BEQUESTS MADE BY THOMAS PRINCE

Harold, the 'Only Son, Well Cared for—Ruth Emery, Nurse
Gets $5,000

To Ruth Emery, of Gresham, a graduate nurse of Good Samaritan hospital who had been an attendant of the late Thomas Prince for several years and was at his bedside at Santa Barbara, California, on February 3, when he died, $5,000 in cash was bequeathed, according to the terms of the will filed for probate in the circuit court yesterday afternoon, says the Oregonian.

Of an estate estimated to be worth $800,000 in the petition for probate but believed by persons familiar with his financial affairs to inventory nearer twice the amount, Mr. Prince bequeathed $71,000 to charity, all to institutions or cities in Massachusetts. Dr. H. F. Ong, of Portland, who is named executor in the will, is left $3,750. He was with Mr. Prince up to the time of death.

Aside from an 85-acre farm at Dundee, Oregon, containing the largest walnut orchard in the state and valued at about $65,000, and the handsome Prince residence at 901 Alameda Drive, worth at least $25,000, Harold Prince, son and heir-at-law, receives $10,000 in cash and $100,000 in trust, the income of which is to be paid quarterly during his lifetime. If survived by a widow, she will receive $5,000 and a trust fund of $20,000. Any children would receive $30,000 in trust for life. At death of widow and children the trust fund, originally in the estate of the son, is to be divided among other direct relatives.

The net income of a $20,000 trust and $5,000 in cash are left to a nephew, Lucius T. Hayward, of Dundee, who also shares equally with five other legatees under the will in the residue of the estate. The Worcester Bank & Trust Company, of Worcester, Massachusetts, is named trustee of the estate.

William L. Ames, of Worcester, a nephew, receives $5,000 in cash and shares in the residue of the estate.

After all bequests are paid and the trust funds set aside the bulk of the property will be divided among the following relatives: Lucius T. Hayward, Dundee, Oregon; William L. Ames, Worcester, Massachusetts; J. S. Simmons, New York City; Olive M. Dows, Melrose, Massachusetts; Lucy P. White, Woodford Station, Portland, Maine; and Ralph A. Simmons, Lowell, Massachusetts.

Twenty-five thousand dollars is left the town of Kingston, Massachusetts, the income of which is to be used in caring for the poor and sick of the city. Bequests of $5,000 each are left to the Masonic Home, Charlton, Massachusetts; Odd Fellows Home, Home for Aged Women and Home for Aged Men at Worcester, Massachusetts. The income is to be used by the trustees in supplying the inmates with such spending money for luxuries as deemed prudent.

The Kingston Cemetery Association is left $25,000 with which to build a chapel, and the town of Kingston is left $5,000 to be added to the Lucy Prince Ames memorial fund for the upkeep of burial grounds of the Prince family, particularly the grave of Noah Prince, father of the late Thomas Prince.

The son is 40 years old.

The needy members and families of George H. Ward post, No. 10, G. A. R., at Worcester, are bequeathed $1,000.

Mr. Prince's will was drawn August 30, 1919, in Portland, with Jay Clark Jr., Gertrude M. Nichols and Winthrop Hammond as witnesses. A codicil was added December 12, 1919, witnessed by J. K. Gill, J. H. Middleton, M. H. Clark and Charles K. Spaulding.

Mr. Prince came to Oregon 25 years ago, living at Dundee until five years ago. He was a large stockholder and one of the founders of the Reed-Prince Manufacturing Company of Worcester, manufacturers of nuts, bolts, etc. He was 79 years old at his death.

The score in the basket ball game played on last Friday night on the home floor was Pacific College 50, Philomath 7. Russ Parker acted as referee.

DATES FOR GLEE CLUB CONCERTS

Two Big Numbers for the Price of One—First Comes on February 19

The first big evening will be that of February 19, Thursday. The place is Wood-Mar Hall. On that occasion, close to the witching hour of eight, the men's glee club of the college will step upon the platform. Intrepidly face the audience, become vocal, and perhaps even musical—and then face consequences of a nature not certainly, but probably, enthusiastic. There are twenty voices in the club, and some of them are mighty good ones. The opportunity to hear an aggregation of men's voices comes seldom to the music lovers of Newberg—hardly once a year, and this is it.

A varied and entertaining program has been arranged. Prof. Perisho is going to read some humorous selections in a highly lighthearted or some other state—and funny tones, really worth hearing. A newly organized quartet will make its initial appearance. This quartet has been drilled, and will be good, though it's going to sing about a very bad little boy. Palmer Hayes will appear in a comic solo about an Italian barber, and, last, and most exciting, and full of mystery and madness—Listen!

A celebrated, and as yet unknown scientist and inventor, will make positively his first (and, guaranteed, last) appearance, demonstrating a new musical machine that reproduces the human voice with deadly accuracy and appalling fidelity, and has practically every other musical reproducer backed right off the boards. I could say a lot about this machine; its periphery and its circular complex—but there, you have to see it to really appreciate it!

