Ancient Knightly Order.

The order of Knights of Danneberg was established in 1219 by Valdemar II, according to Danish tradition, as a memorial of a victory over the Estonians, won by the appearance in the sky of a red banner bearing a white cross. Historically the order dates back to 1671 when it was founded by Christian V. It was originally restricted to 50 knights and was family or court decoration. In 1808 it was made an order of merit by Frederick VI and is awarded only for distinguished and meritorious services.

The insignia of the knighthood is a white enameled Danish cross with red and gold borders, bearing in the center the letter W and on the four arms the inscription "Gud og Kongen" (for God and King). The ribbon is white with red edging. The rank is an honorary one and entitles the recipient to use the title "Sir." The rank and title are not hereditary.

AS HE SAID, "SOME BUG!"

Indianapolis Man Tells How Small Creature Led to Discovery of Hidden Mountain Dew.

"A funny thing happened to me the other morning," volunteered an East side man after he got firmly established on the rear of an incoming East Washington street car and had successfully filled and lighted his pipe and had it going good.

"What's that, Bill; did you forget and go to church?" asked another passenger, who seemed to know the victim of the funny incident.

"A bug caused it," continued Bill, ignoring the insinuation; "funniest looking bug I ever saw."

"I was lying on the bed reading some poetry, 'The Death of the Flowers,' you know how it goes, 'The melancholy days have come, the saddest of the year; of wailing winds and naked woods and meadows brown and sere. The robin and the wren are flown, and from the shrub the jay and from the woodtop'."

"Well, as I was saying," continued Bill, "I was reading that sad poem—I'm doing a lot of that thing since the state went 'dry'—when I saw this bug running across a rug toward a clothes press in the corner of the room. It was the meanest looking bug I ever saw, and it certainly was going some. I jumped off the bed and made a dash for it, but it beat me and got into the closet. I didn't want the bug crawling around over my bed in the night, so I dived right into the clothes press and threw out about three dozen different kinds of garments that had been tossed in there to get 'em out of the way. Then suddenly I saw the bug and back in the corner a quart of mountain dew both at the same time. Durned if I didn't forget all about everything but that quart. It certainly was some find. I wonder when the wife hid it there."

"What became of the bug?" asked a young fellow who evidently was studying to be a lawyer.

"That's the funny part of it," replied Bill. "Course I never thought of the bug again until about an hour after that when I saw Mr. Bug clear on the other side of the room beatin' it to get under a dresser, I got him that time, and he sure was some bug."—Indianapolis News.

NOTICE TO OWNERS OF DOGS
The following are extracts from the law relative to dog license as passed by the 1919 legislature:
Section 8. Every person owning any male or female dog over the age of eight months within the state of Oregon shall apply for and procure from the county clerk of the county in which said person resides, a license, by paying to the county clerk a license fee of one dollar ($1) for male or spayed bitch dogs and two dollars ($2) for female dogs, annually, and upon the payment of said license fee as aforesaid, the county clerk shall issue to such person a license and also a leather collar not less than one inch in width and of suitable length, having riveted thereon a leather tag, stamped with the year in which it is issued, with a number thereon corresponding to the number on the license. Said license shall run for a period of one year from January 1 of each year, and any dog not wearing said collar shall be considered an outlaw and shall be killed by the sheriff, chief of police or constable of the precinct in which said dog is owned, or found running at large.

Section 9. The county clerk shall keep a record of the issuance of dog licenses in a special book kept for such purpose. Any owner or keeper of said dog or dogs who shall fail or neglect to apply for, or fail to pay said license fee during the month of January in each year, or within thirty days after he becomes the owner or keeper of such dog or dogs, shall pay a fine of ten dollars ($10) for each offense, which fine shall be collected with costs of the proceedings of a civil action in the name of the state of Oregon before a justice of the peace. Neglect to apply for or pay said license fee for a period of thirty days after said fine shall become due, shall be another and separate offense, and will subject the person to pay an additional fine for each offense.

When sending to the clerk for your dog license you should give the size of the collar desired.
C. B. Wilson,
County Clerk.
McMinnville, Oregon, Dec. 26, 1919.
