

Disappearing DOLLARS

IT'S the money you spend recklessly and thoughtlessly which seems to vanish into thin air.

When you have a Checking Account here at the United States National Bank you are more inclined to think before you spend. And every dollar spent by check leaves its trail behind. You can always tell where it went and for what purpose.

SMALL FRUITS AND LAND DEVELOPMENT

One of the greatest resources in the State of Oregon and particularly the Willamette Valley, is the small fruit industry, particularly loganberries and strawberries, says the Manufacturer. Sell and climatic conditions are perfect for these fruits which are the backbone of the jelly, jam, preserve and canning industry for world markets.

A few years ago loganberries were unsaleable, due to over-production on the one hand and an extremely limited market on the other. It was not until an organized effort was made to convert the loganberry into a fruit juice, backed by a nation-wide campaign of advertising such as the Phez Company inaugurated at an expense of $100,000 per annum, that this delicious fruit came into its own. Today the supply of loganberries is totally inadequate to meet the demand.

Just so with the strawberry. The price for a period of 10 years ranged around 4 1/2 cents per pound. In 1919 the market opened at 10 cents per pound and closed at 12 cents per pound. Fruit preserving and canning, coupled with an advertising campaign captured world markets and today the manufacturing end of the fruit industry is being retarded through lack of the necessary acreage to justify the establishment of more manufacturing plants. That is what industry does for agricultural development, it creates a market for the farmer and all should join in the campaign for increased production.

It will be impossible to overdo the small fruit industry. Stocks are down to bedrock, likewise the existing acreage. Growers can make contracts for long periods at prices which will show a net profit of all the way from $150 to $200 an acre, which means 10 per cent on land values of $1,500 to $2,000 per acre.

Summing it up, small fruits mean more factories, bigger payrolls, increased population, enhanced property valuations and splendid profits to him who follows the cultivator and the plow.

DO YOU LIVE WITH YOUR FAMILY?

The Youth's Companion is published for those families who purpose to live together, work together, play together and read together. The editors believe that a united family means a united nation.

It is surprising how many stories—over 250—are printed in the 52 weekly issues. Every member of the family will enjoy reading Charles B. Hawes' serial, "The Son of a Gentleman Born," in 10 chapters, beginning in an early issue, and the 8 other serial stories by Elsie Singmaster and others.

New subscribers for 1920 will receive:

1. The Youth's Companion—52 issues in 1920.

2. All remaining weekly 1919 issues.

3. The Companion Home Calendar for 1920.

All the above for $2.50.

4. McCall's Magazine for 1920, $1.00—the monthly fashion authority. Both publications for only $2.95.

"Yes," the other chimed in, "and it's the roughly speaking part that causes most of the trouble."
