CHAUTAUQUA AT GLADSTONE PARK

Splendid Attractions Offered from July 7 to 19 and Big Attendance Expected

The Willamette Valley Chautauqua which meets annually at Gladstone Park offers a splendid array of talent this season, July 7-19.

Chautauqua music will again be a big feature. In addition to the New York City Marine band, the Kekuku Hawaiians, Witek's Hungarian orchestra and other auditorium attractions, the Chautauqua chorus of 100 voices under the direction of Professor J. H. Cowen will be a 4 o'clock concert attraction each Sunday afternoon during the assembly.

Prominent Soloists to Appear

Among the soloists July 9 with the Chautauqua chorus will be Hartridge Whipp, baritone; Norman Hoose, tenor; Mrs. Virginia S. Hutchinson, contralto; Miss Oldie Peterson, soprano, and Robert E. Millard, flute. On Sunday, the 16th, Mrs. Jane Burns Albert, Mrs. Virginia Hutchinson, Joseph P. Moulder, tenor, and Hartridge Whipp, baritone, with Halfred Young, cornetist, will be the soloists. The chorus, with the addition of these splendid soloists, will undoubtedly prove to be one of the finest musical efforts ever given at Chautauqua. Five thousand people heard Professor Cowen's chorus last year.

Features are High Class

The program, in addition to the morning classes in Shakespeare, music, physical culture and Bible study methods, and also the daily forum hours, contains the following big features for the main auditorium, for the afternoon and evening:

July 7—Ionian Serenaders and S. Platt Jones, humorist.

July 8—Gullatto Trio, Dr. Elliott A. Boyle and Victor Mardock, lecturer.

July 9—Sacred concert, Lyric Opera Co.; lecture-sermon, "The Vision Glorious," D. Ernest J. Sias. Sacred concert, Chautauqua chorus.

July 10—Royal Hungarian orchestra; Mrs. Harriet Gunn-Roberson, lecturer; Samuel Lancaster, illustrated lecture on Columbia Highway.

July 11—Frederick Vining Fisher, lecture; Elizabeth deBarrie Gill, harpist.

July 12—Kekuku Hawaiians; Miss Nola Crites, lecture; "An Evening in Hawaii," Frederick J. Halton, lecture.

July 13—Comus Players; Walter A. King, lecture.

July 14—International Opera Co.; Judge R. M. Wannamaker, lecture.

July 15—Skibinsky-Welch Co.;

Charles Zueblin, lecture; Lou Beauchamp, lecture.

July 16—New York City Marine band; Dr. Robert Sutcliffe, lecture-sermon; Chautauqua chorus.

July 17—Francis Lab die, impersonations; the Riner Sisters, entertainers; Antarctic Expedition movies, Dr. W. A. Hunsberger, lecturer.

July 18—Sequoia Male Quartette; Wood Briggs, lecture; Sylvester A. Long, lecture.

July 19—Robert Parker Miles, lecture; the Kaffir Boys' choir; annual display Chautauqua fireworks.

Among the well known speakers to appear at the various "forum" hours are noted Rufus Holman, Samuel Lancaster, S. Benson, John B. Yeon, Henry McGinn, Eleanor Sanford-Large and others.

WHEATLAND WALNUT TREE

A tree that is bearing walnuts on grafts a year old and is predicted to make $200 a year for its owner inside of five years is owned by Clyde LaFollette at Wheatland. The tree is a pioneer black walnut standing 65 feet high, planted 60 years ago by a pioneer who crossed the plains by the name of Hendricks and who was the store keeper for years at Wheatland. The tree is five feet through at the base.

Last year Mr. LaFollette, a pioneer fruit grower of Wheatland, decided to utilize this black walnut to better purposes and grafted to it 60 English walnut grafts. Sunday he was removing the sacks from these grafts, many of the growing shoots having grown through, and found the grafts bearing walnuts. Indications are the tree will have two bushels of nuts this year. Figuring on that basis and the size of the tree Mr. LaFollette calculated the tree would mean $200 to him in production inside of five years.—Sheridan Sun.

COUNTRY LIFE COUNCIL MEETS

The Yamhill County Country Life Council met in the county agriculturist's office on Wednesday afternoon of last week. The committees reported on the different projects assigned them, after which a general discussion of the work followed.

The following were appointed to prepare papers on the different subjects: Mrs. Pearl Smith on community laundries; Mrs. J. U. Smith on home beautification; Mrs. G. W. Sharp on cooking for harvest hands; and Mrs. J. C. Cooper on modern kitchen conveniences.

