Clifford Maynard, of McMinnville, was visiting Newberg friends Saturday.

Jorgen P. Johnson, who has been seriously sick for some time, is reported to be improving.

N. P. Nelson reports for the West Chehalis Red Cross drive $219.50, which is $57.50 above the quota.

Nelson J. Sykes and family were out from Portland Sunday visiting his mother and brother who live on a farm across the river near St. Paul.

J. O. Rogers, school clerk at McMinnville for the past dozen years and recently nominated justice of the peace, was down from the county seat on business Tuesday.

Miss Eva Markell, of Springbrook, who completed a course in telegraphy recently, is expecting to take an office with the Southern Pacific about the middle of June.

Harry Hawthorn and Virgil Hinshaw, in company with Olin Hadley, of Turner, expect to start for Philadelphia on Friday where they will be booked for passage to France.

The last meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association for the year will be held at the grade building Tuesday, June 4, at 3. A large attendance is desired so the business for the year can be settled.

Rev. S. P. Van Dyke was seriously injured Tuesday when he fell from the roof of the Brethren church. He with some others were shingling the roof when the staging broke, throwing him to the ground.

Friday afternoon the junior class of the high school had their annual picnic, going in a body to Dr. Brown's place on Chehalis Mountain. The young people toasted marshmallows and indulged in various games.

A. R. Mills, of Springbrook, says the strawberries are coming on rapidly now and that if a good rain should come the quantity would be greatly increased. The ground needs moisture to make the young berries grow and mature.

Last Thursday was "kid day" at the high school and was celebrated by the seniors by wearing "kid" costumes. In the afternoon, still in costume, the seniors went to the timber near Dundee for their annual picnic.

D. L. Honey, who came out from Fremont, Nebraska, two weeks ago, has bought a five acre tract out on the side of Chehalis Mountain of his brother, D. A. Honey, and expects to remain. He went to Portland the first of the week to take a job in one of the ship yards.

Morpheus held Clifford Spaulding with a grip so binding that he failed to respond to the call of the fire bell on last Monday night, and consequently he was not on hand as secretary of the fire department to call the roll of members on their return from the fire. He says he had a strenuous day Monday, and that when he went to bed he was oblivious to all earthly doings until the following morning, and was surprised when getting out to hear that a fire had occurred during the night.

C. J. Hoskins was in McMinnville on business Tuesday.

Hon. and Mrs. W. W. Lunger, of LaFayette were in Newberg Tuesday.

Miss Ethel N. Morris will assist as reader in the graduation exercises at Rex Friday evening.

Mrs. W. J. Morris who has been ill for some time is now enjoying a week's visit with her sister, Mrs. P. C. Cook, of Tacoma, Washington.

Harry Perkins, who came from Southern California a short time ago on account of the sickness of his mother, since deceased, left on Wednesday for Los Angeles.

Lewis Russell was here from Marion on Monday in attendance at a meeting of the Evangelistic Committee of Oregon Yearly Meeting of Friends church.

Harry Miller has contracted for the purchase of the W. F. Wilkin tract a quarter of a mile north of Newberg, which was formerly the home of J. L. Hoskins.

Mrs. J. P. Price is here from North Bend visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bell, of the Imperial. She arrived just in time to lend a hand when there was a shortage of dining room help.

Clifford Calkins went to Portland Wednesday to enlist in the Spruce department of the government service should he find an opening, and in case he failed in this he expected to try for the navy.

John U. Smith made a business trip to British Columbia last week where he says he found the war spirit at a high pitch and heard first hand accounts of German atrocities, given by returned soldiers.

H. S. Britt wrote home from Chicago a few days ago that he had chanced to meet Oliver J. Hobson, an early day Newberg lad now located in the big windy city—a surprise to each of them, no doubt.

J. B. Geisey, of Salem, representative of the State Industrial Accident Commission, has been making his headquarters in Newberg for the past ten days checking up plants in this section that are carrying insurance with the commission.

