

CHILD DROWNS IN OSWEGO LAKE

Beth Chapman, the 3 year old adopted daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Chapman, of Portland, was drowned in Oswego Lake July 4. The child went to Lake Grove with the family on the Fourth for a picnic and while there went wading in the lake with other children. Her sudden disappearance led to fears that she had been enticed away by some one but when searching parties were sent out without getting any trace of her the conclusion was reached that she had been drowned in the lake. A grappler from Portland was secured and the body of the child was soon located about 100 feet from where she was last seen.

Find for Autograph Fiasco

The visitors' book at the Hotel Majestic or the Hotel Astoria, at Paris, is an interesting record of the signatures of well-known men. Nearly everyone who is anyone has written his name in one or the other and besides being a proof positive of the universal illegibility of the writing of celebrities the books would be worth their weight in gold to autograph faddists. It has been suggested that when the conference is over and the various British, French, United States, Italian, Siamese, Japanese, Russian, Czech-Slovak, Polish, and other celebrities scatter to their own places, the books might be put to auction, a page at a time, to help to defray the expenses.

Trench Mortar Regiment

The wartime organization of trench mortar batteries with the divisions is to be abandoned in favor of a single trench mortar regiment, which will be organized as a part of the army artillery to be assigned for duty by the army commander. Trench guns resulted from stabilized trench warfare, and the divisional batteries lost their usefulness excepting under special conditions when the allied attack turned the warfare into an open struggle. For that reason, the trench mortar units of all divisions were among the first to be sent home.

Submarine Not Yet Perfect

In spite of the fact that the British have some steam-driven 2,700-ton submarines capable of a surface speed of from 23 to 25 knots, the submarine as a weapon of war is too slow and too blind when it is submerged to be considered a serious weapon of naval warfare. When it can see electrically to a distance of ten to fifteen miles while it is submerged so deeply as to be invisible to the air scout, and when it can steam 20 knots submerged it will dominate the naval situation, says Scientific American.

Rival of the X-Ray

A physician has contrived a simple camera that seems to rival the X-ray in a limited field. Into a light-proof box, containing the member to be examined, he admits light from a tungsten lamp, filtered to pass only red rays. Passing through the hand or foot the red light strikes, at the bottom of the box, a photographic plate highly sensitized with an eosin solution. An exposure of one-half second makes the shadow picture.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.
