KEEPING YOUNG.

Old Age is Not by Any Means Merely a Matter of Years.

There is no scientific evidence to show that late youth and middle age are the periods of commencing decrepitude and "old age." Man grows old because he is injured; because his body cells are poisoned, and not because he has lived just so many years. There is no relentless law determining when a man shall grow old. The tradition "Three score years and ten" is conditioned mainly on the manner of living and not by any natural law. But man has it in his power to modify these conditions either for better or worse.

Probably a greater luxury of living which is not balanced by proper physical exercises is a primary condition to be reckoned with. But temperance all along the line—in eating, drinking, working, playing and even in resting—has been suggested as a wiser principle to hold to. This avoids the possibility of rusting out on the one hand or of wearing out on the other.

Yet there is another way and a more worthy reason for retaining youth and deferring old age—cultivate health for the love and pleasure of it. The monthly letter of the Life Extension Institute says of this suggestion: "It is not a fear of illness or of death that we should encourage, but a love of health, a sense of responsibility for the care of our bodies, a desire for bodily endurance and efficiency and full achievement. If the mind is fixed on these ideals and the already known means of approaching them are utilized, heart disease, kidney trouble and the needless miseries that embitter the lives of so many may be left to take care of themselves. It is not so much necessary to fight disease as to cultivate health for the happiness, contentment and moral gain that it brings."

Mrs. Proude—That Mrs. Guggenheimer makes me tired.

Mr. Proude—Why so?

Mrs. Proude—Why, this afternoon when I asked her in the presence of a number of strangers how she liked my new hat she said, "Just exactly as well as any I saw last season."

Mr. Proude—But I don't see anything criminal in that.

Mrs. Proude—You don't! Well, I do! It is a last season's hat.

Foiled Him.

"Why am I like a pin?" asked Mr. Jones triumphantly of his wife. He expected she was going to say, "Because you are so sharp," and he was simply paralyzed when she replied:

"Because if you should get lost it wouldn't be worth while to spend time looking for you."

THANKS FOR LIBERAL DONATIONS

I want to thank the business men of Newberg through your valuable paper, for their liberal donations to the Yamhill County Poultry Show, and to announce to the public that we will have a free poultry show at Newberg, December 21, 22, 23 and 24, 1915.

Wont the kids smile. Everybody come and bring your best birds, and Judge Keeney will tell you their good and poor points.

N. L. Wiley, President, Yamhill County Poultry Show.