Rev. and Mrs. S. P. Van Dyke and Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Baron motored to Mabel the latter part of last week, returning Monday. Near McCoy they found evidences of a severe hail storm, the leaves having been knocked off the trees and considerable vegetation pounded into the ground.

H. E. Milleson, who was in from his prune farm above Dundee the first of the week, said that with the present outlook for a bumper prune crop it was keeping growers guessing about how they may get help enough to harvest it. The fruit is developing rapidly and the trees are loaded to the limit.

W. E. Gabriel is one of our farmers who did not sow about 8 acres to vetch and oats for the fun of watching the aphids eat it, so he wrote to the O. A. C. for advice in the matter. They sent him a diagram of an apparatus to catch aphids. He had the contraption made according to the plans and started out, (as he says feeling like the boy that held the sack for the snipe to come in) and sure enough he found he was "Johnny on the spot" and was able to scoop up the aphids by the shovel (fire) full. In a short time he had a galvanized washtub full and more coming. In short he relieved that patch of about 100 pounds of aphids. If you want to see him smile ask him how to catch aphids.—Dayton Tribune.

A meeting of the high school alumni association is called for Friday evening at 8 o'clock at the high school building to which all members are invited.

Mrs. Mabel Stout, of Portland, and Mrs. Bertha Hodges, of Seattle, were here the first of the week visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ira K. Vantress.

The high school baccalaureate services will be held at Friends church Sunday night and the sermon will be given by Rev. Polard, of the Baptist church.

Carl Baker, aged 22 years and an only brother of Mrs. Clifford Spaulding, was here last Friday on a visit before leaving to enlist in the service for Uncle Sam.

Mrs. Martha Vestal celebrated her eightieth birthday anniversary last Saturday and was remembered by a number of her friends who sent her postal cards with words of cheer.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Jamison, the former a brother of S. W. Childers are here from Green City, Missouri, on a visit, this being the first meeting of the two families in 42 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Gage, the parents of Mrs. C. R. Duer, are here from Cleveland, Ohio, and expect to remain during the summer. They have many friends here who would be pleased to see them located permanently in Newberg.

Wm. M. Towle and his sister, Miss Phebe Towle, of Edinburgh Falls, Vermont, who are taking a year off for rest and recreation and who are touring the Coast country, were here Saturday and Sunday visiting their cousin, J. C. Colcord. Both have spent all their lives since reaching maturity teaching school, and Miss Towle has taught in the same school continuously for twenty-five years.

Miss Christine Hollingsworth, who is one of the seniors in Pacific College this year, is expecting her mother to arrive here this week from her home at Denair, California. She will attend college commencement and remain for the Yearly Meeting of Friends church. Miss Christine and her sister, who has been teaching in the Springbrook school the past year, anticipate visiting their old home in Illinois during the summer.

Mrs. P. J. Mann, whose death occurred at her home in Portland Sunday night, was one of the donors to the endowment fund raised for Pacific College a few years ago, she giving her note at that time for $15,000, payable at her death. She was the only daughter of "Aunt" Rebecca Lewis, well known in Portland among the pioneers and who has often been spoken of as the first member of the Friends church to locate in Oregon. The funeral of the deceased will be held Friday.

Rev. and Mrs. G. H. Crocker were here from Oregon City Tuesday in company with Mrs. Mary Stevens and daughter. Mrs. Stevens is a sister of J. M. Crawford and a daughter of Medorum Crawford, the pioneer who built the first railroad in Oregon, which consisted of a track made of wood rails over which he transported freight around the falls at Oregon City, his motor power being a yoke of black oxen, of which the few remaining settlers of that day still living will tell you for the asking.

