SUNDAY NIGHT BOOSTER MEETING

Interests of Pacific College Dis- cussed by Pastors of Local Churches

On last Sunday night the Friends church was crowded by a responsive audience of people who went to attend a union meeting called by the local ministerial association for the purpose of furthering the interests of Pacific College, by way of working up sentiment for the approaching campaign for funds sufficient to make the standardization of the institution possible.

Music for the occasion was furnished by the students of the college, under the direction of Prof. Hull, two anthems being rendered. The addresses made were well timed and although the meeting held to considerable length, the interest of the audience was manifest to the end.

Some notes made of the addresses follow. Rev. Chas. E. Gibson, pastor of the M. E. church, being the first speaker. He said:

We are here not as Presbyterians or Methodists or Baptists or Quakers, but we are here as Christian citizens of Newberg and community in the interests of Pacific College. If anything should happen that Pacific College had to close her doors, it would be a sorry day for this community.

I had occasion this morning to make the statement that a successful life is based upon three principles: Salvation, education and service. "With all your getting, get salvation." And when I say salvation I do not mean it in any denominational sense. It is all-inclusive. Your heart may be all right, but if your head is not educated you will be a lost-sided Christian; you need Christian schools. In many of our state institutions of learning the name of Christ is never spoken. To favor a few the United States has ruled the Bible out of the public schools, and it is a shame that the teachers are not permitted to read the word of God in the schools.

But it is not ruled out of our Christian schools and colleges. "The fear of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge;" then why don't we have our children begin at the base and grow up with it?

Pacific College is bigger than the denomination it represents, and I thank God for it. I hold that every denominational school in every community has a right to the support of that community, regardless of denominational views.

My prayer for this college is that it may go on from glory to glory. I claim a share in Pacific College and I expect to do all I can to help her. I want to tell you where I stand, and where my church stands. I want you to know that you may depend on the membership of the Methodist church to help you. God bless and help Pacific College.

Rev. Jewell of the Baptist church: I finished my work in the university about ten years ago and spent several years preaching the gospel, but all the while I had a yearning to work with young people, so about a year ago I chose to give up my pastorate and accept a position as teacher in a small Christian college. I did this that I might have a part in the training of young men and women. We need Christian business men; we need Christian statesmen; we need trained Christian men and women in every walk of life all over this great country. There is a great call for trained leadership, and this is one of the great problems of the day.

We admit that the state institutions are better equipped but in many cases the teachers have decidedly skeptical views, and the environment is very unwholesome for young people. Our small denominational schools are training more men and women for Christian leadership than all the large universities with all their splendid equipment.

Would I recommend a large school? Decidedly no. Do not be ashamed that you are not at a large school. We want the small school in order that we may come in close personal touch with the student and leave our impress upon him.

I say that the greatest thing that I know anything about is being connected with a Christian school like this, and I want to spend my life training boys and girls for Christian lives and Christian leadership.

I want to leave this as my personal testimony: You cannot afford not to stand by Pacific College.

Rev. G. H. Lee of the Presbyterian church:

"Their children shall be taught of Jehovah and great shall be the peace of their children." The conditions that obtain in many of our institutions of higher learning are such that we do not dare send our boys and girls to them. In some of these schools as many as 70 per cent of the instructors are men of agnosticism and atheistic beliefs. It is a terrible situation.

But we have a Christian school in our midst, built upon principles of which we may all be proud. When I stand upon that platform and speak to the young people it brings tears to my eyes and the prayer to my heart that this institution may always be a community asset, and that it may receive the "God bless you" of our fellow citizens. Pacific College has arrived at a stage in her development which every institution reaches sometime when she is reaching out for a larger constituency and greater support, and the natural place for her to look to is the community. Newberg can do no less than to start this new movement soaring with good impetus.

Rev. K. H. Sickafosse of the Christian church:

Sixty per cent of the people of the United States are not Christians. The universities and large colleges do not emphasize religious training, but our small denominational schools do. We have a school here that stands for the betterment of the community. We need education of the head as well as of the heart. This institution is for the whole community and ought to be supported by the entire community.

Rev. Carter:

The value of a Christian education is being emphasized today as never before. A college education is not a golden key that will unlock the door of success. The door of success has no key. But a college education is a mighty good battering-ram with which to break down the door that leads to success. Let me give you a few figures: The chances for success in life are four times better with the young man who has a common school education than has the one with no education. The opportunities for the high school graduate are multiplied 87 times and those of the college graduate 800 times over the fellow who has no education. And there is no plan in life where a Christian education means so much, as a plan to invest your life in the service of Jesus Christ.

It is unnecessary for me to tell you that I am a booster for Pacific College. I am glad and thankful that I live in a community where there is a Christian college, a school that helps to shape and mold the lives of our young people after the pattern of the white-souled Man of Galilee. We can send them out with no fear that they will be taught anything that will rob them of a belief in the Bible and Jesus Christ.

