REX
Mrs. C. G. Lewis was a Portland shopper Saturday.
Mrs. Walker is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Jenkins.
Mrs. Werlein attended a luncheon in Portland Friday.
Mr. Bartruff, from Nebraska, is visiting relatives at Rex.
Mrs. Tucker visited over the week end at F. D. Frosts.
Frank Gustin and Paul Lewis drove to Portland Saturday.
Herman Wentz, Mrs. Peters' nephew from Georgia, is visiting relatives here.
Mr. Warnick is home and is going to do some surveying for making better roads around Rex.
Mrs. J. P. Sawyer entertained at dinner Friday, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart, of Portland, and Mrs. Carl Miller, Mrs. Semmer and Mrs. F. I. Eves, of Rex.
The Ladies' Aid met at the home of Mrs. Harmon, January 2, in an all day meeting when the ladies served a very nice dinner. It being election of officers Mrs. Jay Ditto was elected president, Mrs. Semmer, vice president, Mrs. F. I. Eves, secretary, Mrs. Carl Miller, treasurer.
CHEHALEM CENTER
Mrs. Marie Smith is a Portland visitor this week.
D. P. Strait is slowly regaining strength from a severe spell of sickness.
Mrs. Jennie Post spent two days the first of the week visiting relatives in Amity.
Mrs. C. L. Johnson is spending some time at the Mary Johnson home at present.
The Strait dryer is running full blast since the holidays. They expect to run for a few weeks longer.
Miss Marguerite Johnson was a visitor during the week at the home of Frank Johnson and wife in Dundee.
The P. T. A. meets next Monday evening. There will be a box social after the meeting. All ladies will please come with baskets.
Mrs. Mary Hodges spent the Christmas holidays in Eastern Oregon with her son, Robert Hodges, and family, returning home last Saturday.
Victor Hendrickson came from Kalama, Washington, Sunday morning, accompanying Mrs. Hendrickson back to Kalama. Mrs. Hendrickson had been spending the past few weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Meyer.
A. A. Post closed down his dryer last week, having had it in operation ever since the last of August, with the exception of a few weeks during the cold spell. The dryer is a splendid industry for Mr. Post and the community in general. Mr. and Mrs. Post and all those connected with the work in the dryer joined together and on last Saturday held a big chicken dinner with all that goes with it. Twenty-five plates were laid.

WHERE GREAT MONARCH LIES
Mosque of Bajaset II is One of the Sights of City of Constantinople.
Constantinople has no mosque more attractive to natives and strangers alike than that of Bajaset II. Bajaset, one time sultan of an empire, known as the dreamer, raised this graceful monument and sleeps peacefully in its shelter.
It is not, however, in reverence to the memory of Bajaset that so many Turks sit languidly in the corners of the mosque court. They are here to profit by the visits of strangers in the city, to tempt them with real Turkish tobacco, oriental perfumes, amber and jewelry. In short, they have set up shop in the very shadow of the mosque, and that shadow being insufficient, strips of awnings have been rigged up as further protection from the glaring sun. Whether Bajaset would approve of this seeming disrespect can only be surmised.
Pigeons, too, in distracting numbers, whirling, cooing, always fluttering from one spot to another, save the mosque courtyard from the solemn silence of the thousand and one other temples of Constantinople. Bajaset's approval of the pigeons' presence is recorded from the time when only two frequented his court. By his order they and their successors have been always fed and regarded as sacred.
The feathered inhabitants have become so numerous and so much at home that the mosque has come to be popularly called the "Mosque of Pigeons." Their cooing softens the sound of bargaining from the corners of the court and blends with the splash of the fountain. Could the dreamy Bajaset behold them now, poised on his minarets, walking sedately about his court, and circling like whirling clouds about the columns, he would realize that they are the final touch to the perfection of his temple.
Question of Dress.
Few of the picturesque tribal costumes that depart in main essentials from the dress found convenient by western civilization have succeeded in maintaining their traditional characteristics. The Roumanian people are among those whom the war has caused to forsake a distinctive national male attire. This, in its main lines, recalled the costume of the Roman legionaries, which was adopted by the nation when Roumania formed the Roman Province of Dacia. It consisted of a short white tunic, "bag-trousers" of white wool, and a curiously embroidered coat. Many of these garments were carried away as loot by invaders during the war, and the relief garments sent in from France, which are of more conventional design, are expected to drive the national costume into disuse. Heavy demands, however, will doubtless be made upon it in the field of masquerade and musical comedy.
