THURSDAY, JUNE 29, 1916

The losses of the ice man are being made up by the wood dealer.

It looked awhile like we were going to have a hard winter, but the weatherwise say that after the Fourth we may look for a thaw.

The expected break with Mexico has not yet become a reality, and there is hope that the calamity may be averted. The Oregon troops are being rushed to the border for service.

The merry-go-round has arrived again and is being set up, as usual, on the lot adjoining the Graphic office. Possibly it is expecting too much, but since it is a new outfit this season, the office force is hoping the music box may be persuaded to grind out some tune, other than the one that has been given us regularly for the past six or eight years.

The American Nut Journal says that ex-Senator Jonathan Bourne Jr. is developing twenty-seven hundred acres of pecan and Satsuma orange orchards ten miles from Mobile, Alabama. Somebody ought to tell Jonathan that Oregon, the state that made him senator, is something of a nut country, and that it might be well for him to come out from Washington, D. C., and renew his acquaintance with the state.

A Portland woman in writing to the Oregonian to express her thanks to that paper for assistance in helping her to find homes for her kittens, says she had inquiries from several valley towns, including Newberg. Well, well, has it come to this, that we must send away from home for our cats? It would seem from the fierceness of the yowls we heard at the midnight hour, recently, that the local supply is sufficient for "home consumption."

The books are again open for registering voters and all who failed to get their names down before the primary election was held should make no delay in lining up and have the matter attended to. We are in for another fight against booze at the November election and those who are interested in defeating this new move of the brewing interests should see to it that every "dry" voter is registered. If we get the voters out we will win. If we lose, the stay-at-home voters will be responsible for the defeat.

THE FELLOWS WHO MAKE GOOD

Prof. Ralph W. Rees, who recently came from Amherst, Massachusetts, for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Rees, and whose election to a full professorship in extension pomology at Cornell, New York, was recently mentioned in the Graphic, is said by Prof. Lewis, chief of the division at O. A. C., to be one of the best horticultural authorities in the country. His father and grandfather before him were practical horticulturists, giving a good foundation to build on, and he had the good sense to not stop short of thorough preparation, as so many young men do, hence his ability, and this call to fill one of the big positions in his line of endeavor.

Newberg has good reason to be proud of the success Mr. Rees has attained. He was born and raised in this community where he attended the common schools and where he did his first college work, graduating from Pacific College in 1907.

Paul V. Maris, another Newberg product and a member of the same class with Mr. Rees, was here Saturday from O. A. C., where he was called recently from Missouri to take charge of the county agricultural expert work. Mr. Maris is another man who has not been satisfied to quit with just a fairly good preparation. He gained much valuable experience as state dairy and food commissioner and later was connected with the dairy and animal industry department of the Colorado State School, going from there to the University of Missouri where he took a full course, this being considered one of the strongest institutions in the country, especially in dairying. These instances are cited to show that the top places don't come to young men by chance; that they come to the fellows who have the grit and determination to fit themselves to fill the top places, and who do not make the fatal mistake of taking the short cut.

ABOUT SELLING EXTRAS

The Coquille Sentinel in commenting on recent editorial mention made in the Graphic respecting the sale of extra copies of the paper says:

"But what the Graphic says recalls an experience of ours back in the early eighties of the last century—say a generation ago—which may prove a pointer for Brother Woodward.

"Our paper had been published on Friday as usual and we were rather wearily and languidly wending our way down town at a late hour Saturday morning, when we learned that there had been a lynching in town during the previous night, a man who was in jail on the charge of having butchered his mother, brother and sister out in a lonely farmhouse a short time before, having been taken out and hung to a railroad trestle over the main street of the city. We had already secured a cut of the victim to use in a report of the coming trial, and it didn't take many seconds to decide the time was ripe for an extra.

"So we went to it and wrote all we could learn about the lynching, attended the coroner's inquest in session that morning and by noon were compelled to lock the press room door to keep out the crowd that wanted to get papers.

"When one edition had been exhausted we printed another, and before the Kansas City papers could reach that locality, 150 miles away, with a reprint of our story, we had disposed of 1500 copies and added $75 to our bank account."