COUNTY COURT NEWS

We are advised by J. G. Eckman, editor of the Telephone-Register, that the information requested of the county court by the Yamhill County Forum on April 6th will not be forthcoming in the current issue of the county papers due to heavy work at this time in the county clerk's office.

The resolution introduced in the Forum meeting and unanimously adopted requested the county court to make a complete statement of county finances arising from bond issues of 1919, the amounts of money spent on each project, the balance on hand in the county treasury for each project, and the approximate percentage of work completed on the several highways.

The purpose is to let the tax payers know how and where the money has been spent and to allay rumors that are in circulation about the manner in which county funds are being used.

SALVATION ARMY DRIVE COMING

The Salvation Army Home Service drive will begin May 1st and close May 10th. The complete organization for this end of Yamhill county with Newberg as the headquarters is as follows: Chairman, W. W. Silver; vice chairman, W. H. Woodworth; secretary R. J. Moore. The several committees are provided for as follows:

Publicity—E. H. Woodward, chairman, Frank Cummins, John Larkin.

Speakers—R. J. Moore, chairman, Clarence Butt, S. M. Calkins. Advance Gifts—D. D. Coulson, chairman, E. C. Baird, S. L. Perrett, George Kelly, W. T. Anderson.

The territory embraced includes: Dundee, W. S. Allan, chairman, Bland Herring, publicity.

Springbrook, C. E. Newhouse, chairman. Other members of committee to be selected by chairman. Fernwood, W. A. Parrish, chairman, Mrs. W. Boyce, publicity, and Mrs. Bryant.

Rex, N. L. Wiley, chairman, E. Amus, publicity.

Chehalam Center, Wesley Wire, chairman, Richard Everest, publicity.

West Chehalam, John U. Smith, chairman and publicity. Z. L. Chamberlain, solicitation.

There will be a meeting called soon to go into the details of the drive and a Portland speaker will be present to advise with the committee. All points outside of Newberg should complete their committees. Chairmen should call local meetings and appoint solicitation committees. At the general meeting to be held soon the quotas for each territory will be announced.

PASSING OF REV. A. C. MARTIN

Alfred Calva Martin, only son of David and Evangeline Martin, was born in Lyon county, Iowa, September 13th, 1878, and died in Portland, Oregon, April 16th, 1920, aged 41 years 7 months and 3 days.

When he was three years of age his parents moved to Oregon in the vicinity of Newberg, which has virtually been his home ever since. He attended the public school of Newberg until sufficiently advanced to enter Friends Pacific Academy. After completing the course at the academy he entered Pacific College from which he graduated at the age of 19 years.

June 23rd, 1903, he was married to Frankie Leona Hollingsworth. He was a birth-right member of the Friends church and was converted at an early age.

After spending some years in charge of the Friends' Mission at Kake, Alaska, he, with his wife, took a complete course at the Cleveland Bible Training School at Cleveland, Ohio, remaining in the training school as the biblical teacher and teacher of English for one year.

Upon their return to Newberg he, with his wife, took the pastoral care of the church at Quilcene and Leland, in the state of Washington, remaining three or four years, where the work of the church was much strengthened.

He was recorded a minister of the Gospel by his home meeting at Newberg, Oregon.

In June, 1919, he returned to Newberg taking charge of the Chehalam Center church where a beautiful new parsonage stands as a memorial of his efforts to make permanent the foundation for the future work of the church.

He leaves a wife and little daughter, also his mother, his father having passed away in August, 1918.

His sudden and severe illness was borne with patience and resignation and as he talked of his departure and readiness it was with great composure and faith. With him to know right was to do it, because it was right and not for the sake of reward.

The funeral was held Monday at two p. m. at the Friends church, a large number of relatives and friends being present from Portland and other places. Rev. F. E. Carter spoke on the life of the deceased in the community, while Rev. Homer Cox spoke on behalf of Oregon Yearly Meeting and Dr. T. W. Hester, a classmate, on behalf of the college.

The following quartet from the college furnished the music, Gladys Scott, Eva Miles, Lowell Edwards and Lester Perisho.

COFFEE-SILVA WEDDING

On Monday evening, April 19, at the Free Methodist church, occurred the marriage of Miss Caroline Mariet Coffee, a daughter of Rev. and Mrs. W. N. Coffee, to Locke Silva, of the junior class of Pacific College.

The church was tastefully decorated with cherry blossoms and cedar boughs.

As a quartet sang, the bride party, consisting of Miss Coffee, Mr. Silva, Miss Nina Coffee as bridesmaid and Glenn Herald of Portland, as best man, took its place under an arch of green where the ceremony was read by Rev. B. H. Alberts, of Seattle.

