

The Farmer's Part

THE man with plow and hoe is the man of the hour. Upon his ability to increase the coming crop of grains—the supply of meats—depends the welfare of the world today. But, second only to production, is conservation. EVERYONE may play a part in economizing in the use of present resources.

MONEY A PUZZLE IN CHINA

Its Coins, Like the Nation's Dialects, Differ in Every City.

In China dealing in money is a business, one of the flourishing industries of the country. There are shops that deal in nothing else—money exchange shops—and you will find one in nearly every twisting little street in every city, often merely little holes in the wall, where a skull capped proprietor sits behind a brass railing with little piles of money on each side of him and swiftly fingers his counting board. Here you go shopping for money just as you do for white flannel suits, eggs, green jade and Canton silk, and you bargain just as long and just as hard in the oblique and devious ways of the orient.

A national currency system there is not. The coins, like the dialects, change as you go from city to city. Take the boat from Amoy to Swatow, and when you have got there you will have to go to an exchange shop to get local currency. But in the open ports, where the foreigners do business, there has developed a fairly standardized though still hectic system.

The first thing you will have to get used to is "Mex." The standard of prices wherever foreigners do business is always Mex., and the coin chiefly used is the Mexican dollar. Among the earliest traders to come to the newly opened ports of China were the Mexicans. They left behind them their silver dollar, and, curiously enough, it has been used ever since.

So, then, is money in China the root of all perplexity as well as of all evil. Until China has a uniform system of currency throughout the country it cannot do business on an efficient national scale. At any rate, foreign capital will always hesitate to enter where to the ordinary risks of business are added the uncertainties of a currency which may wipe out legitimate profits overnight—Nathaniel Pfeffer in World Outlook.

A Remarkable Scrap Book.

One of the most carefully guarded possessions of the United States treasury is a scrap book that is always kept shut up in a massive burglar proof safe in the bureau of engraving and printing. Scarce any one has ever seen it save high officials of the department. Its shabby outside gives no suggestion of the precious contents, yet pasted on the yellow pages are "proofs" taken from all the important counterfeit plates for paper money that have ever been captured by the government.

An Odd Bird's Nest.

The oddest of all birds' nests is the one built by the tontobane, a South African songster. It is built of cotton and always upon the tree producing the material. In constructing the domicile the female works inside and the male outside, where he builds a sentinel box for his own special use. He sits in the box and keeps watch or sings nearly all the time, and when danger comes in the form of a hawk or a snake he warns the family, but never enters the main nest.—Exchange.

A Model Husband.

"You appear pleased, my dear," said her friend.
"Indeed, I am. You know while I was away visiting mother Henry went fishing, and the neighbors say he came home with a beautiful skate."
"And is that why you are pleased?"

"Certainly, my dear. I looked in the encyclopedia and found that a 'skate' is a large fish."—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

A Wonderful Pagoda.

The great Buddhist shrine, the Shway Dagon at Rangoon, is no temple, but a great pagoda, rising from its platform to a height of 368 feet and all completely covered with gold leaf. This platform, with a perimeter of nearly 1,400 feet, is the place of worship. The pagoda itself has no interior. It is a solid stupa of brick raised over a relic chamber.

Eve's Fruit.

It is difficult to determine the specific tree which has been translated from the Hebrew word as "apple." Most modern writers maintain that it was either the quince or the citron. Orange trees are now found in Palestine, but there does not appear sufficient evidence that this tree was known in earlier times to the inhabitants of that land.

Not Talking There.

Mr. Styles—Do you want to go down to the mint?
Mrs. Styles—No, it's too noisy down there.
"What do you mean by noisy?"
"Why, if money talks it must be a noisy place."
"But they have a way of shutting it up at the mint."—Yonkers Statesman.

SPRINGBROOK

Don't forget the Red Cross benefit Friday night.

Miss Mabel Rush spent Saturday and Sunday in Portland.

A. R. Mills is around again after a serious illness of several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Burgoyne, of Portland, spent the week-end in Springbrook.

Charley Seeley and family from Aurora were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Seeley.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Russel, from Myrtle Creek, are visiting at the home of Frank Russel.

The Children's Day program will be held next Sunday at 10:30. Every one is cordially invited.

An enjoyable evening was spent by a large crowd at the Ladies Aid social last Friday evening at the church.

Last Sunday Mrs. George Bush entertained Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Crocker, and son George, and Mr. and Mrs. Logan.

B. F. Yergen and family motored over to Ernest Yergen's across the river Monday evening. They returned Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Katie Barclay, of Oregon City, and Mrs. Emma Pinchot, of Portland, spent the latter part of last week with Mrs. Wm. Carter.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Fendall and daughter, Lois, motored over to Corvallis Monday morning with Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Christenson. They returned Wednesday.

D. P. Shaw, B. F. Yergen, Westley Patton, Frank Russel and Lewis Amoth, with their respective families, made a trip up the Columbia highway Sunday. They report a very enjoyable trip.

Mrs. W. W. Hollingsworth and Mrs. Orange Elliot and daughters, the Misses Gertrude and Esther Hollingsworth, Francis and Florence Elliot, motored out from Newberg Sunday afternoon to visit at the S. M. Calkins home.

CHEHALEM CENTER

J. D. Crater and family are now driving a brand new Ford.

Mrs. C. L. Johnson returned to Newberg after making a visit to her country home.

Miss Maude McGuire is greeting old time friends and acquaintances this week in Chehalum Center.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Smail departed Wednesday for Omro, Wisconsin, to visit their farm and expect later to visit relatives in Canada. Will be away about three months.

Mrs. Mary Hodges has charge of the little son of Robt. Hodges, as his wife, Margaret, is at the hospital in Newberg under the care of Drs. Littlefield and Romig. She is getting on nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Lafayette Hall and Mrs. Harriet Hald, a sister of Mr. Hall, who is from Hood River, were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lindeas Christianson Sunday. Elmer Hall and daughter, Miss Vivian, Delmer Hall, Misses Clara Staley and Nelle Crater, Mr. and Mrs. John Crater and Mrs. C. L. Johnson were also callers at the Christianson home Sunday.

Tuesday was the twenty-sixth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Staley and they duly celebrated by motoring out to the Columbia Highway on a picnic, accompanied by their family and Miss Mable Jacobson. Rev. and Mrs. H. G. Crocker and son also accompanied them, going in their car. In the evening a number of the friends and neighbors gave them a surprise by spending the evening with them in a very social way. Ice cream and cake were served to the guests and all enjoyed the evening.

Good Horse, Good Rider.

Judging from the following story, which Arthur J. Smythe tells in his biography of William Terriss, it is evident that the practice of betting on horse races was among the great dislikes of the English actor.

When any one asked him what horse he was going to back he would say:

"I'm going to back a little filly I've often backed before. I've never won anything on it; yet, strange to say, I've never lost a penny."
"Oh, whatever horse is that?" might have been the inquiry.
"A little filly called Common Sense, ridden by Tommy Let It Alone," was the invariable answer.
