FELT THAT HE WAS IMMUNE

Soldier's Number Being on Shell That Failed to Explode, He Had No More Fear.

A man in one of the infantry regiments in No Man's land was taking up a little room in a shell hole as possible during a hot fight, with everything singing overhead. At last a German shell landed right in the hole with him, but did not explode. As soon as he recovered from his fright and could think again, he took a look at the shell and found it was a dud (a shell with defective fuse which does not explode). Next he noticed the number on the shell, and something about it struck him as being peculiar. It was 1,217,413.

He reached inside his shirt and pulled out his identification disc. The number which stared him in the face was 1,217,413. He walked out of the shell hole and back to his lines with the bullets singing all about him, but was not hit. He reported to his commanding officer with a salute and a smile.

"Captain," he said, "ask me to do anything now. They had one with my number on it, and it was a dud."

MADE GREAT AIRMAN WONDER

French Expert's Peculiar Explanation Concerning Daring Exploit of American Aviators.

Albert Wolff, the famous French musical composer, won fame in the field of aviation during the world war. He had an experience with American dash and fearlessness that is well told in the New York Times.

"At Blanchinesnil," says Wolff, "we were in close communication with the American commander. I'll send 24 American pilots over to get 'em.' I went to my superior officer. 'It can't be done!' I said. 'These planes are all Salmsons, a new machine, and quite different. They will all be smashed and the men killed!' It was too late to call a halt, however. The Americans came. I explained as well as I could the differences between the Salmsons and the planes they were accustomed to, and away they went. All got away without mishap, and I said: 'The good God is with them.' But when word was telephoned back that they had all landed without a crash or a single accident to themselves or the planes, then I said: 'They must have the devil on their side into the bargain!' I really must see one of your football games!"

Slave Traffic Still Exists.

Slave traffic along the Arab coast is illegal under the terms of certain conventions, but slavery, nevertheless, is said still to exist to a rather considerable extent. A few years ago members of the American Arabian mission at Bahrain rescued a whole boatload of black boys who had been smuggled up from Africa for sale along the Oman coast. In the interior towns slaves are used mostly as personal servants, bodyguards and hostlers. By an old law in Arabia, a slave is freed after seven years of service, provided he has embraced the Moslem religion, and it is said that most of the slaves do so. There is no prejudice against marriage with blacks in Arabia, especially after they are freed. This intermarriage has scattered a black population all over Arabia. In ports like Muskat and Aden mulattoes and mixed breeds are so common that the pure Arab strain is almost a rarity.

Degrees in Commerce.

Commercial education is to receive new impetus at the University of London, where degrees in commerce are to be inaugurated in the near future. There are to be two degrees: First, that of bachelor of commerce, which would correspond to the same degree in the other faculties; and, secondly, the degree of master of commerce. The salient idea is that a modern language is to be taught, not as an academic, but as a practical subject, says the United States bureau of education. Among the languages which are to be taught as practical rather than academic subjects would be Polish, Czech, Rumanian, modern Greek, and the great eastern languages, Hindustani, Chinese and others.

Boy's Exploit Remarkable.

A twenty-four hours' battle with death ended at San Francisco with the arrival of the little schooner S. N. Castle, a thirteen-year-old boy at her helm, bringing to safety his father, the captain, his sick mother, and a crew of three men.

The Castle, a three-masted schooner, was 94 days from Apla with a cargo of copra. Three days from the Samoan port the Castle started leaking and shipping seas at the rate of twelve feet a day. The donkey engine was started to run the pumps and the cargo of copra fed as fuel.

Harry Anderson, 13, manned the ship while his father worked with the men at the pumps.

Labor Shortage Hit Gold Mining.

Twenty-five gold lode mines were operated in Alaska in 1918, according to the United States geological survey, department of the interior. There was also a production of seven prospects—abandoned mines or small mines that were not in regular operation. The value of the gold lode output decreased from $4,581,453 in 1917 to $3,473,817 in 1918, owing partly to the disaster at the Treadwell mine in April, 1917, and partly to curtailment of operations, especially in the Juneau district, because of shortage of labor.—Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

Easy.

"Now, children," the teacher said, "suppose we wished to go to Calcutta. how would we proceed? You tell us, Tommie?"

"I'd get on the train and go to New York," Tommie responded promptly, then paused.

"Yes?" the teacher encouraged.

"Then I'd get a steamship," Tommie answered and sat down.

"But you haven't told us the route you would follow," teacher protested. Again Tommie rose.

"Oh, I would not butt in on that," he declared. "I'd leave that to the ship captain, 'cause he'd likely have been there before, and, besides, I believe in leaving all technical matters to experts."

Notice To Planters

After finishing the digging and grading of our Italian and other prune trees, we find we have a few thousand nice 4-8 and some 3-4 foot Italian trees in excess of what we counted on. Are therefore able to book orders against this limited supply as long as they last. These trees are first class and were not injured by the hard freeze of December. To those needing Italian trees for Spring planting, we can only suggest prompt action—for certainly this limited number will not last long.

Logan Plants

Now is the time to arrange for your Logan Plant to insure getting them when you are ready to plant. The same is true of your strawberry plants, small fruits, fruit trees, etc. Place your order now and know you'll get the trees and plants at planting time. . . .
