THURSDAY, JANUARY 3, 1918

Yes, it requires a little time to get accustomed to writing it 1918.

Even the assembling of the Minnesotans for their annual New Year picnic failed to temper our lamb-like spring weather.

These saloon-less days in Oregon the annual swearing-off resolutions appear to have better wearing qualities than were formerly experienced.

Verily, D. M. Nayberger, of McMinnville, is one Yamhill county newspaper advertiser who believes that the country still lives, and who shows his faith by his works.

So far as we have noticed none of the publishers of our exchanges are suffering from nervous prostration from the effects of having to dig up for the income tax collector.

An article that appeared on the editorial page of the Graphic last week under the head of "Poor Lo Not So Poor" should have been credited to the Oregon City Courier. The Graphic does not believe in newspaper piracy, hence this correction.

Yes, with a rainfall of 13.96 inches during the month of December it was a little bit soggy here in the Willamette valley, but it might have been worse. For instance, the records say that in December 1882 the falling dew measured 20.14 inches.

The New Year number of the Oregonian is not as elaborate as some former editions have been, but it is one well worth sending away to a friend. The fine illustrations of the Columbia River Highway the edition contains make it well worth the price.

All this speculation about the Jews rushing to Jerusalem to re-people the land of their fathers may interest those who feast on the "signs of the times" and attendant prophecies for the ending of things earthly, but our observation has been that the Jew is some financier, and we give him credit for ability to see a lot of other better prospects for development than old time-scarred Jerusalem has to offer. "Money talks," and it speaks about the same language to Jew and Gentile, alike.

Invoking from every one of the officials of the Southern Pacific railroad and their staff their best service as a citizen and an employee, President Sproule urged that the new conditions be met with common sense, with good will and high loyalty. He counseled that the officials of the company should continue its normal operation in the normal way under the new conditions, and advised them to listen to no alarmists, but to do their duty in full faith that the purposes of the Government are constructive, seeking to build up, not to tear down.

The published statement that the Meier estate is to build a four story brick on the northeast corner of Front and Morrison streets in Portland will freshen in the memory of many an old timer the building of the Esmond hotel on that corner, which was reckoned in its day to be a little too near the palatial in appointment for any who drifted in from the valley towns, except those in the

THE HONOR ROLL FOR DAIRY COWS

Following is the Honor Roll of Register of Merit cows in the cow-testing association for last month with over 51 pounds of butter fat each:

Owner of Cow.	Name of Cow.	Breed of Cow.	Age.	When Fresh	Lbs. But Fat
Clifford Reid	Goldie's Nehalem Beauty	Jersey	4	11-14-16	65.9
Ed Carey	St. Mawes Susy	"	10	5-2-17	63.8
Ed Carey	Poppy's Koffee Rosaire	"	3	9-20-17	61.7
Delmar Perkins	Gwendola Olga Chines	"	4	3-7-17	60.6
Ed Carey	Lucy of Pleasant View	"	6	9-27-17	56.9
Delmar Perkins	Silver Chimes Rus	"	4	3-2-17	56.7
Ed Carey	Susy's Twin Maiden	"	7	5-2-17	55.2
Ed Carey	Boise Queen	"	7	4-18-17	54.1
Ed Carey	St. Mawes Boise Rosaire	"	2	8-24-17	51.6
Ed Carey	St. Mawes Beauty	"	4	3-14-17	50.1

Among the grade herds cows with over 40 pounds of fat during last month are the following:

Owner of Cow.	Name of Cow.	Breed of Cow.	Age.	When Fresh	Lbs. But Fat
Lloyd Shauver	Dude	Grade Jersey	—	—	46.9
Lloyd Shauver	Ruth	Grade Jersey	—	—	43.7
Foothills Farm	Glenside Lady	Shorthorn	—	—	43.6
J. D. Landess	Flossie	—	—	—	42.2
A. S. Latham	Red	—	—	—	42.1
A. S. Latham	Betsy	—	—	—	41.6
C. L. Mulkey	No. 15	—	—	—	40.8

The Roll of Honor Grade herds were as follows:

Owner	No. Cows	Feed Cost per Cow	Returns per Cow	Net Profits per Cow	Lbs. of Fat
George Fuller	6	9.79	19.55	9.76	28.7
Lloyd Shauver	7	11.98	19.42	7.44	28.2
A. S. Latham	11	10.85	19.79	8.94	27.3
J. D. Landess	16	6.90	19.03	12.13	26.1

Four herds are included because Mr. Fuller had only one-half his herd on test at this time.

