In company with his father and brother, Dalton, he will spend the time on a tract of land on the North Fork of the Santiam river, which they own. What time they are not fishing they will spend improving the place.

A card received from Moses Votaw, written from Tacoma, Washington, gives information of the death of his mother, Jane B. Votaw, who passed to her eternal reward on Tuesday of this week, aged 88 years. The deceased was a minister of the gospel in Friends church for many years and for fifteen years resided in Newberg with her husband, Jonathan Votaw, who died some years ago. They came to Oregon from Iowa where they spent their younger years. On leaving Newberg they located at 634 Steele street, Tacoma, which has since been the Votaw home. James Lewelling is an uncle of the deceased.

Clifford N. Terrell left here Tuesday morning for Washington, D. C., to take up clerical work in one of the departments. He took the civil service examination a short time ago and was ordered to report for duty at the seat of government at once, though he was not informed just what department he would be assigned to. Mr. Terrell was engaged in office work in the Railway Mail Service for several years but was compelled to give it up on account of his health. He is not sure that he will be able to stand up under the strain of inside work now but will try it out. From the standpoint of efficiency he is well fitted for clerical work and can hold down any job he is willing to undertake. Mrs. Terrell and the children will remain here for the present at least.

If every family in the nation cooked with electricity there would be no coal shortage next winter with its attendant suffering and hardships.

ELECTRICITY is cheaper than wood at $5.00 per cord.

It does its work perfectly and is a big factor in reducing the human effort in food preparation.

WE give a special rate of 4 cents per kilowatt hour for cooking. The kitchen is cool and clean during the hot days, food is sanitary and pure when cooked the modern way. We have the celebrated Westinghouse Copeman Automatic ranges for sale. Buy them on your own terms.

The wife of Stephen Richardson who was assisting in the care of a blind sister at Lexington, Indiana, died ten days ago and was buried there. Mr. Richardson was unable, on account of the condition of his health, to go to attend the funeral.

A head-on collision of two freight trains on the S. P. a short distance west of Oswego, which occurred at 11 o'clock on last Friday, resulted in the death of the engineer on the west bound train and serious injury to several others of the two crews. It is stated that the engineer on the west bound train failed to read his orders correctly. All the passenger trains for the balance of the day were sent around by Beaverton.

WORKING UNDER PRESSURE.

"I care not how my cook makes muffins, but I must know how her mind works," says Chesterton, or words to that effect. Translating this into modern terms it would read, "I do not care how much wheat there is, but I must know where it works best." Just now wheat is like some men. It works best under pressure.

In this year of 1918 there are four places that wheat may be. It may be in Australia or Argentina, in which case it is unimportant, for these countries are glutted with it. It may be in America, where its value is well understood. Or it may be in Europe, where it will do some of the hardest and most necessary work for the allies serving with the soldiers of France and Italy and with our own regulars and nationals in the trenches. If Americans want to get the most food-pounds of work out of wheat, they will send all they can to Europe, where the pressure is high.

LARGE ORDER.

"Permit me to send you over some vegetables from my own garden." "That's kind of you. Send me some lettuce, beets, radishes, turnips, a few tomatoes and—" "Hold on a minute. You remind me of Germany ordering wheat from Ukraina. I just want to submit a few samples—not my entire crop."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

AWFULLY ANNOYING.

The Tommy—Lord! You've four shrapnel dents an' a bullet 'ole in your trench 'elmet.
The Sammy—Now, isn't that a shame? And it's a brand-new one, too. Is there any place nearby where I can have it blocked?
Medical Officer (posting man to labor battalion)—Do you think you are fit for really hard labor?
Hard Case—Well, sir, some of the best judges have thought so.—Passing Show.