On March the second, another auspicious date, of which more later the girls' club will sing. If you go to both of them you may have a season reserved seat ticket for fifty cents; single admissions to each concert thirty-five cents. Certain music students and club members have tickets for sale, and you can get them also at Klenle's Music Store. Watch the posters. This is a piano benefit concert, and, honest, that piano fund needs it! It gets your money, but you will get a lot more than your money is worth. February 19.

PLANS FOR PROPOSED AMERICAN LEGION BUILDING

No doubt a great many are wondering what the advertisement in the Graphic last week meant, which read, "Look Out, Nuff Said."

The answer is herewith.

On Monday morning, February 16, there will be a vigorous campaign started in order to raise funds to build in the city of Newberg an American Legion building as a memorial to those who gave their lives in the defense of their country and also as a building that will educate the generations that are to come as well as those of the present.

This building will cost in the neighborhood of about $30,000 and will be well arranged as to swimming tank, gymnasium, auditorium, bowling alleys, billiard parlor and banquet hall.

The above will be under a director well qualified in the art of swimming and other forms of amusements that are needed for the proper health of the young men and women of this city.

In the afternoon it is the purpose that the building will be open to children and the ladies so that they may have the use of the tank and gym. In the evening it will be for the use of the men of the city, except on such nights as will be designated as open house.

What better exercise can be had than a bowling party of ladies and gentlemen? Where would you rather have your boys and girls, in a community building where the fathers and mothers can see that they are well taken care of, or away in Portland where you do not know what they are doing?

The funds for this building will be raised as stock, and the banks of this city have agreed to help the Legion men to take the stock, which will be raised between the business

LINCOLN'S GETTYSBURG ADDRESS
DELIVERED NOVEMBER 19, 1863

Four score and seven years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal.

Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation, or any nation so conceived and so dedicated can long endure.

We are met on a great battlefield of that war, we have come to dedicate a portion of that field as a final resting place for those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this, but, in a larger sense we cannot dedicate—we cannot consecrate—we cannot hallow—this ground. The brave men living and dead, who struggled here, have consecrated it far above our poor power to add or detract. The world will little note nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us, the living, rather, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced.

It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us—that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion; that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain; that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom; and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth.

men on a 50 per cent basis.

Remember what you would give if you knew that your boys were away from you in the perils of war, to have them at home again, then think how much better it is to show them that you stood back of them while at the front and will stand back of them now.

It does not seem that it will be necessary for the finance committee to call upon you in person, for the Legion feel that you will rally to their support and put this over the top. The expenses of the operation of the building will be by membership that is open to all.

The board of governors will consist of two men elected from the Legion, two from the business men, this making a party of four who will elect a fifth member as chairman of the board of governors, and the Legion and business men will stand back of this board to the limit.

The following men have been appointed as the finance committee:

W. Y. Arthur,
Chester Zumwalt,
Representing the Legion.
H. C. Spaulding,
R. P. Gill,
Representing Business Men.

If you will notify this committee they will call upon you and go into details.

The wife of Steve Davis died in Portland and the body was brought here for burial on Monday.

W. P. MULHERON DECEASED

Rev. W. P. Mulheron was born March 14, 1830, and died at the age of eighty-nine years, eleven months and twenty days, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. H. C. Paulsen, in Newberg, after an illness of four weeks. He had always been an earnest, helpful Christian, preaching and doing the Master's work whenever called.

He was converted when quite young, joining with the Wesleyan Methodist church, while in Canada, where he lived until 1865, when he with his wife and four children, moved to Geneva, New York, where he joined with the Methodist Episcopal church.

He came to Oregon in July, 1901, with his wife and youngest daughter and son, where he has since resided. His wife died October 11, 1912, the youngest daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Atkinson, having died August 19, 1905. The younger son, Frank Mulheron, died October 11, 1916. He leaves one son, Lawrence Mulheron, Westfield, Iowa, and three daughters, Mrs. J. L. Hill and Mrs. S. R. Atwood, Portland, and Mrs. H. C. Paulsen, Newberg, also twenty-seven grandchildren and twenty-seven great-grandchildren, who mourn his departure, yet are comforted by the assurance of his realization of a life-long hope.

Funeral services were conducted on last Sunday afternoon at Friends church by Rev. Fred Carter, pastor.

HIGH SCHOOL COM- MENCEMENT EXERCISES

Address to Class Given by Dean
Straub of the University of Oregon

On Friday evening of last week occurred the graduation exercises of the mid-year high school class, the address being given by Dean Straub, of the University of Oregon.

Mr. Straub's heart to heart talk was addressed to parents as well as the students and it was well received by the large audience in attendance. He urged parents to leave no stone unturned in their efforts to give their children the best the schools of the state afford, citing the fact that conditions were changing rapidly and that the poorly educated and mentally equipped young person was under a heavy handicap when he entered the field of keen competition.