The Roll of Honor herds of registered cows are:

Owner	No. Cows	Feed Cost per Cow	Returns per Cow	Net Profits per Cow	Lbs. of Fat
Ed Carey	12	16.33	36.13	19.80	49.9
Del Perkins	10	16.96	23.14	11.18	38.8
F. E. Lynn	4	13.03	27.81	12.78	38.3

In speaking of monthly records W. L. Thomas, the official tester, says: "J. D. Landess has a very unusual grade cow, a Holstein with a very high test, considering the milk flow. Her record for October and November is as follows:"

	Lbs. Milk	Percent Fat	Lbs. Fat
October	493	8.6	42.4
November	408	9.6	39.2

The Association has seven new members and has only two herds headed by a grade sire out of 22 herds.

The average production per cow for the whole association was:

Lbs. Milk	Lbs. Fat	Feed Cost	Total Returns	Net Profit
517	26.3	9.67	19.07	9.40

The honor cow of the association was Goldie's Nehalem Beauty, owned by Clifford Reid. This was her twelfth month in milk and her record of 1,145 pounds of milk and 65.9 pounds of butter was very remarkable. She missed a world's record for senior four year old Jersey by only a few pounds. M. S. Shrock.

bon-ton class. Even the candidates for the top places at state convention times usually took quarters at the St. Charles across on the other corner, lest "the boys" might get the idea that they were stuck up and as a consequence fail to respond at roll call with the votes. Those were busy corners at such times but Father Time has wrought many changes in the matter of hotels and hotel locations in Oregon's principal city.

SEPARATE CITY ELECTIONS

In 1916 the voters of Oregon adopted a useless and confusing amendment to the state constitution providing that all city elections must be held on the same days as the state and county elections in November of each year, says the Coquille Sentinel. The sole thought of the author of that amendment and of the voters who made it a part of our constitution apparently was to save expense and make the election boards which conduct the November elections take over the work of the city elections in addition.

But next fall, while the city elections will be held on the same day as the county and state elections, they will have to be held at different places, with different election officers and separate and distinct ballots the same as before.

The reason for this was that, so far as this amendment was concerned, the legislature that met in January of the present year slept at the switch and made no provision whatever for carrying the provisions of that amendment into effect.

In order to make the amendment effective, except as to the day of holding the elections, the legislature will have to enact a new law and the cities will be obliged to amend their charters and then the county courts will have to rearrange the election districts of the state.

ANNOUNCEMENT FOR EXTENSION LECTURES

Beginning next Tuesday evening and continuing every Tuesday evening during the month of January, a series of free extension lectures will be given by the members of the Pacific College faculty. These lectures will occur in the study room in Wood-Mar hall, and all are cordially invited to attend them. The lectures will begin promptly at 7:30 and will last just an hour.

The entire series of lectures will occupy two months, but on account of the union evangelistic meetings planned for February, but four lectures will be given in the first part of the series. The first two lectures will be given by President Pennington, and Professor Lewis will give the next two. It is hoped there will be a large attendance at these free lectures.

HEAVY LOSS TO FARMER BY FIRE

George Yergen met with a big loss Sunday when his house was destroyed by fire and his wife injured to such an extent that she is in danger of losing her life. Their home is between Butteville Station and the Wilsonville bridge. At 5 o'clock in the afternoon of the above day they were dining when Mrs. Yergen went to the basement for some fruit. She carried a lighted lantern and the gas from the gas plant leaking, an explosion occurred. A wall was blown out and the house set on fire and consumed with the contents. Mrs. Yergen was injured by being thrown by the concussion and was also badly burned. Mr. Yergen had just finished remodeling the house. The loss is estimated at $10,000, the insurance being $3,000.—Woodburn Independent.

Charley Cavell is home from a goose hunt at Arlington but reports meager success.
