The Choice of Those Who Know

Manufacturers and leading motor car distributors recommend ZEROLENE. The majority of motorists use ZEROLENE. ZEROLENE reduces wear and gives more power because it keeps its lubricating body at cylinder heat. Gives less carbon because, being refined from selected California asphalt-base crude, it burns clean and goes out with exhaust.

ZEROLENE is the correct oil for all types of automobile engines. It is the correct oil for your automobile. Get our lubrication chart showing the correct consistency for your car.

At dealers everywhere and Standard Oil Service Stations.
STANDARD OIL COMPANY
(California)

ZEROLENE
The Standard Oil for Motor Cars

Correct Lubrication for the "V" Type Engine
This, the "V" Type of automobile engine, like all internal combustion engines, requires an oil that holds its lubricating qualities at cylinder heat, burns clean in the combustion chamber and goes out with exhaust. Zerolene fills these requirements perfectly, because it is correctly refined from selected California asphalt-base crude.

Mrs. Peters, from Oregon City, is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Andrew Kersey.

The Misses Matilda and Rosalia Wohlgemuth are visiting with their aunt in Cornelius.

Alfred and Arthur Everest have been quite ill with influenza, but are able to be out again.

N. T. Sanders, of Newberg, was out to visit at the home of his father, W. H. Sanders, Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Farrell "watched the old year out" at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Brouillette.

Mrs. George Smith was down from Parrett Mountain visiting with her mother, Mrs. H. N. Baker, Saturday.

Miss Irene Powell spent Wednesday night with the Bryant children while their mother was in Portland.

A jolly crowd of young folks gathered at the gymnasium, Tuesday night to welcome in the new year.

Fernwood school opened Monday after the Christmas holidays, but the attendance is small on account of so much sickness.

The Misses Ethel and Ariouine Johnson were out from Newberg Sunday afternoon, visiting with Miss Grace Riley and Mrs. A. S. Livengood.

Mike McKearn sent three fine wild ducks from Eastern Oregon to his brother, W. A. Parrish, last week. T. H. Parrish and family were invited over to help eat them Sunday.

Miss Della Parrish went to Portland Thursday to attend to some business preparatory to entering college there next Monday. While there she was the guest of Miss Mae McLeod.

The Red Cross meets at the home of Mrs. U. S. Bryant on Thursdays from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m., for sewing. It is desired that the members of the Fernwood auxiliary take more interest in this important work of the Red Cross. Don't leave the work for a few! Come out and do your share. Don't be a slacker!

RIBBON RIDGE

Mrs. Francis Rich is nursing Mrs. Anna Sallee.

R. G. Cook was a Portland visitor on Saturday.

The regular meeting of the Dundee Woman's Club was held on Thursday last. After the business meeting a lesson in basketry was given.

Mr. and Mrs. Shannahan and son, Elmo, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Bliss New Year's day. They enjoyed a trip up the Columbia Highway as far as Eagle Creek.

The regular monthly meeting of the Red Cross was held at Community Hall on Saturday evening. Routine business was transacted and interesting letters read from Elmer Warner and Carl M. Stevens.

Lieutenant Bernhard Groth, who has been stationed at Fort Baker, California, was ordered to France and got as far as New York City when the armistice was signed. He has resigned from the service and is expected home soon.

On New Year's evening the high school and the high school alumni were entertained at the school house by the Y. M. P. C. A delightful evening of games was enjoyed by those present. Refreshments were served just after midnight.

Dundee's second team went to Astoria on the last night of the year and defeated a basket ball team from that place. At the game at Community Hall on New Year's night the high school alumni beat the Y. M. P. C. in a hotly contested game.

MARKED CHANGE IN ALASKA

Visitors to Territory Need No Longer Fear They Will Have to Exist on Canned "Eats."

Not many years ago the Alaskan was like a man on a desert island—he had to have his meals sent to him. Now, on a pinch, the northern territory could furnish its own board very adequately. Listen to this all-Alaskan menu, furnished for the dinner given at Anchorage to the special federal commission, sent to investigate the natural resources and transportation problems of south and central Alaska:

Cordova clam soup, Kachemak bay shrimp, Alaska celery and radishes, Seldovia halibut, Cook inlet salmon; Kenai moose, Chickaloon mountain sheep, Whitney's ranch fresh pork, Matanuska potatoes, Alaska peas, turnips, carrots, cauliflower, Hope blueberry pie, Anchorage dairy butter and milk, Anchorage roasted coffee.

The wild country of gold rushes and canned eats has progressed to a point where it has productive farms and dairies, is capable of producing its own food, and is beginning to ship a surplus to the States.

TYPICAL OF WHOLE NATION

Impossible to State Just What Part of the Country Splendid Americans Came From.

Recently we sat in a refreshment room of a railroad station conversing casually with a foreign officer. Suddenly tall men in olive drab began to come in by groups to wash up. They were on their way. The officer, though he tried to go on talking, couldn't keep his eyes off the men, and his responses became more and more absent as they continued to crowd in.

"My God!" he exclaimed, "where do they come from?"

Then we looked at them. Not one seemed less than six feet tall. They were a thin, hard, big-shouldered, crag-faced lot of men, the color of new bronze, each with two deep lines around the mouth, gentle with each other, speaking softly, but certainly the most formidable German-killers you could find in all the world. We should not have noticed them particularly but for the officer's dated appreciation.

"They are probably from somewhere in the mountains," we said at last.

The officer gave us a strange look. Such men as these, and we took them so much for granted that we couldn't tell where they came from! —New York Tribune.

PLENTY OF ROOM

Now's a good chance for a dip while there ain't nobody usin' de ocean!

"Why don't you go to work and try to make yourself useful?"

"I'm a victim of the war, sir," said the seedy individual.

"How's that?"

"I spent every dollar I had to lay in a stock of 'Can the Kaiser' buttons to peddle on the streets. By the time the shipment arrived the kaiser had already been canned." —Birmingham Age-Herald.

ONE RESULT.

"I'd like to win one of these numerous prizes I see offered by the magazines."

"Winning a prize is all right, but the attending publicity kills it."

"How so?"

"Everybody wants to borrow. You could loan it out forty times."

—Kansas City Journal.
