vantress, was here last Saturday and Sunday visiting her parents.

T. R. Warner has charge of a force of men who are doing road work out in the Grand Ronde Indian section and those who have been over the roads say that great improvement is being made.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira K. Vantress held a partial family reunion last week and at the time had a fourth generation picture taken. The group was made up of Mrs. Vantress, her daughter, Mrs. J. S. Wright, of Willamina, Mrs. Wright's daughter, Mrs. L. F. Ireton, of Portland, with a young baby girl in her arms.

Rev. N. J. Lund, of Boise, Idaho, who said he was at one time engaged in the printing business in Iowa, was a caller at the Graphic office on Monday. He said he came all the way from Boise to get some dental work done at the office of Dr. Dixon and was well pleased with the treatment he received.

McLean, the Portland buyer of horses for the war in Europe, who was in town the first of the week, said representatives of the French government had recently importuned him to enter into a contract under bonds to furnish that government 50,000 horses, which may be taken as an indication that the war is expected to be something more than a mere "breakfast spell" before it is ended.

Ernest E. Taylor, who has been a field worker for the prohibition party in the Northwest for the past two or three years, has sold his home at Cornelius and has bought the property located on East First street, formerly owned by Roy Heater, which is to be his home in the future. His purchase consists of a house and four lots.

While in Southern California a few months ago J. L. Hoskins posted himself pretty thoroughly on the milk goat industry, by visiting different breeders of goats and getting as much first hand information from them as possible. He was so favorably impressed with what he saw and heard that he recently sent to a point near the Mexican line for three young nannies and a buck. Shipment was made on Wednesday of last week and on Sunday morning they arrived here in good condition. They are three quarters Nubian and one quarter Toggenburg, both of which strains are said to be good in milk giving qualities. One of the nannies is for Mrs. A. S. Craven.

A celebration of the eighty-fourth birthday anniversary of Mr. L. S. Rhoades was held at the home of her son, W. L. Robertson, on the corner of Edwards and Sherman streets on last Sunday, there being present W. L. Robertson and family, W. O. Robertson and family, of Portland; Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Goodrich, of Dayton; Dr. O. C. Goodrich, of Dayton; Mrs. Jennie Pedder and family, of Dundee. Mrs. Rhoades came to Oregon from Illinois in 1853 and the greater part of the intervening time she has been a resident of Yamhill county. She and her first husband took up land between Newberg and Dundee where the wagon road crosses the railroad track, and this was their home for many years.

Miss Hazel Binford, of Carthage, Indiana, spent a day here last week visiting her cousin, Mrs. George Morris.

The Parent-Teacher Association desires to thank all those who helped to make the "Trip Around the World" a social and financial success.

Mrs. Orville Hollingsworth and children returned to their home at Toledo Tuesday, after having spent ten days in Newberg visiting with relatives.

Miss Winona Newsom, of Carthage, Indiana, and Mrs. Albert Henley, of Indianapolis are in town visiting with Rev. and Mrs. Charles O. Whitely and other former Indiana friends.

Joe Hollingsworth was heard to remark to a friend that he went to Falls City fishing Wednesday and caught twenty-two, and from the mark he made on his finger some of them must have been as much as three inches in length.

Emory Johnson, son of J. P. Johnson, died on last Monday, of pneumonia after an illness of two weeks, at the age of 27 years. Funeral services were conducted on Tuesday by Rev. A. T. Norwood, former pastor of the Baptist church.

Raymond Bassett, who recently went to Eastern Oregon to engage in harvesting, writes home to his parents that the streets of Pendleton and Athena are thronged with men who are waiting for work to begin. A big harvest is in prospect.

Mr. and Mrs. George L. Kely have moved into one of P. L. Moores' houses nearby, preparatory to tearing their old house down to make room for a new and modern bungalow. Work will begin on the new building as soon as the ground is cleared.

Information comes to the Graphic that practically all the business houses in town will close on next Monday which will be a legal holiday. Counting Sunday, this will give two days for resting up after Saturday's holiday. How fortunate—some will no doubt need a week.

George A. Graves was out from Portland Wednesday in his little Brush car with which he says he has traveled more than 35,000 miles. George figures that the race is not always to the swift, and as the little machine always gets there, he says he has refused an offer of more than it is really worth rather than part with it—really it is the only thing he has ever married to.

L. Ross Johnson who was manager of the O. A. C. Glee Club last year, and who was recently married, Ralph Butt acting as best man at the wedding, stopped over here in company with Mrs. Johnson on Wednesday between trains for a visit with Ralph and Harry Miller. They were on their way to Bloomington, Illinois, the home of Mr. Johnson, where he will engage in business with his father.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Hollingsworth had a home-coming at their new residence on the corner of Fourth and College streets on last Sunday, the memory of which will linger long in the minds of those who participated in the pleasant event. The family has never had a death in the household, and all the children were privileged to be present. The parents were given by the children an electric table lamp, the presentation speech being made by A. C. Martin. The happy group was made up of the parents and two daughters, the Misses Gertrude and Esther; Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Hoffingsworth and daughter Helen, of Lincoln, Nebraska; Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Hollingsworth and children, Lucy and Bernice, of Falls City; Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Hollingsworth and children, Gladys and Leroy, of Toledo; Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hollingsworth and son, Bevan Dee, of Newberg; Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Martin, of Cleveland, Ohio.

Things are humming at the cannery and on Monday a pack of 18,200 cans was put up, the force that day consisting of 145 women and 28 boys, aside from the regular men. During the two weeks the cannery has been running $1,688.00 has been paid out for help, mostly to women and boys.

Ralph Butt who was best man at a church wedding in Corvallis recently, seems to realize that the training given on foot ball grounds for quick team work, poorly fits a young man for keeping pace with the wedding march when moving up the aisle with solemn tread, for, while he says he was supposed to keep well in the rear of the officiating clergyman, he found himself almost hitting the heels of the aforesaid gentleman before the altar was reached.

A Quibble.

"A sickly farmer said to his husky wife one spring morning: 'I see by the papers that a woman down Paint Rock way goes out every morning and hoes with her husband.' 'Well, what of it?' the wife answered. 'She could do it easily enough if he's as thin as you are. I've often thought of using you to peel potatoes with.'"

The Evening Telegram and the Graphic for a whole year for $3.75. Better take advantage of this exceptional offer now, as it closes July 15.

Gopher and Squirrel Exterminator

Non-Poisonous Non-Explosive

DIRECTIONS FOR USING

Comet Gas Balls

Light the ball and when it is burning well let it roll down the burrow, then immediately plug the mouth of the burrow tight enough so that no gases can escape.

COMET GAS BALLS act by burning up the air in the burrow and replacing it with poisonous gases. The average burrow contains 1.43 cubic feet. Each Comet Gas Ball will generate sufficient poisonous gases to poison the air in a space containing 10 cubic feet, thus assuring a large excess of poisonous gases.

The gases generated by Comet Gas Balls are not poisonous unless confined, so that should they be inhaled in the open air, no harm will result. Comet Gas Balls are non-poisonous if eaten; they must be burned in a confined space to develop their poisonous properties.

Comet Gas Balls are non-poisonous, non-explosive, inexpensive, and always ready for use. COMET GAS BALLS are positive in action, can be used successfully at any season while the burrows are open, and the Gopher must take the dose whether he wants to or not.