The next meeting will be held on Friday, July 28th, at 10 a. m. with a basket dinner in the park.

PICNIC DINNER AND DANCE FIRE AT REX ON FOURTH

Rex celebrated the national holiday with a large community picnic and basket dinner. The picnic was held through the kindness of N. L. Wiley, fruit and poultry raiser, in the latter's grove, where a very appropriate and interesting program was rendered. In the evening a real old fashioned bonfire was enjoyed by the picnickers. A better or cooler place could not have been offered for a community picnic than Mr. Wiley's grove. It had been previously cleaned up and tables and benches arranged by the young people, and "old glory" could be seen waving in different parts of the grove.

A great deal of credit is due the ladies who composed the cats committee and the program committee for the success of the picnic, while the young men furnished the ice cream. A most delicious and appetizing basket dinner was enjoyed by everyone. In the afternoon a good program of fourteen numbers, consisting of recitations, speeches, songs and contests was rendered. Some of the principal numbers on the program were: A recitation by Miss Edith Sanderman, entitled "An Ode to the Flag." The songs "The Star Spangled Banner" and "The Battle Cry of Freedom" were rendered by the Rex young men's quartet. A historical review of Rex and vicinity, dating back 27 years, was given by Mrs. J. Woodworth. Mr. Wiley gave a very interesting narrative on his experiences when they crossed the plains in 1860. Other features were, A. Astleford an appropriate speech befitting the American position in the world war; Mr. W. G. Warnick a poem entitled "Independence Day."

The winners of the contests were: tie contest, Mrs. Jas. Kane; potato race, N. L. Wiley; nail driving contest, a tie between Miss Alice Landry and Mrs. A. H. Dean. The other numbers were the song "America," sung by everyone; invocation by Mrs. Leiter; poem by Miss Ruth Kane; talk by Mrs. Leiter; recitation by Miss O. Powell, entitled "A Warning."

After supper, which was served in the grove, some interesting games were played by the young folks, after which a good old fashioned bonfire was made, at which marshmallows were toasted and popcorn was popped.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

The regular meeting will convene at the city park, or if raining, at the home of Mrs. Bowerman, next Wednesday at 2:30 p. m. Subject for discussion is "Health and Heredity." Supt. Louisa P. Round.

IT WAS A MOST GLORIOUS FOURTH

Pilgrims Fathers Landed Safely at Plymouth Rock, and Here
We Are a Free, Independent People.

It is the morning after.

The sweet strains of the music box at the merry-go-round are stilled in the cool morning air, while the tired picnickers are snoozing in the tent.

The streets, with a woe-begone appearance, are almost deserted, with here and there a lad kicking about in the refuse at the wrecks of the refreshment stands, hoping to find a stray nickel or a stick of gum, and with the business men making an attempt to clean their fronts of refuse in the way of confetti, exploded fire crackers, waste paper, peanut hulls, discarded decorations and everything else that was sacrificed in the effort to show the old bird a good time on the Glorious Fourth.

The tired feeling is evidenced on every hand, with the apparent need of an extra holiday to rest from the one we have just enjoyed. Yes, that word "enjoyment" is used advisedly, for was not the day as perfect from a weather standpoint as ever was experienced in any country, and did everybody smile and do their best to make everybody else smile and enjoy the day.

The parade was not as large as we have had before, and it was a little late in starting, but it was there just the same. Larkin-Prince float, which was awarded the prize, was a beauty, and the battleship Oregon, displayed by Cyr's garage, was a work of art. For the children and youngsters the log cabin and colored family, presented by the Nash second hand store, was a special attraction. The Moose float was large and imposing and created much favorable comment.

The Newberg Fire Department showed the two extremes by presenting two floats, one a new and up-to-date chemical auto outfit and the other a broken down wagon with discarded apparatus.

At the park we made the positive and conclusive declaration that "we are a free and independent people" now and forever, one and inseparable. Our highly esteemed fellow citizen, the gentleman from Georgia, R. J. Moore, graced the occasion by taking the stand and introducing the orator of the day, the Hon. Grant B. Dimick, of Oregon City, who landed our progenitors at Plymouth Rock on the bleak New England coast, with a hard winter and starvation staring them in the face, but pulled 'em through safely, else he would not have been here to tell the tale, and the rest of us would not have furnished him that large and appreciative audience.

The crowd was cosmopolitan, every section of Yamhill county being represented, and with a good representation from Polk and Marion counties. Some think it was the largest crowd we have ever had in Newberg, but anyway it was all that could be desired and the order was most excellent.

