

Disappearing DOLLARS

IT'S the money you spend recklessly and thoughtlessly which seems to vanish into thin air.

When you have a Checking Account here at the United States National Bank you are more inclined to think before you spend. And every dollar spent by check leaves its trail behind. You can always tell where it went and for what purpose.

Build It Now

Both labor and materials are available once more and a great deal of government building, state work and factory construction already is under way. Measure the satisfaction your new home would bring and you'll want it now.

The sensible thing then is to BUILD NOW and we have all the material to build the sensible way—framing, siding, trim, doors, shingles and Beaver Board—the manufactured lumber, knotless and crackless—for the walls and ceilings. Speak to us about it today.

BEWARE POOR NURSERY STOCK

The high prices of fruit, it is likely, will result in a great demand the next few years for nursery stock, says the Hood River Glacier. But good nursery stock is going to be scarce. The chances of profit are likely to bring to the fore numerous fly by night solicitors for nursery concerns. Many orchards are going to be planted the next few years from stock that is unreliable. The percentage of plantings that will grow to permanent commercial orchards will be rather small. The orchardists of proven districts should have no fear of over production.

But, growers of all districts should be on guard against poor trees. Young trees are going to demand a high price. When you buy be sure and get true to name, high quality stock. They will be worth the price.

The Country Gentleman, in a recent comment on the nursery stock situation, says:

The nursery business is difficult and hazardous to a degree not appreciated by the planter. Too often the planter has been able to buy good stock at less than the cost of production. Too often the faithful and conscientious propagator has received neither appreciation nor a fair money return. Too often the slick agent and the brass band catalogue have got the planter's money, leaving the planter and the honorable nurseryman holding the bag.

For long and trying years the nursery business has been conducted in a manner satisfactory to neither the on-the-square producer of nursery stock nor to the ultimate user of that stock. If it is true that the public has never appreciated the good nurseryman, it is also true that the good nurseryman have never pulled together long enough nor hard enough to clean up their industry. They have provided no way by which the average planter can distinguish between the dependable firm and the get rich quick rascal.

It is because of this that legislation and regulation of the nursery business become constantly more severe. The next year or two will bring things to head. If the on-the-square nurserymen of the country permit the scalawag members of the industry to take advantage of the present situation to the general detriment of the fruit growing public, they may expect, very shortly, a mass of legislation of such character as may put the business of plant propagation upon a new basis. Fruit growing is too important to be put in jeopardy, piecemeal, through petty trickery, or wholesale, through the dissemination of pests and diseases.

It is up to the planter to recognize thoroughly good stock and to pay a fair price for it, but it is up to the respectable nurseryman to raise the standard of ethics in this trade and to provide a sure means of identifying himself.

HIGH SCHOOL AGRICULTURE NOTES

The department wishes especially to thank the J. I. Case Company for the splendid co-operative spirit manifested. Much valuable literature was recently received from the company, all charges by express prepaid from Racine, Wisconsin.

We once had the pleasure of going through the factory at Racine. Nothing but courteous, friendly treatment is accorded to all. A visit to the East might well include a trip to the factory mentioned.

We also thank the following for their expressed willingness to assist educationally in any way possible:

Sharples' Separator Co., Pacific-American Fisheries, Armour & Co., King Ventilating Co., The Skinner Irrigation Co., Heart's Delight Farm, J. Horace McFarland Co., Hoffman-Corr Mfg. Co., Chicago Printed String Co., Washburn-Crosby Co., International Harvester Co., Oregon Nursery Co., J. B. Pilkington Co., Portland Seed Co., Albers Milling Co., The Loudon Machinery Co., James Manufacturing Co., Hunt, Helm, Ferris & Co.

All these have contributed something toward our work as regards literature and plan on sending samples for laboratory demonstration soon.

The Sharples' Separator Company was particularly generous. Washburn-Crosby Company sent some excellent posters, some blotters, and a materials collection showing the steps in changing the grain of wheat into flour.

It is the splendid, helpful spirit shown that we appreciate, not the giving. We regret to say that some commercial concerns are seemingly not far-sighted enough to see the tremendous advantage of backing up and assisting the country's educational agencies.

The big company, with the big ideas, is always, we find, the one that sees far ahead. Doubtless it would never have become a concern carrying a world-wide influence if the man at the helm had not at the beginning been big. Big himself, he at once employed a big production manager, a big advertising manager, a big sales manager—big men throughout the organization.

Money spent for education, work is well spent always (if wisely spent) though it may never insofar as specific returns are concerned, have appeared to bring in a single red penny.

Oliver F. Kilham,
Director Agriculture Department,
Newberg High School.
