DUNDEE

Mrs. R. W. Swink is visiting her sister in Portland.

Mrs. Michael Mueller went to Portland on Thursday.

William Wilson is the latest Red Hill business man to join the ranks of the autoists.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. S. Allan went to Tacoma last week to meet their son, Sgt. Alexander J. Allan, who arrived on Tuesday at Camp Lewis, with Company A, 162nd Infantry, just returned from service in France. While in Tacoma the Allans visited their daughter, Mrs. Bruno Homberger. Miss Isabella Allan accompanied them.

Word has been received from the Portland Chapter of the Red Cross that there is a tremendous need for continued activity in the sewing department. It is expected that work will continue until June. The women of Dundee who did such splendid work last year are urged to let Red Cross work have first place in their week's program so long as the need is urgent. Come every Tuesday at 12:30.

The play given on March 1st by some of the high school and upper grade pupils brought out a large crowd. The play, "The Old Maid's Convention," was well staged, the costumes being exceedingly original and appropriate. In an all star cast, and one so large, it is impossible to mention each player. The characters were all well represented and the transformations pleasing. Mrs. Hes, who directed the production, is receiving congratulations upon the success of the evening's entertainment. The proceeds were presented to the Dundee Woman's Club, a courtesy which the members of the club appreciate.

On Thursday, after the regular business meeting of the Dundee Woman's Club, a mock trial was enjoyed. Nearly all the members present took part in one capacity or another, and all entered into the spirit of the occasion with mirth concealed beneath a wonderful assumption of dignity. Frequent pauses for the outbursts of laughter were cut short by the stern command of the judge for "Order in the Court." Mrs. Newton Bailey as Judge and Mrs. F. W. Meyer, the Prosecuting Attorney, were especially clever in their characterizations. After the trial the hostess, Mrs. Bland Herring, and two assistants, served a two course luncheon, a stretching of the rules of the club, but condoned on account of its being a birthday celebration for the hostess.

All business in Dundee and the surrounding country for miles was stopped on Tuesday morning and the whole community, in observance of the proclamation of the mayor, assembled at the station to meet the nine o'clock train from Portland. It was known that one of Dundee's Overseas boys would arrive and it was expected that some of the boys from other parts of the county would also be on board. As the train approached the station a perfect bedlam arose from bells, horns, cymbals and cheers, each person trying to express his joy over the safe return of Dundee's first boy from the A. E. F. As Sgt. Alex. Allan jumped from the train and caught his grandmother up in a great "bear hug" the tumult subsided and the assembled school children burst into song. Then, after a salute to Old Glory carried by B. S. Hunter, a G. A. R. veteran, the sergeant passed between the lines of school children, shaking hands with each one and receiving their greetings. Next the turn of the grown-ups! Oh, the smiles, for the soldier boy and neighbor for neighbor until the whole affair was one big community grin that warmed all hearts for the whole day! The Dundee people were much disappointed that plans at McMinnville had been changed and the rest of the boys taken up the West side instead of being routed through Dundee. The ladies of Dundee had prepared gifts of flowers, fruits, candies, nuts, etc., for all of the Yamhill county boys, to be handed to them at the train. When the mayor found out the state of affairs he immediately began to requisition autos and then invited all who wished to go to McMinnville to join him and go to see the boys anyway. It was a jolly delegation of about thirty that broke into the celebration at McMinnville and when the mayor of that city and those in charge of the celebration discovered the Dundee delegation, the Dundeeites were received with open arms. Prof. Anderson was called upon to make the presentation speech and the Dundee ladies distributed Dundee's gifts, modest tokens, but an expression of our community's esteem for and good will toward our Yamhill county boys. The beautiful program at McMinnville was enjoyed by all from here as was also the beautiful dinner to which the McMinnville ladies insisted upon our folk remaining. The bonds of friendship have always been strong between Dundee and our county seat and today's "doings" have added new friendship between the cities. Mayor Shannahan and his associates were enthusiastic over the good time, the chance to meet our fine boys from "Over There," and the opportunity to hear the speeches of those boys. The mayor also expressed his satisfaction at the way the ladies of Dundee had planned and had brought into co-operation the whole community for this, one of Dundee's greatest days. (Incidentally it might be remarked that a few bouquets are due our mayor and the men on the reception committee.) Once more Dundee has shown that wonderful community spirit that is making this small place such a marked locality in the Northwest.

DUNDEE

The following extracts from a letter from a Yamhill county boy is a jolly expression of his joy in being back in the good old U. S. A.:

We arrived this morning, full moon at 2:30. We lay in the harbor about four miles below Ellis Island (til 9 a. m., without even realizing that we were really in the U. S. A., when all at once down the home stretch there came a boat rapidly approaching bearing Mayor Hylan's committee of welcome, consisting of a real brass band and a number of real American girls and business men. Their boat circled ours—with the band playing and everybody yelling as loud as possible. Then we knew we were home—never to leave—for those people seemed almost too real to be alive.

An hour later we steamed up past the Statue of Liberty and docked at Pier 61, on the North river. Then things started. Never since we left the U. S. had any of us ever refused to accept anything to eat but this was once that it was necessary or due of expansion near the equator.

The K. of C., Y. M. C. A., Salvation army and Red Cross were trying to give us all that we wanted, and they certainly did.

We ferried from Pier 61 to the Pennsylvania railroad station where we loaded onto a real train—not 40 hommes or 8 chevroux (40 men or 8 horses)—but real soft-cushioned cars, and rode to a couple of miles from the place that we are now situated.

We arrived at our barracks and then we messed and then I found this Y. M. hut about 75 yards distant. And do you know what Sgt. C. and I found tonight? A place to purchase anything. Of course we could not imagine it for sometime, but we came to soon enough to dispose of real ice cream, pie, milk, candy, etc., in great quantity. Honestly, we ate till we could hold no more and then stood and gazed at all the good things that were left.

It did our systems good to be able to merely gaze at the stuff. Never in France was a man able to purchase all that he desired of a good thing, so we felt like buying till some one told us we could have no more.

Now the following is the truth but you may not believe it—one of the fellows asked for all of the almond bars that he could buy and found that he didn't have enough money to pay for that many so he took only forty-eight bars. I can't imagine myself in the army tonight for this is certainly a swell camp—spring beds, ample room, hot showers, dining rooms, etc.

Today's papers contain statements that the "fighting 41st (Sunset) Division undoubtedly will parade on Fifth Avenue on February 22nd. Let's hope not. We have but one
