F. L. Harford was out from Portland Wednesday looking after property interests here.

Fred Sutherland, of Red Bluff, California, is in town visiting his mother, Mrs. C. B. Pyle.

A brother of R. L. Booth and his wife were down from McMinnville Tuesday, combining a visit with business.

Thos. Parry and wife, of Vancouver, spent Sunday with Wilber Shook and family and other Newberg friends.

The Civic Improvement and Wednesday Clubs will give a social at the club rooms on Tuesday evening, March 25.

Miss Agnes Munson came from Salem Friday evening and visited her parents on West Fourth street until Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Kaufman were called to Portland Saturday by the serious illness of their daughter-in-law, Mrs. George Kaufman.

Mrs. M. B. Terrell says it is likely that her son, L. B. Charles, and wife will come from Lake county to remain with her in her declining years.

The West Chehalis second team trimmed the Newberg Boy Scouts in a basket ball game played on the high school floor Wednesday night to the tune of 31 to 6.

Joseph Petschel, who came out from St. Paul, Minnesota, recently, and first stopped in Portland, has located in Newberg, at 802 First street. He is a carpenter and builder.

Frank Duncan and family, who have been living at Hillsboro and Portland for the past few years, returned to Newberg recently and are living with Mrs. Sarah Christenson, the mother of Mrs. Duncan.

D. E. Heise, of Norton county, Kansas, who has been spending a few days in Oregon City with relatives, came up for a visit with his old friend, R. H. Paxson. This is his sixth visit to Newberg and he is seriously thinking of purchasing a farm near here.

John W. Friser spent a couple days in Portland this week.

H. M. Hoskins came home from Salem for an over Sunday visit with the family.

Ous Wedegarten, of Hustis, Nebraska, has been here recently visiting his brother-in-law, John Miller.

John E. Goff died at his home on North Main street Tuesday night at the age of 71 years. Funeral services will be conducted at the W. W. Hollingsworth Co. chapel on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock by Rev. G. A. Pollard.

Two Germans named Fogelsang and Smith, respectively, who were on the way to their homes in South Dakota, stopped over here on Tuesday and were shown about by Wm. Schaad. They came north from Southern California where they spent some time seeing the country.

A fire started in the basement of a small barn located on South Meridian street, by a couple of small children who were playing, was the occasion of a fire call Tuesday afternoon, to which the fire department responded promptly. Little damage was done, the barn being empty.

A son of J. W. Henry, who was born in Newberg when the town was quite new, and who has developed into a prominent railroad man, has been here during the week with his wife for a visit with his father. He is at present in the employ of the Canadian Pacific railroad and located in Canada.

Mrs. Ed Hodges gave a birthday party Wednesday at her home in honor of her daughter, Mrs. Art Hayman. Light refreshments were served, the decorations being yellow. Those present were Mrs. Blackburn, Mrs. Martin, Mrs. Boothby, Mrs. Arney, Mrs. Nell Hodges, Mrs. Art Hayman, Mrs. Ed Hodges.

Dr. J. E. Wetherbee, of Portland, who recently bought the Henry Sidel farm on Chehalis Mountain, north of Rex, is located on the farm and milking twelve head of Holstein cows which he bought of J. C. Lemon. Dairying is not new to him as he was manager of the Star Dairy of nearly 200 cows for some time. He has remodeled the barn on the place and is working the house over preparatory to enjoying life on the ranch. Wednesday morning he brought 250 pounds of milk to the Newberg Creamery, all of which he "extracted" from the cows with his own hands.

Chase & Linton have sold their plant at Oregon City and will retire from that territory. Oregon City parties who wanted the plant asked them to put a price on it which they did and the deal was made at the price named. They will concentrate their efforts on their gravel plant here and expect to begin work soon to increase the capacity about 75 percent as they have contracts already secured to justify the outlay. They began the gravel supply business here in a small way several years ago and by hard work and close application to the business have succeeded in building up a good trade. The increased interest in road improvement makes a good demand for gravel for road builders are beginning to learn that river gravel is better for road work than much of the crushed rock that is being used.

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Munson visited over Sunday with Salem friends.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Watt, of St. Johns, are in town making some repairs on their First street property.

C. F. Butler, who has been laid up for some time with blood poisoning, is again at his post with the Miller Mercantile Co.

Miss Mildred Ferguson, formerly with the U. S. National Bank, has accepted a position as stenographer with the Miller Mercantile Co.

J. H. Rees recently added to his grain, berry and prune farm by the purchase of the A. H. Tower tract of 27 acres which joins him on the west.

