Herbert C. Hoover assures Senator McNary that Oregon apples will be gotten to market when they are ready. "Bert" got his first taste of Oregon apples here at Newberg when a lad and he knows how they will be wanted.

The big boosting campaign that has been on for garden planting should now be followed up by a word of cheer for the man with the hoe. He will need it, for the sun will be hot and the flesh will be weak under these new and trying circumstances.

The annual toll of human lives made by the waters of Oregon was a little late in starting this season, owing to cool weather, but there is yet time for a lot of work for the undertakers. Two Sherwood young men were drowned in the Tualatin while bathing last Saturday.

Committees are busy at work canvassing all sections of Newberg, the surrounding country, the whole county and state in the interest of the Red Cross fund and the people are responding readily, but the Graphic will not attempt to give any figures this week.

Prof. R. W. Kirk, who was superintendent of the Newberg schools for eight years, and who is now at the head of the Tillamook schools, says the Tillamook school board has taken a firm stand against the tobacco habit among students by making a ruling that any student who uses tobacco in a public place is a subject for expulsion, and that the ruling is enforced. If the Newberg school board will take a like stand they will be sustained by a very large majority of the people.

Despite the fact that there are many other things to claim the attention of the people just now, the outlook for liberal patronage of the Chautauqua that is coming July 8-13 is very flattering. Inquiries are coming in from out-of-town people and a good sale of season tickets is expected. A call is made for a meeting of all those who signed the agreement to give financial backing to the Chautauqua, to be held at the city hall on next Monday evening.

W. W. Nickel of McMinnville and Carlton has been appointed by Governor Withycombe as county judge to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Judge Dodson. Although Jesse Edwards was not a candidate for the place, his appointment was urged by a strong committee of representative business men of Newberg, who called on the governor. The latter told the committee that he considered Mr. Edwards to be one of the best qualified men in the county for the place, but that owing to the fact that this section of the county was already well represented on the county board, he deemed it wise to select a man from some other section. He then waited two days and named Mr. Nickel, who comes from the same section of the county—McMinnville and Carlton—that Commissioner Cummins hails from. Possibly if the governor had not kept his political ear quite so close to the ground, in order to give heed to the would-be political boss of the county, he would not have put himself in this awkward position, after having given the reason he advanced for not naming Mr. Edwards for the place.

The Oregon Voter makes the following timely suggestions:

A narrow spirit of vindictiveness is manifesting itself in different parts of Oregon towards those counties which voted heavily against the road bonds. It is urged that adverse majorities be construed as evidence that such counties do not favor the permanent improvement of trunk highways by the state within their limits.

This spirit is unfortunate. The people of all the counties voted honestly, according to their best light and to punish them by discrimination in apportionment of road funds would be to commit a hideous injustice.

Let bygones be bygones so far as the road campaign is concerned—or any other campaign, for that matter. To array section against section in our state, and instill class hatred would be a sad mistake. Use the road funds impartially to build up every section of Oregon, and connect all counties by a good system of permanent trunk highways. That will tend to unite Oregon, and a united Oregon is the greatest need of this whole state. Be broad; avoid engendering bitterness; that is the way to unite Oregon and start her forward on the path of progress.

POLAND CHINA HOGS AND JERSEY CATTLE

A tour of the county was recently made by something more than sixty people, "personally conducted" by M. S. Shrock, County Agent, and a number of stock farms visited. From the notes sent out regarding the trip the following items are taken:

Herbert Willard, who now owns the Snell farm noted as the original home of the greatest Jersey herd in the world, is devoting his time chiefly to Poland China hogs. With his winnings at the state fair most readers are familiar. Professor Potter was asked to criticize a bunch of October gilts, and responded by saying that no criticism could be offered. "Such hogs speak for themselves," he said.

It almost staggers one to attempt to do justice to the next herd visited, that of Ed Cary's. With the females from the old Snell herd Mr. Cary by careful selection of bulls and systematic records, has produced a herd that will average higher in production than any other Jersey herd in the world. Uniform in type and uniform in prepotency, bulls from this herd have stamped the Cary herd characteristics on the offspring of half a hundred other herds throughout the Northwest. More than that—eastern breeders of note have turned westward for their breeding stock, and Mr. Cary modestly informed those near enough to hear his muffled tones that three head of females had recently been sold to a New York breeder for a total of $4,500, one of the three bringing $2,000 and her calf $600. He also recently sold a bull to a man at Columbus, Ohio.

