PARKER-STANNARD WEDDING

At the home of the bride's parents, Rev. and Mrs. F. C. Stannard, on Wednesday evening, March 22, the wedding of their daughter, Edith Gwendolen, to Russell L. Parker, was solemnized in the presence of about sixty guests.

The house was tastefully decorated with English ivy and daffodils. A bower of ivy, with a large bow of tulle in the center, formed an altar, where the impressive ring ceremony was performed by the bride's father. There was an aisle formed by a bowl of daffodils on taboretts from the hall door to the altar.

The bridal party, consisting of Miss Vera Stannard as bridesmaid, little Virginia Montague as ring-bearer, and the bride, led by her father, proceeded down the stairs to the altar, where they were met by the groom and best man, Mr. Frank Miller. The beautiful wedding march by Mendelssohn was played by Frank and Percy Sharp, violinists, accompanied by Helen Stannard, a sister of the bride, at the piano. Delbert Stannard, a cousin of the bride, sang beautifully "The Dawning" and "Because."

The bride wore a gown of cream chiffon cloth, en train, and a veil of tulle, held in place with lillies of the valley. She carried a bouquet of bride's roses. The bridesmaid was gowned in Nile green chiffon cloth and carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses.

The little ring-bearer was charming in her dress of net over pink silk. After congratulations, a dainty luncheon was served, consisting of marachino pudding, cake and punch. Miss Alice Christenson presided at the punch bowl, assisted by Mildred Christenson and Gladys Jones.

The out of town guests were

Dr. and Mrs. Pemberton, Salem; Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Parker, Turner; Mrs. G. I. Montgomery, Portland; Mrs. W. A. Dunn and Mrs. Edith Leatherman, Oregon City; Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Montague and little daughter, Virginia, Portland; W. O. and Miss Minnie Stannard, Mrs. G. C. Stannard and son Delbert, Portland; Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Stannard, Mrs. H. Wayne Stannard and little son, Brownsville.

Mr. and Mrs. Parker will be at home to their friends after April 1 at their new home on South College street.

HOUSER-ARNEY WEDDING

On Friday, March 19, at high noon, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Arney, 115 East Illinois street, occurred the marriage of their daughter, Alice, and Curtis A. Houser, Rev. B. S. Hicks, pastor of the Christian church, officiating.

None but immediate relatives and a few friends were present. Miss Hazel Houser sang very beautifully, "When I Am With You," accompanied by Miss Blanche McNay, after which the bridal party appeared as the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march were heard. The bride was beautifully gowned in white crepe de-chine and carried a shower bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley.

After the happy affair Mr. and Mrs. Houser left by auto for a brief trip and will later be at home on the corner of Center and Hancock streets.

The bride is a winsome and talented young woman and has been active in musical circles. The groom is assistant manager at the local office of the Spaulding Logging Company, and has many friends who wish both he and Mrs. Houser much future happiness.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Houser, Miss Hazel Houser, Miss La Verne Wess, E. S. Houser, all of Dallas, and Palmer Houser, of Zillah, Washington.

GOOD POINTS OF THE MAXWELL

According to McCoy Bros. of the local Maxwell agency, the most noticeable refinement of the mechanical construction of the 1916 Maxwell and the one that has brought out the most favorable comment of users of the Maxwell is the new clutch assembly. It is the only cone clutch that has ever been designed to fun in a bath of oil eliminating all possibility of grabbing or jerking.

"The velvety action of the clutch in our 1916 Maxwell is the wonder of every purchaser who has ever driven an automobile," say McCoy Bros. "In fact, it is the wonder of all mechanical men, for the construction is such as has long been sought as ideal and yet has not before been achieved" by any other manufacturer. The Maxwell clutch spider is of cast aluminum and the facing, a woven asbestos fabric, is attached thereto in one piece by means of rivets. The unit is entirely enclosed in an oil-tight case and the entire mechanism operates in a bath of lubricating oil. The resultant smoothness in operation is remarkable. The self-starting unit is mounted flush to the fly-wheel housing and all starting gears and mechanism run in the bath of oil contained in the clutch case, which insures long life for all of those parts through abundant lubrication.

FROM FAR-OFF INDIA

Extracts From Letters Written by Dr. Gertrude Minthorn.

Dr. Gertrude Minthorn who left for far off India last year to engage in the work of a medical missionary for a term of five years, has written letters to Mrs. L. E. Brouwer and to her father, Dr. H. J. Minthorn, from which some extracts are herewith made.

Writing on board the steamship "Katino Mari," Oct. 22, she said: Crossing the pacific is the most tiresome part of the voyage. We got into a big storm, a typhoon, lasting four days. I had a grand rest, but the bunk got so awfully tired I didn't know whether I would ever want to use it again or not. We had 27 missionaries on board and with the other passengers had a very congenial crowd. Most of them are going right through to India.

After the storm we had a fine time playing deck games, but after sixteen days of nothing but the wild waves to look at we were most glad to see land again.

Japan is quite a wonderful country. Just imagine seeing nothing but Japs, big and little, and nearly all in their native dress, men and women alike in kimonos. Went to see a Friends' boarding school for girls. Had to take off our shoes and leave them at the door. Was glad I had no holes in my stockings. They have no chairs since they always sit on the floor. I would surely have to limber up if I stayed in Japan. Every time you meet a friend or say "good morning" you must bow almost double and some get down and bow to the floor.

Wish you could have seen us riding around in "rick shas" drawn by coolies. They go along at a dog trot and make as good time as many horses do. The Japs don't believe in having horses or machinery do anything they can do themselves. A few autos one sees, my friend the Ford I saw several times.

