Evidently the West Chehalis band has a capable publicity manager. The boys got their pictures in last Sunday's Oregonian as the principal "show" in the big parade in the city Saturday.

Both the republican and progressive national conventions are now in session in Chicago and the fire works are on in full blast. The Hughes sentiment is strong and the reports coming indicate that he will be nominated. In the moose camp several legs are over the traces and if they were in Pendleton, the slogan would be, "let'er buck."

Newberg has been hit hard a number of times by disastrous fires that have destroyed industries representing many thousands of dollars, and one of the worst we have had is the loss of the cannery which occurred on Friday night of last week. For the past two years this plant has furnished much work, both to men and women in large numbers who needed it badly and were glad to get it, and this season the outlook has been such that the prospect for the sale of everything in sight has been most flattering, which would have meant work for more people at the plant and the putting in circulation more money than ever before. What the immediate future holds for the cannery business here it is impossible to state with a certainty at this time. The Valley Canning Co., the recent purchasers of the plant, would have had a new building on the way by this time if the insurance had been adjusted. In fact, new machinery has already been ordered by wire from San Francisco, but as there is to be several days' delay in adjusting the insurance, activities must wait. In the meantime it is up to all to show the management the proper spirit and encourage the rebuilding of the plant, for it means much to Newberg and the surrounding territory. If this goes by now it will be a blow to Newberg that will be severely felt. Our interests are at stake, and it is no time to knock. Let everybody get in and push for the new cannery.

The Graphic has had a varied experience in printing a few extra copies of the paper at different times, with the expectation that calls might come in for them on account of something of special interest published. A year ago the pictures of the high school graduating class were given, and our cash account was not increased a penny by the effort. Last week the pictures of the forty high school graduates were given, and so far two extra copies of the paper have been sold—some room for encouragement, to be sure, but there is room for doubt about our efforts being fully appreciated in the matter of extra expense incurred to please the public.

Last Saturday evening the two silver medal contests were given at the school house. A large audience was present, the class of young ladies and gentlemen did exceptionally well, the medal being awarded to Miss Hazel Boyd. The younger class also did very well, Miss Goldie Nolan receiving the medal. The Misses Thun of Dundee, Mrs. Bixby of Newberg, and the Misses Clara and Violet Staley and Mable Jacobson favored the audience with splendid music at intervals during the evening.

The Inner Secret of New Post Toasties

A glance at one of these new corn flakes reveals novel, little bubbles which are raised by the quick, intense heat of a new process of manufacture.

These bubbles are an identifying feature of these—the only corn flakes with a self-developed, delicious corn flavour—the only flakes that do not have to depend largely on cream and sugar for palatability.

Try some of the New Toasties dry—they're good that way—the children munch them like candy. But of course the delicious new flavour is more pronounced when the flakes are served with sugar and cream.

The New Post Toasties do not waste into "chaff" in the package, and they don't mush down in cream like other flakes. They're a vast improvement over old-fashioned corn flakes and have met with enthusiastic approval everywhere.

THE KING'S COURIERS.

England's "Silver Greyhounds" Have Hard Work and Poor Pay.

The most exciting job that can be held in the United Kingdom is that of king's messenger. He is charged with the delicate and in war time dangerous duty of carrying important state papers in cases when it would be either unwise or impossible to use the telegraph or the postal service.

During war the king's messenger has nearly as difficult a task as has the dispatch rider, who is actually at the front. He must be continually on the lookout for spies, and it is quite within the probabilities that the steamer on which he is traveling may be stopped by an enemy vessel and his valuable papers taken from him.

Owing to the fact that they wear a badge consisting of a silver greyhound surmounted by a crown, king's messengers are nicknamed "silver greyhounds," and indeed they often have to imitate that breed of dog in swiftness and sureness of scent. To qualify for a messengership many things are needed. The candidate must be a man of first rate education, of excellent family and a good linguist.

Considering the qualifications required, the salaries of the "silver greyhounds" are by no means large. The foreign service messengers receive remuneration ranging from $1,250 to $2,000 a year, while those employed on home service get from $650 to $1,225 a year.—Philadelphia Ledger.

A Callous Letter Carrier.
A woman from up state, who recently returned from a visit to friends in Brooklyn, remarked:

"I'm glad to get back home among my own kin and friends, where people ain't too busy or too unfeeling or too stuck up to take some interest in one another.

"Now, there's them postoffice folks down in Brooklyn! I found 'em actually hard hearted. Would you believe it, the man that brings round the letters to Mary's be's so queer and standoffish that when he handed me my husband's postal card telling me how mother had fell and broke her arm, he never so much as opened his lips to give me one word of sympathy! No, sir, not even enough to say, 'Too bad!'"—Exchange.

Taking No Chances.
"I have called," said the complacent visitor to the office of the merchant prince, "to obtain a statement of your assets and liabilities."
"Which of the mercantile agencies do you represent?"
"Neither. I am considering making an application for your daughter's hand, and it has always been my rule to be sure I'm right before I go ahead."
—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Long Winded Discussion.
"Pa, what is meant by filibustering?"
"Talking against time, my son."
"Do you ever filibuster, pa?"
"No, my boy. With the exception of that imposed by physical exhaustion, there is no limit to the debates in this particular house."
—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Spiteful.
"Why do you hate him?"
"He has been knocking me to the girl I go with."
"What did he tell her?"
"What my salary is."
—Houston Post.

Out to Be In.
Never be in your place of business when a person wants to borrow money of you, because if you are in you will be out, but if you are out you will be in.—London Answers.

Extremely Careful.
"I want a careful chauffeur, one who takes no chances."
"That's me, sir. I require references or salary in advance."
—Judge.

PREPAREDNESS FOR THE HARVEST TIME

Do your planning for the coming harvest now. Make sure that you can take care of your crops to the best advantage when they are ready to cut. Don't take chances with inferior or worn-out machinery. It's too costly. A few days' delay on account of breakage or other trouble may lose you a big part of your crop money.
