

Locals and Personals

Probably the most notable event of the week was a shave and hair cut by Ivan Everest.

Mrs. E. M. Hoakins and little son visited with relatives in McMinnville the first of the week.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Higgins on April 5th, a 9½ pound boy. Raymond Sidney is his name.

Thomas Gilderleeve, of Toledo, visited D. P. Strait and Jack Pain-ton, old Nebraska neighbors, a few days last week.

Rev. S. P. Van Dyke went to Ash-land last Friday where he will con-duct services in the Brethren church for a couple weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Brooks, who have been in Portland for three months, are again at their home on West Hancock street.

Mrs. Boyd Luke entertained her daughter, Mrs. Luke, and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Hutton, of Portland, a few days last week.

Mrs. Tom Eaton, of Pickabo, Ida-ho, and Mrs. A. D. Friedlich, of Olympia, Washington, are visiting their grandmother, Mrs. Driver.

Hon. Sam Laughlin and two other gentlemen came over from Yamhill Tuesday for an interview with New-berg people on road improvement work.

The Civic Improvement Club will hold a business meeting Friday evening, April 11, at 8 o'clock. All mem-bers are requested to attend. Jennie D. Miller, President.

W. S. Bean has bought the prop-erty on Wynooki street, formerly known as the Hotel property and later owned by the Slaters, and will improve it for a home.

G. A. Troutman and son, A. E. Troutman, from Logansport, Indiana, who are prospecting for a location in Oregon, were in this vicinity Wed-nesday looking at farm land.

Mr. and Mrs. Chet Bottom, who have been living in California for the past few months, have returned to Newberg and Mr. Bottom is working in the McDonald black-smith shop.

Luther Newlin has returned to the Alberta country where he will re-main during the spring and summer and work his teams the same as last season, unless he finds buyers for them.

Ben Evans has given up his job as street car conductor in Portland and will take to the soil, he having rented the Whittlesey fruit farm on the side of Chehalis mountain above Springbrook.

J. W. Henry enjoyed a visit last Sunday with his youngest daughter, Miss Evangeline Henry, and his son-in-law, Richard Madison, wife and son, Wellington, who were out from Portland for the day.

A Sunday school was organized in Newberg last Sunday under the auspices of the Church of God, with an enrollment of 24. The congrega-tion is fitting up the Watt building on Main street and expect to hold regular services.

Lieutenant Glenn Paxson has gone to St. Helena to take an engi-neering position on State Highway work under the direction of State Engineer Nunn, they having been friends at O. A. C., Mr. Nunn having graduated the year before Mr. Pax-son finished his course.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. John Ehr-wert on last Sunday, a son.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Croser on last Saturday, a daughter. Nathan Cook and family have been here during the week visiting his parents.

Harold Moore, who is working in a Portland hotel, spent last Sunday at home in Newberg.

W. D. Honens has been out from Portland during the week visiting his daughter, Mrs. Oliver Evans.

Charley True was up from Mid-dleton the first of the week mixing with G. A. R. associates in Newberg. County Clerk C. B. Wilson came down from the county seat Sunday afternoon for a visit with his aged parents.

E. W. Roseman, secretary-manager of the United Motor Bus Co., and the company's attorney, W. T. Hume, were out from Portland on business today.

Miss Dorothy Hull came home from Astoria in company with her brother, Professor Alexander Hull, for an over Sunday visit with her mother.

F. L. Ames is planning to make a visit with his brother in Wyoming during the summer, and may go far-ther east for an extended visit at his old home in Wisconsin.

The heavy frosts of the first of the week nipped the early strawber-ry bloom on the lower lands, but it is not likely that much if any dam-age was done to fruit bloom.

Mr. and Mrs. Orange Elliott and daughter, Florence, went to Wash-ougal last Saturday for an over Sun-day visit with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Omer Gense.

John C. Keller and family have returned from Astoria and are again residents of Newberg, they having bought property on Fifth and Che-halem streets. John is never afflicted with the blues, neither does he permit those in his company to be thus incapacitated and consequently his many friends are pleased to see him back again.