CHEHALEM CENTER

Mrs. Mita Stuart is visiting her sister, Mrs. Walter Hess.

Mrs. C. L. Johnson is spending some time at the home of Mary Johnson and family.

Two teams thoroughly canvassed this community Tuesday soliciting funds for the Red Cross, Z. L. Chamberlain and W. R. Everest, Rev. H. G. Crocker and F. L. Strait. They were very successful.

At the school election Monday W. A. Baker was re-elected, which will make his fourth consecutive term. Mr. Baker is a man of good judgment in school affairs and public spirited. Mrs. Carrie Johnson was elected as clerk, making four years for her as clerk.

Forest Staley motored to Vancouver again last Thursday taking Mr. and Mrs. Frank Johnson, Mary, Marguerite and Teddy Johnson out to the barracks to bid farewell to Carlos Johnson and Victor Hendrickson as they departed with their company to Fort Riley, Kansas, to go into training for the cavalry.

The W. C. T. U. ladies held their meeting at the home of Mrs. M. P. Johnson last Wednesday, Mrs. K. L. Tangen in the chair. The flower mission superintendent gave a good report. The social held after the business session was in honor of little Alice Ramsey, it being her first birthday. A number of the ladies were present, bringing their little ones. Ice cream was served. Next meeting at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Meyer.

The Parent-Teacher Association held their meeting Monday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Eli Evans and little daughters, of Newberg, were visitors. The annual election of officers took place, Mrs. Jennie Post being re-elected as president; Mrs. Marie Tangen, vice president; Mrs. M. P.

Johnson, secretary; W. R. Everest, treasurer. After the usual discussions of school affairs Mr. Everest solicited for the Red Cross work. Motion made and carried to donate $5 to the Red Cross fund which was raised at the close of the meeting. An old-fashioned spelling bee was held, Miss Clara Staley being the last on the floor, was champion.

Witness, Proceed!

Judge—"Were you present when the trouble started between the man and his wife?"

Witness—"Yessir, I was at deir weddin', ef dat's whur yo' means, sah."

In a cemetery at Middlebury, Vermont, is a stone, erected by a widow to her loving husband, bearing this inscription: "Rest in peace—until we meet again."

READY FOR BUSINESS

The boys at The Big Hardware Store will welcome their patrons with wide open doors next

Monday Morning June 25th

Since our loss by fire we have been selling only such goods as were absolutely necessary to help our farmer friends who needed machinery repairs and cultivators, wagons, etc. to take care of their crops.

Now we have finished our adjustments with the insurance companies and have priced different articles according to the damage done by the fire and will open up for business and give our trade the very best service and attention possible, taking into consideration the fact that our surroundings will be somewhat dark and dingy and our quarters a little crowded until our building is repaired, which we will do after we have sold some of our stock out that is slightly damaged.

On account of the abnormal market conditions making it impossible for us to replace our present stock at anything like the prices on which it was purchased we will NOT DISCOUNT the goods that were not damaged but on such goods that show damage from contact with fire or smoke we will mark at prices that will make them move, which will make it possible for you to purchase a great many articles out of our large stock at very low prices, and we will have our stock which was entirely lost by fire fairly well replaced with new goods on our opening day so that we can take care of your needs for most anything you may want at popular market prices.

In selling out these damaged goods it will be our aim to give the people the advantage of our knowledge of the exact condition of the goods just as near as we can tell—but our usual guarantee of "satisfaction or money back" will not apply to "Fire Sale Goods"—but most of them are not damaged from a standpoint of service but only in appearance.

We kindly ask our customers to bear with us and overlook some loose ends in our business during our readjustment, but we shall do our very best to take care of all trade satisfactorily and in the very near future hope to have the building repaired, our fixtures cleaned and repainted, and our stock filled in where it is low and resume our regular system familiar to our old patrons and the people of this community of good service, courteous treatment, and a guarantee of satisfaction or your money back.

When you need Hardware and Implements think of the boys at "The Big Hardware Store" and they'll take care of your troubles right.

Remember Our Opening Date—Monday, June 25th
