Mrs. R. H. Van Valin is assisting in the First National Bank.

The owner of the Stanfield Standard was in Newberg Monday on business.

Chester Zumwalt was in Newberg a few hours Sunday visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Zumwalt.

Virgil Hinshaw, who is on the night force in the Inman-Paulsen mill in Portland, spent last Sunday at home.

The continued fine November weather brought out Wm. Bell of the Imperial dressed in his Panama hat Tuesday.

Mrs. Tom Belcher, of Portland spent a little time in Newberg last Monday visiting her aged father, Hon. J. C. Nelson.

R. J. Moore and D. D. Coulson who grew a crop of potatoes on the river bottom the past season have some 3,000 sacks stored at the electric light plant.

Mrs. Mary Wood returned home from Portland Saturday. She spent several weeks in that city with the R. H. Kennedy family, who recently moved there from Newberg.

The funeral of Mrs. G. S. Nelson, whose death was announced last week, was held at the Hollingsworth Co. chapel on last Sunday afternoon and was conducted by Rev. O. F. Goettel, pastor of the Nazarene church.

C. C. Woodworth arrived here last Saturday from Sterling, Illinois, and will remain with his son, W. H. Woodworth, president of the First National Bank, during the winter. His wife is visiting in Kansas and will join him here later.

District Superintendent Ford of the Salem territory was here the first of the week husbanding the local M. E. flock. Mr. Ford makes a business of attending the meetings of the Oregon Press Association and in his jolly way gets close to the "newspaper fellows."

With enlistments in the army and others laying off for needed rest there has been quite a sitting out in the working force at the United States National Bank of late. Ervin Scott, who recently purchased property out north of town of Thos. E. Miles, is one of the new helpers.

Deputy Sheriff H. R. Morris was a witness before the grand jury at McMinnville Monday in the matter of the theft of the Dr. E. P. Dixon auto some time ago. The three young men who were caught with the machine below Rex have been languishing in the county bastille in the interval.

Dr. T. W. Hester was called out to West Chehalis on the south side road last Sunday night to attend P. H. Bass who was severely injured while backing his traction engine into a shed. He was caught by the engine and pinned fast against a pole that was across the entrance and as it was nailed fast from the side on which he was held, he was compelled to stand the impact of the blows from an ax swung by Mrs. Bass as she pounded away for some ten minutes, thus driving back the spikes that held the pole. He was badly bruised and unconscious when released, but thankful that the engine pressed him no harder than it did, for it was a mighty close call.

T. H. Thorne has been laid up at his home for the past ten days with pneumonia but is convalescing.

Mrs. R. J. Pemberton and little daughter were down from Salem on a visit last Sunday.

D. D. Coulson recently bought the lot with fifty feet frontage on First street, located directly west of the J. C. Porter & Co. store.

There will be a meeting of the Girls' National Honor Guard of Newberg at the city library Thursday evening, November 8, at 7:30. All members are urged to be present at this meeting.

John Baker, the eccentric old man who has a home on Dayton Avenue has been committed to the hospital at Salem, as his daughter became alarmed for her safety on account of his actions.

Mr. and Mrs. Webster Winslow, of Fairmount, Indiana, stopped over here the first of the week for a visit with Rev. Fred E. Carter and family when on their way to Southern California.

Hervey M. Hoskins has been down from McMinnville during the week helping out at the U. S. National Bank in the absence of the regular force. Mrs. Hoskins and the little son are also here at the parental home just north of town.

Mrs. Swan Benson asks the Graphic to announce a shake-down that is billed for the Carter hall in West Chehalis on the night of November 10. Proceeds for the benefit of the Red Cross. Music by Powell's orchestra, of McMinnville.

On Thursday of last week D. J. Gilbert received a shipment of three registered Nubian milk goats from a Southern California breeder. He says he continues to get inquiries for goats from people from all over the country who are interested in goats as milk producers, the demand increasing rapidly.

Mr. and Mrs. Asa B. Butler, son-in-law and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Haworth, of Springbrook, left for North Loop, Nebraska, the first of the week where the latter has been elected as pastor of the Friends church at that place. Rev. Walter H. Wilson, former pastor at Springbrook, has the oversight of the work of the church in that section.

On Saturday afternoon of last week Mrs. Ralph Otis gave an informal party at her home out on the Otis fruit farm, the invited guests being Mrs. Walter Van Atta, McMinnville, Miss Elizabeth Skipworth, Hillsboro, Mrs. L. S. Otis, Mrs. Omar Fendall, Mrs. Harry Miller, Mrs. Curtis Houser, and the Misses Harris, Mabel Rush, Ruth Romig, Jessie Britt, Ethel Morris, Grace Wilson, Mabel Miller, Ellen Gregory.