The class orations were given by Wittmer McDonald, Clare Gumelius and Howard Nottage.

The vocal and violin solos given by Prof. and Mrs. Grissen were enjoyed by everyone.

Those receiving diplomas were Clare Gumelius, Goldie Gumm, Rudolph Schaad, Lucy Young, Hillie Haverman, Grant Yergen, Mabel Stanbrough, Pauline Miller, Wittmer McDonald, Amy Leuders, Gladys Tegeler, Howard Nottage, Evelyn Baker, Geraldine Rundell, Beesie Bennett and Leona Curtis.

W. C. T. U. GLEANINGS

A very interesting and helpful missionary meeting was held in the basement of the Baptist church Wednesday afternoon with about forty-five persons present.

After the routine business, presided over by our president, Mrs. Nettie Potter, the following excellent program was given, with Mrs. Lillian Welter in charge:

Song by all.
Home and Foreign Missions—Mrs. W. N. Coffee.
Recitation, "Patsy"—Helen Stanbrough.
W. C. T. U. Missionary Work—Mrs. L. P. Round.

Reading, "The Deacon and His Daughter"—Mrs. E. Scott.

Mrs. Edwards, a retired missionary from India, gave some very interesting personal experiences with the natives, and two of her little daughters sang a song in native dialect.

Rev. Coffee led the devotionals. We were disappointed in not having our state vice president with us as she was ill.

Light refreshments were served and a very pleasant "get acquainted" hour was passed.

The County Mid-Year Executive meets at Amity today with the following in attendance from here: Mrs. Nettie Potter, Mrs. Lillian Welter, Mrs. L. S. Otis, Mrs. C. G. Siebert, Mrs. E. Jeffries, Mrs. Will Best, Mrs. E. B. Moore.

J. Watson Baker Tells of Extended
Trips Made in a
Ford

Following are extracts from a long communication received from J. Watson Baker:

Editor Graphic—Thinking that your readers might like to know, I will give them a brief account of our wanderings since we left Newberg the afternoon of the 17th of last November.

While waiting at Portland for our train to leave, some friends visited us at the depot to say good-bye. Our train was one of the safety first kind, consequently very slow, so much so as to cause considerable comment from two aged men who cracked numerous jokes at the expense of the trainmen.

We got to Oakland Pier at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning and immediately transferred to a San Jose train. We arrived at the latter place at about noon and were soon at the home of our friend. We staid in San Jose one month. Here I bought a second hand Ford and from then on we took numerous trips in all directions.

At one time Mrs. Baker and I came over to Santa Cruz. This city is 37 miles almost directly south of San Jose on the shore of the Pacific, and 80 miles southeast of San Francisco. In coming from San Jose by auto we cross the beautiful Santa Cruz mountains. The road, a state highway, is paved for about 20 miles. The balance is graded and will be paved this year.

The road makes many sharp turns, some of them around the point of a hill where one can not see 50 feet ahead, and as some auto drivers are reckless, accidents happen sometimes. I have been fortunate so far, having crossed eight times with no accident. We were so pleased with Santa Cruz, especially the climate, that we bought a little five-roomed cottage near the Christian Tabernacle and about one-half mile from the ocean. We can see the ocean on a fair day and hear it during a storm.

We had planned on visiting Southern California before we left Newberg so on the 30th of December in company with our pastor's wife and mother with numerous grips and suit cases, we left our new home, which we had occupied but a few days, and started for Los Angeles. We took the coast route going down and crossed four mountains and passed through several towns. One of the latter, Atascadero, was founded by Mr. Lewis, publisher of several papers for women.

In going from Atascadero to San Louis Obispo (the home of the Bishop) we crossed a mountain on a road both crooked and steep, but with a foot on one brake and a hand on another, I steered the craft with my other hand to the bottom in safety, but not without numerous words of caution from the women.

We followed along the ocean for miles. At one place there is a long bridge built around a mountain just above the water.

Santa Barbara is quite a large, beautiful place on the route. We reached Pasadena on New Year's day in time to see some of the flower parade. One of the floats represented Oregon and as it came by and its occupants learned we were from there they threw us some bouquets.

The 2nd of January Mrs. Baker and I drove over to Los Angeles where we have an aunt, an old lady in her 90th year. The streets were so crowded we could scarcely get by. I told Mrs. B. I would rather drive across a mountain than go through some of the congested districts. We returned to Pasadena after dark.

On the 3rd we went to Santa Ana and called on Rev. Joseph Hall. He was down after the mail but his wife guessed who we were as they learned through the Graphic that we were in California. They are very pleasantly situated and seem very happy old people.

In going to Santa Ana we passed through Whittier, Fullerton and Anaheim. We steered clear of Los Angeles as I had some experience with a cop the day before that was not altogether pleasant.

There are oil wells all along the road before we got to Whittier, also orange and lemon groves. This is
