Mrs. Minnie Barbour, of Portland, has been visiting Mrs. Frank Keyes.

Roland Poole, the last of our overseas boys, returned to Dundee last week.

The Y. M. P. C. and their friends held a very enjoyable picnic at the Allan grove on Sunday.

The Dundee Library expects to have a new set of state books and to be ready to open again about the middle of October.

Miss Lennox, who has been in Portland for some time, has joined her mother in a visit to Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Dearborn.

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Hemstreet and little daughter, of Portland, were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Olmstead a week ago.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Key and grandson, of Winlock, Washington, have been visiting Mrs. Key's sister, Mrs. Bland Herring, Mr. and Mrs. Key like this part of Oregon so well that they contemplate locating here.

Mrs. Augusta Lehmann, who recently sold her Dundee property, has moved to Fifth and Wynoooski streets. Friends of Miss Katie Lehmann will be glad to know that she is greatly improving in health at the sanitarium where she has been for a month having an old fracture of a limb re-adjusted.

There was a large attendance at the meeting of the Dundee Woman's Club on Thursday. An important business meeting was followed by a social hour during which refreshments were served by Mrs. Powell and Mrs. Reynolds. The ice cream, sent by Mrs. McKinney who was to have been hostess for the day, but who was unable to attend on account of threshers, was a pleasant surprise.

The Dundee Red Cross extends a cordial invitation to all friends of our boys to the entertainment to be given at Dundee Community Hall on Saturday evening, August 30, in honor of our returned soldiers who have come back with but one loss, Robert L. Henry, of McMinnville, who was teaching in Dundee at the time his company of the National Guards was called into action. A program of surprises is promised, ice cream and cake, a good time, all free.

Two Hundred Years Ago.
"And herein it is that I take upon me to make such a bold assertion that all the world are mistaken in their practice about women; for I cannot think that God Almighty made them with souls capable of the same accomplishments with men, and all to be only stewards of our houses, cooks, and slaves." This advanced doctrine, which in its climax sounds somewhat as if it were uttered in a present day convention, was written, as is noted in a recent book on English literature, some two hundred years ago, by Daniel Defoe.—Outlook.

Coconut Palm the Tropical Cow.
Copra consists of the dried meats of coconuts. It contains from 50 to 65 per cent of oil.

In India, Cochín China, the South Sea islands and elsewhere the oil has been used as food since the dawn of history, for the fats contained in it are singularly like the milk fats of mammals in most respects. It is already in wide use in this country as "nut margarine," which is coconut oil into which some butter has been melted and the whole churned with skim milk—that is, milk with the fats removed—and worked as ordinary butter.

OREGON'S TOBACCO LAW PUBLISHED BY REQUEST

It shall be unlawful to sell, barter, trade, give or in any manner furnish to any minor under the age of eighteen years any tobacco, cigar or cigarette in any form, or any compound in which tobacco forms a component part, without the written consent or order of such minor's parent or guardian, and when such minor has no parent or guardian, then in that case consent may be given by the county court, sitting for the transaction of county business, upon the proper application in the county in which said minor may have his residence.

Any person violating the provisions of this act shall, upon conviction, be fined in any sum not less than five dollars nor more than fifty dollars.—L. O. L., Sec. 2148.

It shall be unlawful for any minor under the age of eighteen years, to smoke or in any way use any cigar, cigarette or tobacco in any form whatsoever, in any public highway, street, place, square or resort.

Any minor violating the provisions of this act shall, upon conviction, be fined in any sum not less than one or more than ten dollars, or by imprisonment at the option of the court, two days for each offense.

Justices of the peace shall have concurrent jurisdiction with the circuit court for all offenses arising under this act.

The act entitled, "An Act to prohibit the sale of tobacco, cigars or cigarettes to minors under the age of eighteen years," approved February 18, 1880, and all other acts and parts of acts inconsistent with this act are hereby repealed. Inasmuch as the present law upon the subject is incomplete, and an emergency exists, this act shall be in force from and after its approval by the governor.—L. O. L., Sec. 2149.

Taken from the Moral Laws of 1913.

WE DO NOT UNDERSTAND THIS

An authority on affairs rural has recently given some sapient advice as to what farmers should do with their money.

It seems that for the first time in history some farmers have surplus cash, and it is feared that they will squander it in oil stocks, dubious bonds, and doubtful enterprises. The advice of the expert is that they invest in farm bank bonds which, he adds, "will return greater income from the investment than from the purchase of more farm lands, or the average farm."

The advice is sound, but—Where is American agriculture going to get off at this rate?

If it be true that the farmer will make more from his money by investing in farm loans than in buying another farm, how about the struggling farmer who has made the loan, and expects to pay it back by farming?

You see the point, don't you?

If the four or five per cent, received from the farmer as interest on the farm loans, represents a bigger return than the farmer makes from his land, year in and year out, what earthly inducement, finally, will there be for any man to farm?

How can a man farm and keep at it, if it costs him more than he receives?

And, if the average return from farming is less than five per cent, how can a young man buy a farm, borrow money at seven per cent, make a living, raise and educate a family?

Average farmers, through the years manage to break about even; and, by donating their own labor, and that of their wives and children, sometimes manage to improve the farm enough to sell at a profit and to retire. Then they may loan their money to hopeful farmers and make more at five per cent, than they did farming.

Eventually this system means abandoned farms by the thousand. And, of course, a higher cost of living for all of us.

Simple Budget System.
"Every young wife should have a budget system to govern her expenditures."
"I know, I have one. I pay what I can and owe the rest."

BEAVERS AND VELVETS FOR KIDDIE HATS

Beaver and velvet for winter hats are materials that stand the test of time in popular favor, especially for school and dress of the little miss. Here are three new models shown for fall and winter, all of which have a distinct appeal of their own. The tight little cap at the top—bordering on the overseas model, will be most popular for school wear. The white beaver in the center is Mary Jane's very best. The black beaver shows below her wide, sweeping turned brim which may be shaped most any way to best bring out the fresh beauty of the child's face.

Dust is Very Dangerous.
All kinds of dust form dangers to human beings. Not only does dust exercise a direct harmful influence on the tissues of the organism, but it is the chief transporting agent of germs of infection and contagion. Dust is composed of infinitesimal particles of street mud and of refuse of every description which lies on the surface of the soil. Bacteriologists say that these particles, when dry, are disseminated in the atmosphere, together with all the impurities and microbes which they may contain, and to which they serve as transporting agents.

BEAU TAKES HER TO DANCE IN AIRPLANE

So far as known, Miss Esther Butler of Cayton, Minn., village, daughter of a prominent banker, is the first American girl to go to a dance in an airplane. The other evening she accepted an invitation from Harold C. Donaldson, returned army aviator, to attend a social affair in Fairmont, 20 miles away, and they made the trip in his biplane. They landed in Inter-laken Park, Fairmont, attended the dance and sailed off home in the moonlight.