W. E. Terrell contemplates doing considerable work in the way of im-provements on the house located on the lot south of his residence, which has been occupied for the past few years by the Jesse Cook family, and consequently the latter will move farther down Wynooki street to the property held by W. B. Sims a few years ago.

Two Fords came together rather suddenly last Sunday when Jesse Jensen, who was new at the wheel, ran into Dr. Dixon, putting both ma-chines out of commission, though not doing any very serious damage. The little daughter of Will Cornell, who saw the accident, fell from her bicycle in fright and sustained a broken arm.

Ensign Dale Butt is home from Pensacola, Florida, where he pre-pared himself for the aero service in the Navy, and is feasting on his mother's good cooking. He says he thoroughly enjoys the work of the "high flyer" and thinks there is nothing equal to it. After being dis-charged from the service he visited with his brother, Ralph, in New York, and spent a night with his grandmother at Bedford, Pennsyl-vania. Ralph is also expected home in the course of a short time.

Mrs. George Harrison and daugh-ter, who were here from Tacoma, vis-iting the former's brother, E. R. Ridgeway, out in the Chehalis Cen-ter neighborhood, spent a day in Newberg visiting the Prof. Oliver Weener family.

The proceeds of the Springbrook pie social given last Friday evening amounted to $25.45, of which $11.50 will be used to enroll the school as a member of the Junior Red Cross. The remainder will be given to the Armenian Relief.

W. E. White & Co. report the sale of the Johnson residence property on Main street near Fourth, formerly owned by Wm. Slater. Mrs. Ella Rhoades, of Dallas, is the purchaser, and the Johnsons, who are in poor health, will go to Montana, their former home.

J. R. Ellison, of the Ellison-White Lyceum bureau, drove out from Port-land in his big car Tuesday evening, bringing Ralph Parlette, the lecturer, and six others who are connected with the bureau. All remained for the lecture and returned to the city after it was over.

The name of Mrs. Vesta Hollings-worth was inadvertently omitted in giving the names of the guests who visited Mrs. M. E. Bankson a week ago Sunday. Her many friends in Newberg will be glad to know she is enjoying her work with the Y. W. C. A. in Portland.

All Knights and Ladies of Security are requested to be present at the meeting Friday evening, as District Manager L. M. Thomas will be there. He is forming a class to attend a meeting of the Eureka Council in Portland, at which some of the Na-tional officers will be present.

At a meeting of the city council held Monday night Dr. George Lar-kin tendered his resignation as mayor. He says his time is so oc-cupied with his own business he does not have the time to devote to the business of the city. The matter was laid over until the next meeting of the council which will be held on April 21.

On the program for the Chautau-que that comes to Newberg this season will be found the names of three people who have filled lyceum num-bers here, namely, Judge George D. Alden, of Boston, J. C. Herberman, of Seattle, and Ben Gearhart Morrison, who was on the course this year. Judge Alden has lectured twice in Newberg and is a very forceful plat-form orator.

John L. Hill, aged 68 years, died rather suddenly Tuesday morning at his home at 804 North Meridian street, after having worked as usual the day before, though he was not very strong. The funeral has been delayed on account of awaiting the arrival of a son who is in the army, and will not be held until Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the M. E. church.

Prof. Alexander Hull is home from a stay of three weeks at Astoria with his sister, Miss Dorothy, who has been located there for some time filling a government position. No report comes of his doing much fish-ing while there, but it is suspected by his friends that he may have spent the time making a study of sea monsters to be worked in with a coming magazine story.

W. H. Hitchen, who recently sold out his farm and personal property at Gwinner, North Dakota, where he has been located for the past few years, arrived here with his family a few days ago. He says they are back in Oregon to stay this time and is in the market for the purchase of a farm on which to locate. Their trip to Dakota was profitable, he says, as they sold out to good advan-tage.