A vexatious delay was occasioned at the ball grounds by the Carlton squad who had difficulty in making their line-up. The first half showed fairly good ball playing but in the latter half the Carlton pitcher weakened and the nine went to pieces, the final score being 6 to 2 in favor of McMinnville.

At the ball grounds before the game was played, an exhibition of horseback riding was given by gentlemen and ladies, the prizes going to Mrs. Frank Baughman and Mrs. Littlefield, wife of Dr. Harry Littlefield.

The officials promised to furnish the Graphic the names of the winners of the various races given on the street in the afternoon but failed to make good, and consequently we are unable to publish the list.

NEW CANNERY DOING BUSINESS

On Tuesday morning, only three weeks from the time work was begun on the new cannery building, the plant opened up for business and the canning season was duly opened by the blowing of the whistle and turning on the electric motors that operate the machines.

Although it was the Glorious Fourth, 40 women and girls showed their loyalty to the management by responding to the call to save the fruit, and worked faithfully throughout the day.

Other helpers are being added as more machinery is being gotten into shape and about 100 are now being employed, with more to be added later when all is in place.

Cherries and berries are coming in rapidly since the clouds and rains have passed away, and there will be something doing at the new plant from this time on throughout the season.

TAKING FARM RECORDS

F. J. Dietsch of the agricultural college is doing post graduate work in farm management by assisting county agent M. S. Shrock taking farm records in Yamhill county. Students taking farm management must spend a portion of the time in the field where they learn from the farmers what is actually being done. Taking 100 farm records is one of the projects Mr. Shrock started out on last March but had to abandon temporarily on account of other pressing work. Mr. Dietsch will complete the work without cost to the county and will earn credits for himself while doing so.

W. R. C. NOTES

The Woman's Relief Corps held their last regular meeting June 22nd. The next meeting will be held on July 13th at the usual place, when two new members will be admitted to the Order. A full attendance is desired.

The ladies turned out in good force for the Independence Day parade, going afterward to the city park where they presented the city fathers with a flag to be used at the city hall. The presentation speech was made by the President, Mrs. Minnie Byers.

BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Clemmens Give Feast in Her Honor

On Tuesday evening the members of the local W. R. C. and their husbands gathered at the home of Mrs. Wm. Clemmens, corner of Washington and Sheridan streets, to do her honor, this date being her sixty-ninth birthday anniversary.

A reading was given by Mrs. Dart and remarks appropriate to the occasion were made by H. M. Peebles, followed by a response on the part of the hostesses.

The children of Mrs. Clemmens furnished a cake for the occasion bearing 69 candles, she lighting the center one and the others being lighted, each by one of the guests. Music was furnished by Keinle's orchestra and by the Gregory sisters, the latter giving vocal and instrumental selections.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Clemmens, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Clemmens, Mrs. Fred Clemmens, Kenneth, Ruth and Catherine Clemmens; the following named gentlemen with their wives: J. L. Marshall, John Moore, G. W. Byers, N. E. Britt, Henry Pittman, Levi Dobbins, L. K. Vantress, Henry Hopkins, H. M. Peebles, W. M. Woodruff, T. H. Miller, John Pitts, H. R. Stevens, D. B. Way, H. A. Hyde, C. A. Dixon; Mrs. Frank Mills, Mrs. Mary A. Douglas, Mrs. Dora M. G. Pike, Mrs. Hayes, C. P. Carr, B. H. Langworthy, Silas Hanson, Fred Ames.

LOGANBERRY JUICE PLANT IN OPERATION

No, you can't keep Newberg down. A lot of reverses have come at times that have been a little disconcerting, but we are up and at it again.

The latest is the opening of the new plant this week for the manufacture of loganberry and all kinds of fruit juices. Jones Bros. of Portland and Watsonville, California are the men behind the industry and the success they have attained elsewhere makes good promise of success here.

The plant is just getting started this week but things are rapidly taking on the beautiful loganberry hue about the big building, and likewise the growers are chirping up rapidly, for they think they see a bright future for loganberry growing in this section.

C. H. Jones, who is out from Portland having an oversight of the work, says he is having a little difficulty in getting the growers sufficiently impressed with the necessity of allowing the berries to ripen thoroughly before picking. He says that while a cannery can handle berries that are not so ripe, they must be well ripened before they can be handled at a profit by a juice plant.

He is able to show by analysis that the well ripened berry is heavier than the one half ripe, and consequently brings the most money to the grower.

The juice as a finished product is much better, and as the trade is to be built up, it is to the interest of all concerned to pool their interests and use nothing but the best.

Welcome, Jones Bros., with your new industry, and may it grow and prosper.
