Notice Against Stock Running at Large
 At the General Election held in Yamhill County, Oregon, on the 7th day of November, 1916, the voters of said County voted on the question of stock running at large, and the majority of all the votes cast in said County at such election was against stock running at large in the entire County of Yamhill, State of Oregon, as a whole.
 Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that in sixty days from the date of this notice, and at all times after the expiration of sixty days from the date of this notice, it shall and will be unlawful for stock to run at large in Yamhill County Oregon, as a whole, or any part thereof, under penalty of Ten Dollars ($10.00) for the first offense, and Twenty Dollars ($20.00) for each and every subsequent offense, to be recovered from the owner of the stock in a civil action in the name of the State of Oregon before a Justice of the Peace in the District in which such owner or keeper, or either of them, may reside, and if there be no Justice of the Peace in such District, then before any Justice of the Peace in said Yamhill County, and it shall be the duty of each Constable in any Justice of the Peace District, and of each Road Supervisor in any Road District, to enforce the provisions of said law.
 This notice dated and signed at McMinnville, Oregon, this 22nd day of November, 1916.

Revival Services
 AT SPRINGBROOK
 Special revival services are in progress at the Springbrook Friends Church in charge of Rev. Homer L. Cox, of Portland.
 Rev. Cox is an evangelist of wide experience. His sermons are logical, convincing and full of interest. All are invited to attend these services. You will enjoy the special singing by Mr. and Mrs. Cox. Meeting every afternoon and evening except Saturday.

The Modern Way
 Simply dissolve one little harmless Leswerk Laundry Tablet in one gallon of boiling water with one half bar of good soap, mixing thoroughly. Add this solution to the wash boiler containing warm water, then put in the white clothes, put on the back of the stove and boil 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. That's all. Then all the clothes will require will be rinsing and your washing is done. Could anything be simpler? For sale by W. P. Mulheron, 409 West Third st. 3tf

C. Y. P. U. NOTES

Last Sunday night the Christian Endeavor had great interest shown in the subject, "The Consecration of Business Life." A very large attendance shows that the Endeavor is growing.

Nellie Crow will have charge of the Presbyterian Y. P. S. C. E. next Sunday. Topic, "Defy Evil," 1 Kings 21:15-20.

Mr. Schnell proved very interesting at the Methodist Epworth League last Sunday, speaking along the line of problems that confront the League and how to overcome them. The chapter is growing steadily. Several new members were taken in at the last meeting.

The Union social at the M. E. church was a great success. Many of the young people were present. A program of seven numbers was given, preceded by games played in the basement. After the program, refreshments were served. The decorations were very beautiful and in harmony with the occasion.

Several failed to report this week. Get in your items by Monday afternoon.

All societies have interesting meetings every Sunday at 6:30. You are invited to attend any one of them if you do not already do so. Press Com.

A MESSAGE ON A HAIRBRUSH.

Clever Ruse of a Convict and His Confederate Outside the Jail.

In an interesting criminal case a message was conveyed to a prisoner by a most ingenious device. The prisoner gave the guard a small coin, asking him to purchase a hairbrush. That evening when the guard went off duty he stopped in a little shop in the village and endeavored to buy the brush for the prisoner. But the shopkeeper thought that a hairbrush could not be bought for the trifling sum which the prisoner had intrusted to the guard.

As the guard came out of the shop he found an old peddler at the door. The peddler had a variety of junk in his basket, and among other second hand articles conspicuously displayed was a hairbrush with a smooth pine handle. The guard asked the peddler what he would take for the brush. The peddler named a small sum. The guard offered him the coin which the prisoner had intrusted to him and which the peddler finally accepted.

This brush the guard turned over to the prisoner. There was no mark of any kind on it. Nevertheless, it conveyed a vital message to the man in the prison, which he was able to read by soaking the handle of the brush in his water jug.

The method by which this message had been put on the handle of the brush is exceedingly interesting. The letters forming the message had been cut in the soft wood of the handle. After this the wood of the handle had been scraped with a piece of glass until the letters cut into the wood had entirely disappeared. They were no longer visible. The wooden handle seemed smooth, and to the eye bore no trace of any graven character or any indentation.

But the fact is that the fibers of wood where pressure has been exerted to cut in letters are compressed below the cuts and remain thus compressed, although after the letters are scraped off no trace of them is visible. If, however, the wood is soaked in water, after a time these compressed fibers swell and the writing stands out in clear relief.

Foreign authorities tell us that the finer the grain of wood the better it is adapted to this form of secret communication. They insist that all articles formed of wood taken at criminal rendezvous or introduced into prisons ought to be examined with the greatest care.—Melville D. Post in Saturday Evening Post.

An Interesting Record.
 The cornerstone laying had been a brilliant success. The weather was fine, the speeches eloquent, the music impressive. The master of ceremonies was very well satisfied with himself, yet with the dispersal of the crowd he became strangely excited. Hurriedly he sought the master mason.
 "Is it possible to lift the cornerstone again?" he asked.
 "I am afraid not, sir," said the mason. "Have you any particular reason for asking?"
 "I have," said the master of ceremonies. "I've left my hat in the receptacle along with the records."—New York Times.

A Suspicion.
 "That new cook arrived Saturday and quit Monday!" remarked Mrs. Cronstons.
 "That's the way they all do," replied her husband. "It's a new scheme for week end holidays."—Washington Star.

And Polished to Boot.
 "Banks is a whole souled fellow."
 "Well heeled, too, I understand."—Boston Transcript.
Symptoms of It.
 "Is there any insanity in Billy's family?"
 "They all speak highly of Billy!"—Puck.

By speaking of our misfortunes we oft relieve them.—Cornellie.