A lynching in Newberg would no doubt create a demand for extra copies of any paper that would dish up the horrible details, but we hope to get along without such a stunt being a necessity.

DUNDEE

Mrs. W. S. Allan is visiting relatives at Prescott, Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Meyer and Mr. and Mrs. John Herring are rejoicing over the arrival of sons at their respective homes.

Miss Emma Bryan, of LaFayette, and the Misses Ardis, Velma and Doris Champlain, of Portland, are visiting at the home of their uncle, W. S. Allan.

The 1916 class of nine from the Dundee high school was the largest class ever graduated from our school. The graduating exercises were held in the Community Hall and were immensely interesting. Prof. Killpatrick, of the University of Oregon, delivered the address. David Marr was valedictorian, and Blanche Vedder delivered the salutatory. David Marr having the highest rank has his choice of five scholarships, and Blanche Vedder won the scholarship to Willamette University. Music for the occasion was furnished by the high school, under the direction of Prof. J. P. Powell. Prof. Killpatrick, in a recent letter to Mr. Powell, compliments Dundee highly on the music in the schools. E. W. Marr, president of the school board, presented the diplomas to the following pupils: Blanche Vedder,

Bernice Keyes, Ella Griffith, Ralph Lehmann, David Marr, Fred Herring, Francis Keyes, Elmo Shannahan and Emil Sanders.

On Friday evening Mrs. Warren's class of four graduates—Sophie Groth, Bernice Keyes, Emil Sanders and Elmo Shannahan—from the tenth grade in music gave a very enjoyable musicale in Community Hall. They were assisted by members of the Dundee orchestra. The following program was given:

Selection.....Dundee orchestra
Piano selection.....Emil Shannahan
Cornet solo.....David Marr
Schubert's Serenade.....Bernice Keyes
Violin solo.....Scott Livengood
Piano selection.....Mrs. Warren
Piano selection.....Uel Marr
Bass solo.....Earl Alfond
Trombone solo.....Emil Sanders
Piano selection.....Sophie Groth

On Saturday evening the less advanced pupils gave an interesting program.

CHEHALEM CENTER

Miss Ruth Meyer is visiting Portland relatives at present.

Miss Christine Meyer, of Portland, came out home over Sunday.

Wedding bells will chime during the week. Particulars next week.

W. R. Everest and family were visitors with relatives near Dayton Sunday.

Mrs. Elizabeth Palmer left for Rainier, Washington, Monday. E. Hodson and Miss Edith Minchin will occupy the pulpit in her absence.

Mr. Hansen, lately from Dakota, Ed. Ericson and Miss Lotie Foss of Portland, were visitors at the home of Mrs. C. G. Jacobson the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Montzingo came out home last Saturday evening. Their many young friends gave them a jingling reception, by ringing of bells, tip pans, blank cartridges, etc., after which they were invited inside, where they spent the time pleasantly until a late hour.

Rev. and Mrs. H. G. Crocker and son George motored over to Clackamas Saturday taking Archie Pickard and Mrs. Lena Moorhouse for a farewell visit to see Charley Pickard before he starts to Mexico to help defend the stars and stripes. Mrs. Moorhouse and Mr. Pickard went on into Portland, returning Sunday evening. Mrs. Moorhouse has another son, Gilbert, on the warship "Charleston" which is on duty guarding the Panama canal.

REX

Miss Tessie Gard was a Rex visitor Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Wallace, the father of Mrs. A. H. Dean, is visiting here.

A. H. Dean has purchased an auto. We understand that it is a Ford.

Mr. and Mrs. Wheaton were week-end visitors at the home of A. H. Dean.

Claud Cruikshank and family are camping in Springbrook and picking cherries.

Mr. Bradbery, son-in-law of Mrs. H. P. Burnham, is living in Rex. He is going to haul cord wood.

Miss Madge Morrison came home Friday. She has been working in Portland for several months.

At the annual school meeting Monday night N. L. Wiley retained his old office as clerk and S. Sanderman was elected as the new member of the board.

A community picnic is being planned for July 4th and will be held in N. L. Wiley's grove. A good program will be given and also a basket dinner. Everybody is invited.

