

L. J. SIMPSON REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR

The latest to announce himself as a republican candidate for governor is L. J. Simpson, the well known lumberman of Coos county, and father of the city of North Bend.

Mr. Simpson was born at Oakland, California, in 1877, and is the son of the late Capt. A. M. Simpson, the pioneer lumberman. He was educated in the public schools of Oakland, Mt. Tamalpais Military Academy from which he graduated, and at the University of California.

Starting in as a laborer in his father's saw mill, after finishing his education, he worked his way up and he is now recognized as being one of the big men of the state. For twelve years, he held the position of mayor of North Bend, which shows something of the confidence his neighbors have in him.

Mr. Simpson was elected one of the commissioners of the Port of Coos Bay after that body was formed and was chosen for the place because of his familiarity with the shipping of the port. He was one of the Coos Bay men who went to the national capital to secure aid for the improvement of the Coos Bay bar.

These facts as to Mr. Simpson's success in his own part of the state are in a sense perhaps only of local interest but they show that he is a man who was able to cope with the early difficulties of Oregon, who succeeded in what he undertook to the extent that his ability is recognized in the state and that he is a man who has had the practical training to be a governor of the state.

TEACHING TROOPS TO PROTECT HEALTH

New York, February 21—By the use of an attractive colored poster exhibit on the health of the soldier, a new educational campaign against disease will be started in the training camps in the United States army in the next ten days. The exhibit was prepared under the direction of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis and will be distributed and used through the Educational Bureau of the War Work Council of the Y. M. C. A. The artist is James Daugherty, of this city.

The exhibit covers three different subjects with five panels to a subject. The first subject is "Diseases Are Spread By Close Contact." For instance, the warning against coughs and colds, which pave the way for so much disastrous illness in army life, is illustrated by life-like pictures of four soldiers opening a box from home in a tent at night. One is in the act of sneezing in the faces of his comrades. Similarly the danger of spreading measles, pneumonia, tuberculosis and venereal disease is graphically portrayed.

The second series of five panels illustrates the topic, "Diseases Are Prevented by Knowledge and Care." Methods of avoiding carelessness in coughing, sneezing and spitting; the use of individual drinking cups, towels, etc., are illustrated. The importance of promptly reporting to the doctor even the slightest ailment, is emphasized. The last series is a red-blooded group of cuts entitled "Fitness For Fighting."

Twenty sets of these exhibits are being prepared for immediate use. Eventually there will be one set in each camp in this country and in France. A stock lecture goes with each exhibit. In addition a folder of health advice, called "Red Blood," is distributed to the men.

REX

The regular meeting of the Civic Improvement Club was held Tuesday evening. After the business meeting a very good program was given in spite of the fact that the program committee pleaded leniency, as many of the numbers had to be omitted. N. L. Wiley gave an original reading, "A Trip to the Moon in an Airship," which reminded one of the flights of fancy of some of the famous writers of the day. It was replete with local humor and one of the interesting facts about the airship was that its motive power was a huge rubber bag filled with compressed air furnished by the ladies of the neighborhood by gossiping. A solo by Miss Edith Sanderman was much enjoyed, and lastly an entertainment by the Cuban pigmies who furnished their orchestra and gave a lively program.

The Misses Newby and Stroud, of Springbrook, were Sunday visitors at the McClure home.

Mrs. F. Eves, and Mrs. A. J. Heskett shopped in Portland Saturday.

The missionary society held an all day meeting at the home of Mrs. G. V. McClure Wednesday. Mrs. M. P. Elliott and Mrs. W. W. Silver, of Newberg, were present to start the ladies off in war sewing.

The station looks quite homelike and spick and span with a bright new coat of paint.

Miss Esther Gustin is at present helping at the Keeney home in Newberg during Mrs. Keeney's illness.

One of our very patriotic citizens is George Brickell who donated a load of wood to the Red Cross Auxiliary so that the ladies could sew in comfort these cool days.

N. L. Wiley, who has had charge of the farm crop and labor survey in this district, has been busy filling the duties of this position the last week.

Practically all the ladies of the neighborhood attended the shower on Miss Erma Kane given at the home of Mrs. J. P. Semmer on Valentine's Day at Chehalem.

In significance of the occasion the house was profusely decorated with hearts of every size, and several games using them were played. Miss Kane was then read instructions in rhyme to search in every corner of the house to see what she could find, and soon a huge pile of bundles in the middle of the floor attested to her diligent search. Delicious refreshments were furnished by the hostess. Miss Flea Kane, who is at present in Portland, was out for the day.

Of much interest at Rex and vicinity on account of their popularity, was the wedding, Wednesday, of Miss Erma Kane and Carl Miller, of Newberg. The young couple quietly drove to Salem, accompanied by Mrs. Jas. Kane, Mrs. U. S. G. Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Miller, and were married at noon at the M. E. parsonage. The young bride wore a spring suit of dark blue with a chic little purple hat and red fox fur. After the ceremony the happy young couple left on the Oregon Electric for parts unknown, on their wedding trip. The bride, who has lived at Rex with her parents for the past six years, is a great favorite on account of her sweet disposition and winning ways, and Mr. Miller is to be congratulated upon his choice of a wife. The young couple will make their home in Newberg for the present.
