AIRPLANE ROUTE TO SWEDEN

Trelleborg and Sassnitz to Be the Termini of the Proposed Line Connecting With Germany.

The following bulletin on Trelleborg and Sassnitz, the termini of the proposed Swedish-German airplane route, which assumes special significance in the light of recent developments in the diplomatic relations between Germany and Sweden, has been issued by National Geographic society.

Between Trelleborg, the most southerly town in the Kingdom of Sweden, and Sassnitz, a summer resort on the northeastern shore of the German island of Rugen, express steamers in times of peace make regular trips across this arm of the Baltic in four hours. This is the chief water link in the 24-hour express service between Stockholm and Berlin. Neither town would be of any importance were it not for the fact that they are the termini of this steamer service.

Trelleborg is a quaint old town of some 10,000 inhabitants, lying 20 miles southeast of Malmö, capital of Skåne, the most populous province in all Sweden. It is only 16 miles from Malmö to the Danish capital, Copenhagen.

Sassnitz is one of several popular seaside resorts on the island of Rugen, the largest insular possession of Germany, having an area about equal to that of Cape Cod. Only about 2,500 people make Sassnitz their permanent home, but during the bathing season in times of peace the village is visited annually by more than 20,000 pleasure seekers.

The water trip from Trelleborg to Sassnitz is 60 miles. Thus the rail-and-steam distance between Stockholm and Berlin is 415 miles.

SALMON THRIVE IN ATLANTIC

Humpbacked Variety From Pacific Coast Retain Their Habits When Placed in Eastern Waters

Many thousands of humpback salmon, native to the Puget sound, where they were collected by the government two years ago, entered Pembroke, Dennis, Penobscot, St. Croix and other rivers in eastern Maine as part of the fisheries bureau plan of stocking the east with the pride of the Pacific coast catch.

The bureau's investigation shows that the humpback in its new environment retains its Pacific coast habit of proceeding to the ocean shortly after it begins to swim and returning to the rivers to spawn and die when two years old.

The government has made annual shipments of eggs of the humpback salmon across the continent for the last five years, drawing the consignments alternately from Washington and Alaska.

Joke Books for Soldiers.

Making joke books for soldiers is the latest form of patriotic industry on the part of those who stay at home. It is said that the plan originated with Rudyard Kipling.

A blank book, preferably with large pages, is first obtained. Upon the pages are pasted the funniest pictures and anecdotes found in current newspapers and magazines. Some bright, short stories are also included.

The books are then sent to army hospitals, where they afford great entertainment to convalescent soldiers. Day after day the books are in steady use until they are worn out.

Surgeons say nothing is so essential in the hospital as to keep the patients in good spirits. Toward this end the joke books are a valuable help.

To Boil Eggs by Telephone.

Telephone operators need a sense of humor to make the petty annoyances of their occupation bearable. If they have that, they can find endless matter for amusement in the frankness of the human nature that exhibits itself at the other end of the wire.

A telephone subscriber asked his operator to ring his bell in three minutes, and immediately hung up his receiver. At the appointed time the supervisor rang on the line, and the subscriber responded merely with "Thank you." Later he called again to thank the operator, and explained that he had been boiling eggs and wanted to time them. They had been cooked to the queen's taste, he said.

USED STRING TO STIR ANGER

Twine Swung in Air, London Cushman Explained Indicated Other Cabbies' Brother Was Hanged.

The conversation turned on the wonderful pungency and power of invective of the old-time London cabbie as narrated by Charles Dickens in "Pickwick Papers" and by other authors of that and a subsequent time.

"A few years ago," said Dr. John H. Oliver, in the Indianapolis News, "I paid my second visit to London. The cabbie and his horse had passed away. The horse-drawn omnibus was no more, the petrol-driven bus having taken its place. I told a Briton whom I met over there that I liked to sit on the outside next the driver, that I found him a most interesting character."

"So do I," said my British acquaintance, "but he is not at all as interesting as his predecessor of the old fashion. I was seated beside one of these old-time drivers going through a street crowded with vehicles when a bus coming from the opposite direction was in collision with our bus. The wheels of the two locked and then the highly ornate invective between the two drivers began. It was the perfect flower, yes, the full fruitage I thought of profanity and abuse."

"But I was mistaken. There was more and worse to come. When the wheels had become unlocked and we were slowly moving away, my friend, the driver, drew from his pocket a bit of string and holding it above his head swung it slowly to and fro."

"The other driver at once jumped down from his bus and, whip in hand, struck at the string-shaker. The wealth of epithet he then used showed that all that had preceded it was as mild and kindly as the softest baby chatter. Our driver answered not a word, but as he drove slowly on continued the string shaking."

"I wondered what there could be in this simple bit of dumb-show to make the other busman so frantically angry. Then my driver gave the explanation: 'E didn't like it, did he? It was hunky a bit of joke, don't you see. 'Is brother was 'anged last Friday.'"

There is a little French church in the heart of Philadelphia which has given and given to the great world strife, ever since the war began, life blood and widow's mites, and in the face of poverty is still giving, giving, according to a Philadelphia correspondent.