D. H. Lambert, of West Chehalis, was quite severely injured on Mon-day by the kick-back of the crank on his tractor which flew off and up in the air a hundred feet, as a bystander estimated it, and in fall-ing struck Mr. Lambert on the cheek as he was looking about to see where it went. The bone that surrounds the eye socket was broken, making an ugly wound which Dr. Hester was called to dress.

Sergeant Calvin Blair, who spent several months in France, arrived home a few days ago and immedi-ately donned a civilian suit. He is in fine trim and says he had excel-lent health all the time he was gone. His division had just received orders to head for the battle front for ac-tion when the announcement of the proposed armistice was proclaimed and consequently he saw no service on the fighting line. He says one of the most awe-inspiring sights he ever witnessed was the trip across, with the fleet carrying soldiers herded in close together, and with the array of small craft with which they were surrounded speeding here and there in all directions keeping vigil with an alertness that defied the despoiled submarine.

Mrs. Louise Jamison left for Cho-teau, Montana, Wednesday in re-sponse to a telegram giving informa-tion of the death of her brother.

Cecil Pearson, who is a student in Pacific College, has been accepted for Friends' Re-construction Work in France and has applied for his passport, but he does not anticipate that he will get away for about a month. It is probable that Cassius Carter, another student, may enter the service and go later.

Mrs. Marie Robertson, the wife of W. J. Robertson, formerly of New-berg, died at Kiefer, Minnesota, March 30. The Robertson family came to Oregon in 1909 and located in Newberg, living the last two or three years of their stay here on Second street. When they left here in 1917 Mrs. Robertson was in de-clining health and her friends here will not be surprised to hear of her death. While residing in Newberg she united with the Presbyterian church. Besides the husband she left four children.

Ralph Parlette, editor of the Ly-ceum Magazine and noted lecturer, who spoke on "Big Business" at Wood-Mar Hall on Tuesday evening, was greeted by a good sized and en-thusiastic audience who thoroughly enjoyed the nearly two hours that was occupied in his delivery. In manner of delivery Parlette is an oddity, being in a class entirely by himself, but he has a message that is told in so simple a way that any-one can easily grasp the meaning, and yet it is so forceful that it leaves a lasting impression on the mind. The closing number of the lyceum course will be given on Monday evening, April 23, by Arthur Wal-wyn Evans, the Welsh lecturer, and nephew of David Lloyd George.

Clifford Knickerbocker answered a hurry-up call last Monday and went to Sheridan in the afternoon to attend his brother, Lloyd, as best man, who was married at 3 o'clock to Miss Charlene Bewley, the haste being occasioned from the fact that the groom learned that in order to get passage on his return trip to Honolulu with his bride they must get away at once. The groom re-cently returned from the Islands where he has a splendid position as manager of the insurance business for some capitalists. The wedding had not been planned for this visit but the demands of Cupid were irre-sistible, hence the call for a double berth on the return trip.

THE TEACHER, HER SALARY AND TASKS

A school teacher is one who teaches things to people when they are young. She comes to the school at 8:30 a. m., and when she has gotten enough pupils together for a mess she teaches them reading, writ-ing, geography, grammar, music, drawing, cooking board-sawing, crocheting, deep breathing, bird-calls, scientific eating, patriotism, plain and fancy bathing, forestry, civics and numerous other sciences.

After school she remains with five or six of the worst scholars and tries to save the state the job of reform-ing them into good citizens later on. Then she hurries home to make a new dress and snatch a bite of sup-per before going out to attend a lec-ture by an imported specialist on the tribal law in Patagonia, to gain some information that is thought to be useful to her. Then she sits up until daylight correcting the daily test papers.

The teachers' salaries range from $30 per month up—but not up far enough to make them dizzy. On the salary she must dress nicely, buy necessities for her work, go to twenty-nine lectures a year, pay her way to the teachers' institutes, and try to get some enjoyment in the summer vacation out of the rest of her salary.

Then she is expected to store up enough money so that when no longer able to teach she may live happily ever after on her income.—E.E.