Following the ceremony the guests extended to the bride couple their best wishes and congratulations. After a few words and the benediction by Rev. Alberts the guests went to the home of the bride's parents where an informal reception was held in honor of the bride couple.

The bride was charmingly gowned in white and her veil was held in place by a wreath of maiden-hair fern and white sweet peas. She carried yellow and white roses. The bridesmaid was dressed in pink and wore a corsage bouquet of pink carnations.

A large number of valuable and useful presents testified to the esteem in which the young couple were held.

PARTY IN HONOR OF MISS FLEDA KANE

The country home of Mrs. Pilcher and her daughter, Mrs. Sanpolis, near Rex, was the scene of a jolly gathering of ladies Wednesday afternoon, the occasion being in honor of Miss Fleda Kane, of Rex, the bride elect.

The rooms were prettily decorated with peach bloom and daffodils. A large basket decorated with peach blossoms and pink tulle was filled to overflowing with a miscellaneous shower of gifts and presented to Miss Kane. Several toasts written by one of the guests were read as the gifts were being opened and admired after which the ladies made the needles fly, hemming towels to add to the collection of a housewife's needs.

A most delectable two course repast was served by the hostesses, being assisted by Madames Semmer and Miller. The out of town guests were Mrs. Lilknitter, Mrs. Grohs, Mrs. A. H. Dean and Mrs. Nellie Wallace, of Portland; Mrs. Oliver Evans and Miss Helen Scott, of Newberg.

THE S. B. A. MAKES TRIP TO PORTLAND

Last Friday evening twenty-four of the members of the Security Benefit Association chartered a large bus and two other cars, leaving Newberg at 7 o'clock to visit Kirkpatrick Council in Portland. They witnessed the initiation of some candidates and the full team work, accompanied with pictures and several beautiful tableaux.

Refreshments were served and a very pleasant evening was spent.

The meeting night of the Newberg Council has been changed from Saturday to Wednesday, the next open meeting being Wednesday night of next week.

REGARDING YAMHILL COUNTY ROADS

At a recent good roads meeting held at the court house in the city of McMinnville, at which meeting the general situation relative to road matters and a proposed bond issue was freely and frankly discussed by representative citizens, and at which meeting it was unanimously voted that it was the sense of this meeting that a road master be appointed by the county court for Yamhill county, and further that the chairman of the good roads meeting appoint a committee of five citizens to act in an advisory manner in connection with all road matters of which the chairman of the Yamhill County Good Roads Association should be chairman.

Acting upon instructions so given, A. J. Bewley as county chairman of the Good Roads Association, appointed Sam Laughlin, of the Yamhill district, George Kelly, of the Newberg district, Elmer H. Campbell, of the Hopewell district, H. C. Patty, of the Amity district, and E. C. Apperson of the McMinnville district. A. J. Bewley as chairman of the Good Roads Association, representing Sheridan and Williams districts.

Pursuant to call of the chairman, this committee convened in the city of McMinnville on Saturday, April 17th, and carefully considered the matter of their appointment and the possibilities of their rendering any assistance to the county court and tax payers in general and after expressions from various members, it was unanimously decided that by reason of the committee having no legal status, and by reason of their being unable to give the matter the necessary and required time to acquaint themselves with all present and prospective road matters, that there was little they could do for the good roads cause as an advisory committee and it was therefore unanimously agreed that the committee would decline to serve and that notice of such declination should be filed with the county court and published in the local papers.

The committee, however, both individually and collectively, promised their support and individual efforts to the cause of good roads and the proposed bond issue and signified their willingness to do any and all things possible and necessary for the carrying of the proposed bond issue which they think is of the utmost importance to the county, and they earnestly urge upon the members of the county court and the tax payers and voters throughout the county to co-operate to their utmost in formulating a plan to provide for the necessary funds and distribution of same over the established highways, to the end that they may be paved by the State Highway Commission at the earliest possible date.

C. E. SPEAKER COMING

Clarence C. Hamilton, field manager for the Christian Endeavor World, is making a tour of Oregon the first two weeks in May, beginning with a rally at Medford May 1 and 2.

Christian Endeavor is an organization of young people which was started in Portland, Maine, 39 years ago, and which has spread all over the world and is found in over eighty different denominations. The headquarters of this organization is in Boston, Massachusetts.

Mr. Hamilton recently returned from France where he did good work as a Y. M. C. A. war worker. He will speak in Newberg May 13. Further announcements later.

FRANCES ELLIOTT CHOSEN MAY QUEEN

A lively contest was on at the college last week which resulted in the election of Miss Frances Elliott for May Queen.

Miss Elliott is a member of the senior class, an excellent student, and a very popular one. She is endowed with a dignity and grace of manner which are essential to one wearing a crown, and her personal charm especially fits her to bear the name of queen.

As May Day is not celebrated every year it is a note-worthy event in a girl's life to hold this honor.

Further notice of the day's celebration will be given next week.