Clifford Knickerbocker, who was recently discharged from the Army, is back at his old place as bookkeeper in the United States National Bank.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Markee, of Portland, have rented the 20 acre tract out east of Rex known as the Dr. Stimm's place, where they located last week.

The K. and L. of S. will hold their regular meeting in the I. O. O. F. hall tomorrow evening. A musical program will be rendered and refreshments will be served.

Mrs. S. M. King has a recent letter from her daughter, Mrs. H. J. Macdonald, saying she is coming out from Kenecott, Alaska, next month with her little son to have his eyes treated.

John Carmine, a son-in-law of Mrs. Ella Langellier, who has been engaged as Y. M. C. A. secretary at Ft. Lawton, Seattle, stopped over here the first of the week for a short visit when on his way to engage in similar work at Ft. Russell, Wyoming.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Spaulding and little one went to Salem last Sunday to meet Lieutenant Walter Spaulding who arrived home from France, Sunday evening, he having been mustered out of the service at Camp Dix, on the Atlantic Coast, soon after his arrival from abroad.

W. J. Nottage, who recently gave up the occupation of print shop man, which he followed for many years, to become a tiller of the soil in nature's great outdoors, is making daily hikes out to his new purchase of land west of Newberg where he proposes to grow a prune orchard.

Isaac Hunt, who recently purchased the Chambers place, known as the Orevania Farm, and located between Newberg and Rex, is offering his Portland home for sale and announces that he will make Orevania Farm one of the finest show places in Oregon and will make his home there.

Earl Jones, who is a member of the Montana state legislature, is here for a short visit and his wife and little one who have been here for some time visiting at the home of his mother, Mrs. Anna Jones, and with her parents in Portland, Rev. and Mrs. W. B. Hinson, will return with him.

Fred and Robert Pope, of Elsie, and Mrs. C. O. Poole, of Trout Lake, Washington, sons and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Pope, of Newberg, were called to their father's bedside Saturday on account of his having a severe attack of neuralgia. Mr. Pope is now much better. The sons, who are Clatsop county stock raisers, returned to their homes on Wednesday.

While not as strong, a musical company as some that have visited Newberg, the Sam Lewis Co. gave a very pleasing entertainment at Wood-Mar Hall on Thursday night of last week. Miss Ruth Lavery, the violinist, captivated the audience and was the favorite of the company, with Mr. Lewis, soloist, a close second. As Friday night was an open date for them, the ladies remained over here at the Imperial for a rest until Saturday morning when they left for Eugene. Ralph Parlette will give the next lyceum number on Tuesday night, April 8.

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Wassam and sister, Mrs. Grey, are enjoying a visit from a former Pennsylvania friend and neighbor, Mrs. Katherine Opendorf. Mrs. Opendorf came from Germany thirty-six years ago, and is all American. She has even taboored the German language and speaks only in French and English. Two of her sons enlisted in the war against Germany, and the third, a boy of less than seventeen, made several attempts to get into the radio service, but was rejected on account of being under weight and under size. Mrs. Opendorf says her one daily prayer is that her aged mother, from whom she has not heard since 1915, still lives, and is numbered among the good old German women who are now being kind to the boys with the Army of Occupation, of which many of our boys have recently written. On her way out Mrs. Opendorf stopped in Indiana long enough to purchase a farm, on which she located a daughter, and she may invest in Oregon property and locate here permanently.

RESOLUTIONS OF CONDOLENCE

We, the undersigned committee, appointed by Shiloh Post No. 77, Department of Oregon G. A. R., to draft resolutions on the death of Comrade John Hutzen, beg leave to submit the following:

Whereas, In His allwise Providence, it has pleased the Grand Commander of the Universe to call from our ranks our comrade and friend, John Hutzen, to the life beyond, therefore,

Resolved, That we, the members of Shiloh Post No. 77, Department of Oregon G. A. R., will miss him at our Post meetings and social gatherings, and it was with sadness of heart that we bid him our last farewell, and we as comrades extend our heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved family and friends, and recommend that a copy of these Resolutions be given them, one to the city paper for publication, and one filed in the records of the Post.

Wm. Clemmens, Geo. Meader, A. Bartholomew.

CONRAD W. WERTH WRITES MR. AND MRS. GETTMAN

January 27, 1919. Dear Gettmans—We are now at anchor in Quiberon Bay after spending fourteen days on the sea. As soon as the moon draws the water far enough up the river we are going to Nantes. One ship ran aground a few days ago in attempting to make the trip at low tide.

We took the southern route, crossing opposite Georgia, where the storms are less severe. Even then the waves washed over the bridge deck sometimes. The first land we saw was the Azores, which we passed at a distance of about five miles. The green fields and white houses on the hillside looked very beautiful. Near these islands we saw a school of porpoise. They swam along the side of the ship and occasionally jumped out of the water. I have been looking for whales and porpoises but haven't seen either.