Mrs. S. M. Calkins received a letter from her mother at Toppenish, Washington, the first of the week, giving information that her father, Cephas Maris, was no better than when last reported. The letter also told of the death of Mrs. Anna Cook, which occurred on last Sunday night. The latter was well known in Newberg, the family having lived on the Wynoski road for many years before going to North Yakima. The notice of her death will be a surprise and sorrow to a large circle of friends who held her in high esteem.

In a letter received from Dr. John S. Rankin he says he has been commissioned as a Captain in the Medical Relief Corps. This is gratifying news to his many Newberg friends for they know that he is worthy of the recognition extended. He may now be addressed as Capt. John S. Rankin, M. R. C., 363 Infantry, Camp Lewis, Washington. Mrs. Rankin has moved to Portland with the children where they are located with her parents at 281 Halliday Avenue. They will probably remain there until the close of the war when they will be welcomed back to Newberg again.

On last Saturday the 91st birthday of the Hon. J. C. Nelson was observed by his children at the home of his daughter, Mrs. A. P. Fletcher, of LaFayette. Besides the children present there were his old friends, George H. Himes, of Portland, John Wortman and Henry Gee, of McMinnville. The descendants were Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Fletcher and daughter, Mrs. W. G. Courtney, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Nelson, Mrs. Maggie Littlefield, Mrs. T. H. Bryan, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Davidson, Margaret and Kenneth Davidson, Mrs. Fred H. Lungren. Very interesting were the many reminiscences that were indulged in by the old time friends. There were four generations present.

Charley Cavell, bachelor and long-time resident, lost his residence on Wynoski street by fire Monday night and with it went practically all his personal effects, including surveying instruments, field notes valued at $2,000, a gun for which he paid $150, a Stradivarius violin and all his clothing except the suit he was wearing. He came up town in the evening and while attending a concert at the rink heard the fire bell but thought little of it, and later strolled back toward his home at 11:30 o'clock and was not aware that he was the loser until he neared the spot where the house had stood. How the fire could have originated he says he is unable to conjecture. He carried a small insurance policy on the house.

Henry Haveman, who is the Red Cross booster out in Mountain Top school district, is said to have been a little slow in getting interested when the work of soliciting funds was undertaken in the first drive, but he has now hit a pace that is worthy of emulation, so N. P. Nelson says. Mr. Haveman came in Saturday and reported that while their allotment was $167.50, they had raised $258.10, or $90.60 in excess of their quota. Of this amount $200.50 came from donations and $57.60 from a pie sale held, with N. P. Nelson as auctioneer. He was so well pleased with the response of those solicited for subscriptions that he asked to have their names published and following is the list: G. L. Upchurch, Henry Haveman, Mont Sleeper, M. C. Cady, Mrs. S. O. Senwell and family, W. M. Meyers, Mrs. Jeff B. Harriger, Stella Hubbard, L. T. Proctor, Bonnie Bales, Heinrich Otto, Sam Otto, C. L. Tatman, D. A. Otto, E. Guenther, G. W. Ramey, George A. Ziegler, Charles Tykeson, Ansel Tykeson, Bert Debolt, W. G. Marsh, Chas. Burton, Fred Matern, John W. Ornduff, Fielder Wood, J. R. Davis, John Davis, W. A. Hadden, S. Davis, J. F. Crews, Rufus Ornduff, Lacy Ornduff, Otto Ornduff, Leslie Blanchard, Walter Hoffman, R. Hoffman, Beulah Davis, Mervin Whitman, Frank Shook, Thos. Burns, J. A. Davis, Mrs. M. E. Cady, O. M. Davis.

SAVE wood for heating your house this winter by using electricity for doing your cooking this summer. The electric stove saves your food, and reduces the table bill. The electric stove saves lots of labor and makes cooking a pastime instead of drudgery.

ASK those who use the electric range for an opinion. We give a special rate of 4 cents per kilowatt hour for cooking purposes. It beats wood at $5.00 per cord. Consult us about an electric range. We make the price right and give you plenty of time to pay for one.