Ludhiana, India, Nov. 20.

At last after two months' travel, I am able to head my letters "Ludhiana," the long looked-forward-to spot. And it is not a bad place to be in by any means. I'm sure I am going to like it very much. I have had two of the Newport papers, and even one of them said a good deal of the very severe storm there must have been at sea, judging from the surf, so it must have been quite general. However we came through nicely and were most glad when it was over. And I must say the Japs are very good sailors in spite of their looking otherwise. Their boats too are more steady than any others I have ever been on. Being so long on the way, and having the seasons change so often, I've almost lost track of time. Now it seems most like Indian summer, cold enough to be very comfortable, and to sleep well at night. They say it even gets frosty later on.

My duties so far are learning the language. I have until Christmas for this now, then I'm to begin hospital and school work. Because I have come for five years they are letting me into things much easier than they do those who come for a short time, for which I am truly thankful. I think I am going to find it all most interesting.

INSPIRING SERVICE

The young people of the town who attended the leaders' conference at the Young People's Union in the Christian church last Sunday afternoon could not help getting some pointers for future work. Lloyd R. Carrick, state president, who addressed the meeting, is a young fellow full of enthusiasm for his work, and in his talk emphasized the importance of personal work among the young people, proving the effectiveness of this method by quoting from individuals who have made this the purpose of their lives, also taking into consideration his personal experience.

Several short talks were given by members of the different societies of our union on phases of the work pertaining to good leadership in our meetings, and the ladies quartette of the Baptist society furnished us with a number. Altogether it was a profitable meeting to those interested in young people's work. Our prayer meeting committee is deserving of credit for making such a meeting possible. We adjourned from this meeting to a short song service on the street in front of Kienle's music store, where Kienle Bros. very kindly offered the use of a piano for the occasion.

It was voted at the meeting to have street services on the first and third Sunday of each month. All members kindly remember these dates and make special effort to be there and help with the singing.

Methodist reporter advises that W. E. Allison will lead their service next Sunday evening and that our union president, Miss Katherine Romig will sing for them. Miss Belle Veiths leads at the Baptist church and Miss Ethel Morris at the Presbyterian. The Presbyterian reporter invites all to come a half-hour early to their meeting and enjoy the social cup of tea with them.

Young people who are not attending the meetings of the union and lining up with different societies in their respective work are depriving themselves of the opportunity for christian service that will promote growth and enthusiasm for the cause for which we stand and are laboring. Reporter.

THE CANNERY SITUATION

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Co-operative Growers' Association held last Saturday, it was decided to take steps to put the business into voluntary receivership, and consequently signatures of the shareholders are being taken agreeing to the proposition.

The parties named in the petition to act as receivers are S. L. Parrett, president of the United States National Bank, W. H. Woodworth, president of the First National Bank, and U. S. G. Miller of the Miller Mercantile Co.

Practically all the shareholders who have been approached, are signing the petition, which assures the consummation of the plan.

The parties named will have full power to dispose of the cannery as opportunity may afford, and the hope is entertained that parties may be interested who will operate the plant.

PUBLIC MEETING OF THE ASSOCIATED CHARITIES

The first public quarterly meeting of the associated charities will be held Monday evening, March 27, at 8 o'clock, in the Baptist church. A full report of all work done during the quarter will be made, the constitution will be read and plan of work explained, and business transacted. Besides this a short program will be rendered. All federated bodies and all individual members are urged to be present and the public is invited.

The Board of Administration will meet at 7 p. m. in the Sunday School room.

IS YOUR FARM PAYING A PROFIT?

Unless your farm pays the operating expenses, a fair rate of interest on the investment, and in addition leaves a reasonable wage for your own labor, it cannot be called a profitable business.

H. F. Keyes, expert in farm management demonstration of the O. A. C., is assisting the county agriculturist in taking farm records for the purpose of trying to help the farmers to analyze their farm business in such a manner that they may be able to discover some of the weak points, if any, in their farm organization, with the hope of increasing the profits for the owners or operators.

Mr. Keyes will remain in the county two weeks, during which time he and Mr. Shrock hope to take 100 farm records. The records taken consist of a complete farm inventory, together with all receipts and disbursements for the last year. From the net returns thus obtained will be deducted the amount of the taxes, depreciation of farm buildings, and 5 per cent interest on the investment. The labor income, by which the farmer's profit or loss is measured, is what remains after all the above expenses have been deducted from the gross returns.

NEW WALNUT BOOK

Southern Pacific Issues Book on Walnut Culture in Western Oregon.

The Southern Pacific has recently issued a handsomely illustrated book "Oregon Walnuts." The text was written by C. I. Lewis, Chief Division of Horticulture, Oregon Agricultural College, Corvallis.

The cover plate shows a collection of Oregon walnuts in natural colors. The interior pictures are taken from various walnut orchards throughout Western Oregon, and show in addition to general views technical illustrations of grafting, pruning, budding, etc.

Prof. Lewis has covered the walnut industry very thoroughly in this book, and it should be in the hands of every walnut grower in this state. He treats first of the construction of walnuts in the United States, and calls attention to the fact that there were imported into the United States last year over thirty million pounds of walnuts. Although Oregon produces but a small proportion of the walnuts grown in this country, nevertheless over one fourth of the young non-bearing walnut trees of the United States are right here in Oregon.

Throughout the book are chapters on the following very interesting subjects: Choosing the orchard, sprouting the seed, grafting, establishing the orchard, setting the trees, pruning, diseases, insects, varieties of walnuts.

Copies of this book can be obtained from Southern Pacific agents or by addressing John M. Scott, General Passenger Agent, Southern Pacific Company, Portland, Oregon.