FARM NEWS BY COUNTY AGENT

Eleven silos will be built in various parts of the county within the next week. Two of these will be built on the farms of W. Forest and John Martin, at Whiteson. George Dissmore, five or six miles east of Amity, is building one, and so is D. L. Lambert on the Dr. Calbreath farm in the Chehalis Valley. The material for the other seven is being shipped to Carlton to be erected on the farms owned by the following: X. E. Hall, four miles north of McMinnville; J. L. Murdock, A. V. Nelson and J. H. Teegarden, in Yamhill; G. H. Griner and Bert Page, south of Yamhill; and Ernest Jernstadt, of Carlton. Anyone interested in silo construction will do well to get in touch with the nearest of these farmers and find out on what particular date his silo will be erected. Many more silos will be built in the summer to be filled in the fall. It will not be well to postpone ordering the material much longer as the mills have heavy orders and several have notified me that they cannot take any more orders this year. With saw mills the same as with any other concern, first come, first served.

M. S. Shrock,
County Agricultural Agent.

APPOINTMENT FOR U. S. NAVAL ACADEMY

The Navy Department has recently called upon Representative Hawley to submit nominations of a principal and three alternates from which to select a midshipman for admission to the United States Naval Academy, and requests him to submit his nominations before July 13 so that arrangements may be made for their examination at a convenient local point by the Civil Service Commission on July 27.

Ronald C. Glover, secretary of Congressman Hawley, has made arrangements for the holding of a competitive examination at Salem, to which all ambitious young men who are actual residents of the First Congressional District between the ages of 16 and twenty years, on July 27, 1916, are invited. The requirements of the Department are severe, especially as to physical condition and knowledge of algebra and geometry and no person will be examined if he has already failed in a similar examination this year, unless specifically recommended for examination by the Navy Department.

Drs. Morse and Robertson will conduct the physical examination at their offices in the Bank of Commerce building Friday afternoon, June 30, and on July 1, commencing at nine o'clock in the morning, a mental examination will be conducted at the Willamette University by Prof. P. J. Kuntz. Each applicant will be required to pay a fee of $2 at each examination, or $4 in all.

From the list of eligibles established by the examination Representative Hawley will make his nominations to the Navy Department and they will be examined at a convenient local point on July 27 for admission to the Academy.

ROCK ME TO SLEEP

(Published by request.)

Backward, turn backward, O Time in your flight,
Make me a child again, just for tonight!
Mother, come back from that echoless shore,
Take me again to your heart, as of yore.
Kiss from my forehead the furrows of care,
Smooth the few silver threads out of my hair;
Over my slumbers your loving watch keep;
Rock me to sleep, mother—rock me to sleep!
Backward, flow backward, O tide of the years!
I am so weary of toil and of tears—
Toil without recompense, tears all in vain—
Take them and give me my childhood again!
I have grown weary of dust and decay;

Weary of flinging my soul-wealth away!
Weary of sowing for others to reap;
Rock me to sleep, mother—rock me to sleep!
Tired of the hollow, the base and untrue,
Mother, O mother, my heart calls for you!
Many a Summer the grass has been green,
Bloomed and faded, our faces between,
Yet with deep yearning and passionate pain
Long I, tonight for your presence again.
Come, from the silence, so long and so deep—
Rock me to sleep, mother—rock me to sleep!
Over my heart, in the days that are flown,
No love like mother-love ever has shown;
No other worship abides or endures,
Faithful, unselfish and patient, like yours;
None like a mother can charm away pain
From the sick soul and the world-weary brain.
Slumber's soft calms o'er my heavy lids creep—
Rock me to sleep, mother—rock me to sleep!
Come, let your brown hair, just lighted with gold,
Fall on your shoulders again, as of old;
Let it drop over my forehead tonight,
Shading my faint eyes away from the light;
For in its sunny-edged shadows, once more,
Haply will throng the sweet visions of yore;
Lovingly, softly, its bright billows sweep—
Rock me to sleep, mother—rock me to sleep!
Mother, dear mother, the years have been long
Since I last listened to your lullaby song;
Sing then, and unto my soul it shall seem
Womanhood's years have been only a dream.
Clasped to your heart in a loving embrace,
With your light lashes just sweeping my face,
Never hereafter to wake or to weep;
Rock me to sleep, mother—rock me to sleep!