We have been here since last Thursday. The scenery through our port hole changes continually. Only the forward anchor is down, so we are staked out here just like a cow staked out to grass. There are three of us on this ship.

Paris is about nine hours' ride from Nantes, so if we can get enough time off we are going to take a trip there.

For about the first three days I was what they call sea sick. It was hard to eat and impossible to keep it down. Since then I haven't been sea sick in the least.

One morning one of the boys went out to wash and when near the end of the passage way a wave came out to meet him. He started back but the wave overtook him and soaked him almost to the knees. Instead of showing good judgment by staying out with the water, he opens the door and comes in, and so does the water. You should have seen me grab for my suitcase and shoes. We had an ocean all of our own in our room, the waves dashing up on the port and starboard bank of the room with each roll of the ship. This happened when I was just getting up and about the third day when I was still feeling a little unnecessary. I turned back to bed and thought of what a miserable trip I was going to have and what a brave man Columbus was. One boy didn't get his suitcase up in time so he now has a beautiful white salt water band all the way around it.

I wish I could call at Hoboken for my mail now so that I would know what is going on at home and elsewhere, but all I can do is write. They say that we will not be back before March 15. Our mascot, a large cat, disappeared one night so some say we will never get back.

About six of the men in our crew came from Portland, but I didn't know any of them before I left.

Your brother,
Conrad W. Werth,
Warrant Mach., U. S. N. Steam Eng. School, Stevens Institute, Hoboken, New Jersey.

EXCHANGE COMMENT

Did you ever feel that a business man was uncertain as to who you were and was hesitating over having to ask you? And you volunteered your name and relieved him. But unless you have been in his place, you can hardly appreciate the unspoken blessings called down on you.—Carlton Sentinel.

A lot of pernicious politicians make capital out of pecking at Portland. They simply irritate the city, while inflaming prejudice in the country. The result is—misunderstanding and friction. Portland prospers in proportion as the state prospers, and will co-operate with the state in any matter for the development of any part of the state. But the way to enlist her interest

The League of Nations is designed to perpetuate peace. Why should not the United States be a member? Borah, Poindexter, Vardaman and other politicians, simply because they hate President Wilson, are fighting against it. They as much as state that they are in favor of further wars. Mothers, wives and other peace-lovers are not only opposed to such sentiment, but they propose to protect their sons and husbands by retiring to private life those who would encourage war for the sake of adverse criticism leading to, they formerly hope, party promotion. This League of Nations is what we owe the soldiers who have gone through fire. If the senators who are fighting it are not careful they will be placed in the unenviable pro-German class.—Woodburn Independent.

SURVIVORS OF FEUDAL TIMES

Prussian Junkers Rooted in Their Belief of Their Complete Superiority to Ordinary Man.

A Junker is a member of a noble Prussian family, who belongs to the landed aristocracy, and, as a rule, adopts the profession of arms and enters the caste circle of the officer corps. Thanks to the survival of feudalism in the organization of German society, the term has acquired a broader significance. Hence as commonly used today it indicates a narrow-minded, arrogant, and, often, bellicose member of the aristocracy.

Since 1862, when, under the leader-

TWO DETAILS NECESSARY TO LIFE

- No. 1. Good, wholesome food properly cooked.
- No. 2. Warm, clean clothes properly washed.

Cooking is a job every woman tires of. Three times a day, 365 days in the year, 1196 times from Christmas to Christmas, the fire must be made in the old cook stove. What a monotonous, tiresome, wearing thought. Modern man, thoughtful, cunning and skillful, has found the answer.

The Electric Range

Touch a button, the fire is made. Clean, Comfortable, Wonderful cooking at reasonable cost.

Once a week all the clothes must be scrubbed and rubbed, rinsed and wrung, and nothing is more trying, no work harder. The Electric Washing Machine is a perfect answer to these conditions. The cost to operate is small.

ship of Bismarck, the aristocratic party came into political power, the term has been applied to those who hold reactionary views, because they desire to preserve intact the exclusive social, military and political privileges belonging traditionally to the "well born."

Junkerism and Junkerdom indicate the policies and the customary round of ideas, judgments, and prejudices characteristic of the Junker class.

They have been and still are of great influence, for they have affected Prussian domestic policies by their organized efforts to preserve and protect large landed estates; they have molded German social life by their assumption of complete superiority to the ordinary man, especially to the man who engages in trade or manufactures, while the Prussian officer corps has taken its distinctive tone from their haughty aloofness from the civilian population.