Mrs. R. J. McEwen and the twin sons are here from Arlington for a visit at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Goff, on East Hancock street.

On account of the series of meetings being held at the Presbyterian church, the Presbyterian ladies have postponed the Nov. city social until November 22.

A gentleman named Cooms who lives on the place out north of Newberg formerly owned by Archie Pickard, had a valuable horse killed in a runaway a few days ago, the animal getting its neck broken in a fall.

On Tuesday Mrs. W. E. Crozer, in company with her sister, Mrs. Nellie Wilde who was here from Vancouver, Washington on a visit, went to Salem to attend the funeral of Clarkson Pemberton who died rather suddenly.

C. J. Hoskins, assistant cashier in the United States National Bank, left here on Monday morning with Mrs. Hoskins and little Helen for Santa Paula, California, where they will spend a few weeks visiting with his sister, Mrs. F. K. Jones, and family.

On last Sunday at Friends church Mrs. M. P. Elliott read some very interesting extracts from letters received from their son, Meade, who is in France with Friends' reconstruction unit. From some of his letters the Graphic hopes to glean some interesting matter for publication soon.

A few days ago C. J. Hoskins, treasurer of Pacific College, received a letter from the cashier of the Union State Bank, of McKouth, Kansas, with a check for $1,000 payable to the college, enclosed, and a brief statement to the effect that this sum was named in the will of one Calvin C. Kessinger, deceased, as a gift to the college.

The donation came as a surprise, for no one here seems to know anything of the donor, but the college officials are pleased to know that the institution is making friends away from home, as well as in the home field.

J. M. Crawford who recently sold a big farm located on the Yamhill river was in town Tuesday and on being accosted as to his future doings said that owing to his inability to get reliable help on the farm, he decided to cut down his acreage and concentrate his efforts for more intensive farming on the land he still owns, which is sufficient to keep him busy. He remarked that keeping up the fertility of the soil was a prime necessity in farming and that he contemplated getting some man interested in dairying on the home place which he retains.

Mrs. E. C. Baird was hostess to Chapter L. P. E. O. Sisterhood, Monday afternoon, at which time Mrs. T. L. Cummings was initiated into the Sisterhood. A light luncheon was served in honor of the new member, the dining room and table being prettily decorated with yellow candelabras and yellow and white flowers, representing the Sisterhood colors. Oregon's P. E. O. Chapters are actively engaged in gathering magazines and other good reading matter for the boys in army camps, and each chapter in the state has subscribed for one good magazine, to be sent to the nearest cantonment.

Mrs. A. C. Harrison, formerly a resident of Newberg, sent to the Graphic the first of the week a clipping from the Lewiston, Idaho, Tribune, containing the following: "The home of A. C. Harrison, near Asotin road in south Clarkston east of the R. F. Pound place, was burned to the ground today and all household effects and winter's supplies lost. No insurance was carried by Mr. Harrison but E. E. Bellomy, owner of the house, carried insurance on the buildings. The four-room dwelling, wood shed and store house were burned. Potatoes, vegetables, canned

The Trend of the Times

Is to lessen the hours of labor that man may have more time for recreation and mental improvement. This principle is being extended to embrace womankind also, and inventive genius has played a leading part in bringing this condition about.

fruit and several tons of grain feed kept in the store house were consumed by the fire. The fire occurred at 6 o'clock this morning, shortly after Mr. Harrison had left for Anatone and Mrs. Harrison and her elder daughter had departed for the cannery in Lewiston where they are employed. A son, and daughter aged 11 years, were the only ones on the place when the fire started and the cause of the fire is unknown. There have been three houses burned on the foundation upon which the late structure rested."

SERVICES AT NEWBERG CHURCHES

CHRISTIAN

10 a. m.—Bible school, Z. Martin, superintendent.
Morning sermon, "The Temptation of Jesus."
6:30 p. m.—C. E. and Junior Endeavor.
Evening sermon, "The Conversion of Cornelius."
Fourth in the series of the gospel applied.

PRESBYTERIAN

Evangelistic services morning and evening by Evangelists Edgar and Heskett, with Mrs. Edgar as singer.
Other notices given at the Sunday services.
All are notified of the gospel meetings now in progress, and the splendid opportunity all Christians of Newberg have of spiritual refreshment; and all others have of once more hearing the message of God under favorable conditions for being saved. Do not wonder at the judgments of God, when men turn the back to the claims of Christ; and do not call it civilization, where men "tread under foot the blood of the covenant." All are this once more, summoned and warned and invited.

BAPTIST

Every member of the Baptist church is urged to be present at the service next Sunday morning, November 11, at 11 o'clock. The church will at this time vote on extending a call to Rev. Chas. J. Wealte, of Portland, his work to begin December 1.
